TELLS OF PATHOS AS FRENCH FLEE LORRAINE HOMES

Writer Sees Tragic Flood of Refugees.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LYONS, France, Nov. 15.—A strained situation between the Petain government and Germany existed today as hundreds more French speaking citizens of Lorraine continued to arrive here as the result of their expulsion by German authorities.

Broken line marks route of Lorrainers; diagonal lines indicate "free France."

This correspondent watched special trains roll into the Perrache station here, each bringing 500 to 600 persons who must find homes in the unoccupied area of France. Most of them had little baggage and none was allowed to cross the line of demarcation with more than 2,000 francs [about $40].

Pathetic episodes were seen as these Lorrainers, carrying all their remaining possessions, trudged out of the station to find shelter in this town, which is already crowded with refugees.

Quartered in Fairgrounds.

The new arrivals, like those already here, are being housed temporarily in buildings along the Rhone river north of the city where the annual Lyons fair usually takes place. The region is cold, damp, and foggy.

In the fairgrounds buildings the refugees sleep and are fed. Some sections of the buildings have been turned into school rooms for children.

Even refugees who have some money are unable to find living quarters any better than those to which the poor are being sent. Every hotel in Lyons is full.

The Red Cross and other relief organizations meet the Lorraine refugees at the stations and conduct them to the best possible quarters. Most of the refugees from around Metz and other towns said they were given only two to three hours' notice to leave and then were herded into trains with hardly enough time to collect property from homes they will never see again.

Savings of Many Exhausted.

Many said this was the second time they had to seek refuge in this part of unoccupied France. Many were refugees who had returned home after the armistice—only to be sent back to southern France. Many are in a desperate plight because their savings were exhausted by the demands of their first evacuation.

The Vichy government and local authorities are striving to house and feed the new migration—for it is a veritable migration so far as the numbers are concerned.

The population of Lorraine was around 800,000 to 900,000, and it is estimated that one third were French speaking, which means at least 250,000 are involved.

It also is understood that 200,000 Poles and Italians working in mines in the Lorraine district also have been expelled and are being replaced by Germans.

Some May Be Sent to Africa.

Plans are being made to absorb the Lorrainers into various parts of unoccupied France so as not to impose too heavy a burden on any one district. Some of the refugees may be sent to Algiers and other North African colonies.

Widespread indignation is expressed everywhere over the German action, which has drawn an official protest from the Vichy government. It is believed the expulsion of the Lorrainers will add new difficulties to all efforts at conciliation and collaboration by Vichy with Germany.

According to informed sources, Vice Premier Pierre Laval who had returned to Vichy to report on the Lorraine expulsion, is back in Paris for further negotiations.

LAND AND AIR ATTACK AGAINST GIBRALTAR SEEN

Nazi Help for Italy in Greece Hinted.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Staff talks between Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel of Germany and Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Italian chief of staff, at Innsbruck, and reports of a conference between Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner of Spain and German leaders in France today gave rise to a belief in Berlin that the military activities of the axis powers will liven up soon.

Wilhelm Keitel [above] and Pietro Badoglio.

The conversations between Keitel and Badoglio were shrouded in secrecy. It was stressed that both were accompanied by large staffs. Measures to speed up the Italian campaign in Greece as well as plans for a possible offensive by the axis powers in Egypt were believed to have been among the topics under discussion.

Taranto Raid Discussed.

It was also believed that measures to prevent a repetition of British air attacks on the Italian fleet, such as the air raid on the Italian base of Taranto, were discussed. In the words of Adolf Hitler, Germany is convinced she has the world's most efficient antiaircraft guns.

Another key point probably taken up in the Innsbruck talks was Gibraltar, which is expected to play a prominent part in future discussions with Serrano Suner. He will come to Berlin soon, it was announced.

German military officers openly have been discussing the possibilities of taking Gibraltar from the land side. The German gunnery expert, Gen. Paul Hasse of the artillery, pointed out that heavy shells equipped with time fuses may prove the undoing of Gibraltar batteries even if they are protected by rocks. The heaviest shells with delayed fuses fired against the Maginot line pene-

GERMAN BOMB HITS TOO, TOO CLOSE TO TWO TRIBUNE MEN

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

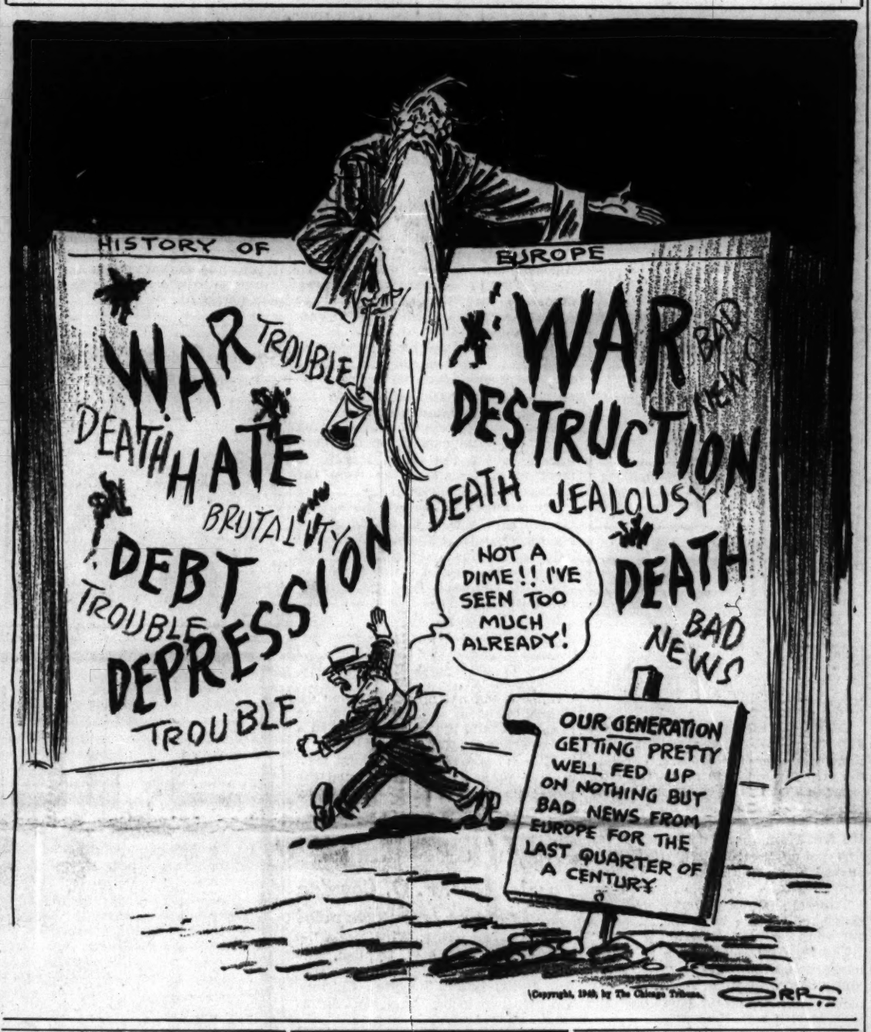
LONDON, Nov. 16, Saturday.—Early this morning while London was undergoing an intensive bombardment, a bomb struck a corner of the hotel where Capt. M. M. Corpening of THE TRIBUNE staff and I were at the time. The building rocked and a number of the rooms were wrecked, but no one was hurt. There was comparatively little damage. The elevators continue running, as does the water, and the telephone and electric lights still are operating. Occupants of a shelter just across the street also escaped unharmed.

As the roar of the explosion subsided, clouds of cordite smoke drifted thru the halls of the hotel. The hardier guests who had earlier retired to their rooms rushed to shelter in the basements. There was no panic.

For more than two hours the night had resounded with the roar of guns, the whine of airplane motors, and the rumble of bombs. Then I heard a shriller whistle than usual and remarked to a friend, "That one is coming very close." Almost immediately came a crash as the bomb hit the edge of the building, followed by a tremor as tho an intensive earthquake were taking place. Chunks of masonry and splinters of shattered glass were hurled in all directions.

[Details of the attack on London and British attacks on Germany will be found on page 4 and a dramatic story of the bombing of Coventry on page 5.]

FATHER TIME—"WHAT WOULD YOU GIVE FOR A LOOK INTO EUROPE'S FUTURE?"



Youth Stricken in China Flown Out Under Fire

Charles P. Rockwood Jr., 814 South street, Geneva, is aboard a Pacific liner, homeward bound from China, where he was stricken last June with infantile paralysis.

But before reaching the sea coast, young Rockwood—he is 23 years old—was carried hundreds of miles by litter, river launch, and airplane, the latter flying high to escape Japanese shells. This was learned yesterday by his father, a consulting psychologist at 160 North La Salle street, Chicago.

Goes to China as Teacher.

The son graduated from Yale university in June, 1939, and was commissioned to teach English under the auspices of Yale-in-China. He was stationed at Yuan Ling, Hunan province, when stricken with paralysis.

Associates and Chinese friends reached Changsha with young Rockwood after a three day trip by litter and river launch. There he was placed in a Yale-in-China hospital and was treated by an American, Dr. Philip Greene.

From there on the journey could be made only by air and the route lay over the Japanese lines.

Plane Escapes Gunfire.

The pilot flew high over the lines and tho artillery boomed from below, no shells struck the ship. It landed safely at Hongkong. On Nov. 1 Rockwood was put aboard the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Asia, which will land at Vancouver on Monday.

He will reach Chicago late next week and enter a hospital, his father said yesterday. Unlike Frederick Snite Jr., who also was stricken in China, Rockwood's lungs are not affected and an iron lung is not necessary for him.

London Bars Lefthanded Girls as Phone Operators

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Postal authorities tonight announced they cannot use left handed girls, who volunteer as telephone operators. The officials explained, "the switchboards are built for right handed operators. The space for filing slips regarding long distance calls and the pneumatic tubes into which they are dropped are on the right side of the operator. Left handed girls would hold up the whole system."

TELLS OF EXTORTION BY LABOR UNION AIDS ON STRIKE THREATS

New York, Nov. 15 [Special].—A union delegate, Jack Brayman, told from the witness stand today a story of extortion by union officials in which he said there were so many shakedowns that he could not recall the number in which he shared. He told his story at the trial in Kings county court of Joseph Feld, former attorney for the union, local 138 of the Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers union. Brayman is one of seven men on trial with Feld. He testified of one instance where $7,000 was involved and another where $6,000 was paid.

The principal witness, Philip Wachtel, also a co-defendant, secretary treasurer of the union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, testified for the state that the union officers and Feld had "made a practice" of extorting money from employers during contract negotiations.

Samuel Chapin, a lawyer, testified that Feld, threatening a strike, had demanded $25,000 during contract negotiations with Ludwig Bauman, furniture dealers, in the presence of Nat Hoffman, president of the local. Hoffman pleaded guilty to attempted extortion on Tuesday.

Feld is on trial before Judge John J. Fitzgerald and a blue ribbon jury for allegedly extorting $7,500 from J. Michaels, Inc., Brooklyn furniture company, to bring about a satisfactory contract and end a strike of drivers last year. John J. Rooney, assistant district attorney, said investigation indicates that the defendants shook down employers for a total of about $200,000.

SAYS HE'S 300, BUT OFFICIALS PUT AGE AT 152

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 15.—Oman Islamogul of the village of Ouzounkoun has been deflated a bit. The Journal D'Orient reports that Islamogul had been boasting so much that he was 300 years old that authorities of Ivmir took him seriously enough to investigate his claim. The communal magistrate of Adapazari, as a result, now reports he has established that Islamogul is a mere 152 years old. Islamogul was born in the Caucasus near Mount Alman, and is said to be in good health and able to move about.

2 Auto Plants Shut Down—by Deer Season

Flint, Mich., Nov. 15 [Special].—The call of the wild lured so many deer hunters away from their work in the automobile industry today that two big Flint plants were closed and 1,500 men sent home.

About 500 auto workers in key positions at Chevrolet and Fisher Body factories laid off work to stalk the antlered game on the opening day of the deer season. No preparations having been made for the sudden exodus, assembly lines were forced to suspend operations until Monday, when the nimrods are expected to return.

Employers Merely Shrug.

It was estimated that 200 employés of Fisher Body plant No. 2 and 100 from the Chevrolet Assembly plant were out after venison. Managements of the factories, taking the defection with philosophical calm, shut down for the week-end and sent home 900 men at the Fisher plant and 600 at Chevrolet.

The absence of 200 hopeful huntsmen among the 4,500 men employed at Fisher No. 1 plant necessitated a redistribution of man power but did not halt operations. However, those playing hookey from there will miss two days' work for the factory is scheduled to work on Saturday to make up time lost when Tuesday's storm shut off power.

"Apparently too many men got the idea of going hunting at the same time," grinned Jack Livingston, a member of the General Motors division of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers of America.

Company Official Agrees.

Charles E. Wetherald, Chevrolet's vice president in charge of manufacturing, concurred with Livingston in the explanation that it was the elusive stag and not a labor dispute that kept the men from work.

More than 170,000 state licenses had been issued for hunting deer in Michigan for 15 days beginning with sunrise this morning. All week long, cars filled with guns and buck-fevered men have been speeding toward the Upper Peninsula.

The jam was so great at the Mackinaw City-St. Ignace Ferry, which suspended service for 24 hours as a result of the storm, that some hunters had to wait 30 hours to get across the four miles of open water to the Upper Peninsula.

Council Joins Attack on Bus Service Flaws

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Members of the city council were united yesterday in criticism of the Chicago Motor Coach company for jamming its buses to the point of discomfort.

Moreover, at a meeting of the local transportation committee the aldermen contended that the bus company's 10 cent fares have rolled up excessive profits. They pledged themselves to prevent the company from selling its properties to the new transit company at an inflated value by agreeing to clamp a maximum limit on the sale price. The bus company has offered to sell out for 10 million dollars to the new company under the proposed unification.

Demands Fare Reduction

Ald. Paul Douglas [5th] asserted yesterday that the bus company's fares should be reduced in justice to the city's bus riders.

"The company is earning a profit of more than $800,000 a year, which amounts to between 20 and 25 per cent on its actual physical valuation," Ald. Douglas said. "It is a public scandal and disgrace that the Illinois Commerce commission has let the company get away with this.

"The bus properties are not worth half of 10 million dollars. I am convinced after studying its books that the properties are worth 3¼ millions. I won't vote for any unification ordinance that calls for an excessive price.

Ald. Harry L. Sain [27th] said the buses are much too crowded for comfort and safety.

Compares Cost to Riders

"Why should the bus company collect a dime when the surface lines only get 7 cents for either bus or street car rides?" Sain asked.

The motor coaches do not run from 1 a. m. to 6 a. m. This failure to provide all night service was assailed by Ald. John S. Boyle [16th]. He said he receives complaints constantly on this score from bus riders in his ward.

Ald. Edwin F. Meyer [45th] said he had given up riding motor coaches because 10 cents is too much, the fumes are bad, and the buses are too narrow and crowded. He said that to protect the safety of passangers there should be two operators on every bus.

Join in Complaints

Ald. James R Quinn, [50th], committee chairman, and Ald. Roger Kiley [37th] joined in the complaint that the bus fare is too high in view of the poor service.

William H. Sexton, city traction ccunsel, told the committee that a hearing on a petition for reducing the 10 cent bus fare will be held by the commerce commission Nov. 26.

A maximum price limit for the bus properties will probably be set shortly by federal loan officials as a condition of the proposed 53 million dollar traction improvement loan, Philip Harrington, traction commissioner, told the committee.

CRACK WABASH EXPRESS JUMPS TRACK; 3 INJURED

Two women and a small girl were injured and scores of passengers were severely shaken last evening when a day coach of the Wabash railroad's Bluebird Express, crack train to St. Louis, was derailed at 74th street, near Lowe avenue. The derailed car came to a stop at a 45 degree angle. Had it toppled, police say, it might have rolled down the 20 foot embankment of the elevated right-of-way.

Despite its derailment, the car remained attached to the rest of the train, but its front trucks were wrenched off.

Mrs. Ludella Crawley, 25 years old, colored, of St. Louis, was taken to St. Bernard's hospital with her daughter, Arlene, 2. Neither was seriously injured. Mrs. Mary Stephenson, 38, of Toledo, O., suffered a head injury but did not go to a hospital.

The Monon railroad's Indianapolis bound Hoosier Limited was following the Bluebird on the same track. Railroad men tried to reroute the Hoosier to another track at 72d street. Its locomotive was derailed when it crossed the second track, but no one was injured.

British Navy Names Swift New Plane for a Sea Bird

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP).—Named for an arctic seabird, the Fulmar, a two-seater, low-wing monoplane, has been adopted by the admiralty for service on aircraft carriers as a fighter and dive bomber. It was officially disclosed today that these are the fastest planes operating with the navy. The admiralty announced last night these planes had shot down three Italian planes recently.

COURT REBUKES FINANCE CHIEF FOR NEW RULE

Throws Out Motion to Halt Levies.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher held yesterday that the recent revision in sales tax regulations by State Finance Director A. L. Carter was "unfortunate, indelicate, unnecessary," and had no standing in court. The court also held that the finance department has no power to make tax refunds.

Judge Harry M. Fisher

Director Carter's change in the tax regulations would exempt material service dealers from payment of taxes on sales to contractors and would deprive the state of several million dollars in yearly income. The change also would involve claims for refunds of many thousands of dollars of taxes paid under protest.

Because of the revision Attorney Harold R. Schradzke had asked that the Material Service corporation be spared further tax payments under protest and the filing of further returns. He held the ruling should be effective until final disposition of the case questioning the validity of the sales tax law.

Attorney General Upheld.

Judge Fisher denied the motion and upheld the contention of Attorney General John E. Cassidy that the Gov. John Stelle régime had attempted to seize the law-making rights of the legislature.

The ruling of the judge had the effect of removing the questioned rule revision from consideration in the suit until the case reaches the Supreme court. Still before Judge Fisher is the question of the constitutionality of the sales tax law, a question brought up 20 months ago when the case was first filed by the Material Service corporation.

"While this case is pending," the judge said, "an administrative officer, the chief defendant in the case, promulgates a rule settling the case. This department head, who has taken 20 months of the court's time saying that the material service men should pay the tax, suddenly makes a rule agreeing with the plaintiffs.

Wants High Court Review.

"I cannot refrain from expressing disapproval of an act, which, if we take the most charitable view of it, is at least ill-advised and indelicate. . . . I do not mean to intimate that the rule is correctly or incorrectly interpreted—that will be decided first by this court and then the Supreme court. But the folly of the rule is in the suspicion that it creates.

"Suppose the court should decide that the material men are not liable and the department head would say 'that also is our opinion.' Such a condition might cost the state millions, and I would not want to carry such a responsibility without a review by the Supreme court."

Attorney General Cassidy told the court that the finance director had ignored the advice of his office. Cassidy called the rule revision "an attempt to reach down and sabotage some of our most elementary constitutional principles."

Asks Motive of Ruling.

"What was the motive of this ruling?" Cassidy asked. "You do not search far before it becomes unsearchable."

This statement by the attorney general recalled the charge of Samuel Herman, who resigned as supervisor of sales tax regulations rather than be a party to the change in rules. Herman charged that a meeting was held before the recent election—Oct. 27—in Democratic headquarters in the Morrison hotel, at which sales tax refunds were discussed. Present at the meeting, Herman said, were Stelle, Carter; the governor's secretary, George Schuppe, and Attorney Schradzke.

"The only explanation I've heard," Cassidy told the court, "is that the rule was issued to speed up litigation. Instead it has slowed it up.

"The only other justification of this strange document is that the state wants to facilitate national defense. It would be just as ludicrous to say 'take the tax off butter and shoes because the soldiers eat butter and wear shoes.' This was an attempt to use the noble purpose of national defense to foist this mongrel document on the people."

Cassidy said after the hearing that he was "pleased by the ruling which vindicates the stand of the attorney general's office." He reiterated his declaration that material service dealers who fail to report tax obligations will be prosecuted.

Gov. Stelle, informed of Judge Fisher's decision late last night when he returned to the executive mansion in Springfield after a hunting trip, said he would not comment until he understood it better.

"Whatever the decision is," he added, "I hope it will act to speed up a final judicial ruling on the matter."

No Power for Refunds.

Before hearing the Material Service corporation case Judge Fisher held that the department of finance does not have the constitutional power to make tax refunds. If the ruling is upheld by the state Supreme court, refund claims would have to be presented thru the court of claims at Springfield.

The decision was made in the case of Ford and Phillips company, Chicago building contractors, which sought a writ of mandamus to compel return of taxes allegedly wrongly paid. Judge Fisher held that the finance department, by making such refunds, would seize judicial power illegally. He also held the suit invalid because it constituted a suit against the state, an action forbidden by the state constitution.

WANZER TO MEET BORDEN'S BOOST IN MILK PRICES

Officials of Sidney Wanzer and Sons, one of the larger firms selling milk at retail in Chicago, announced last night they would put price increases into effect Monday. A similar announcement was made Thursday by the Borden - Wieland division of the Borden company. Other large companies reported they considered a boost in retail prices imperative, but have not yet decided on a definite program.

Leo F. Tierney.

Under the new Borden-Wieland and Wanzer schedules, the price of delivered quarts of milk will remain at 13 cents. The delivered price of gallon bottles will be increased from 44 to 47 cents and of half gallons from 23 to 24 cents. Stores will have to pay the companies 9½ instead of 8½ cents a quart and will retail milk at 10½ or 11 cents.

Both companies blamed the increase on recent boosts granted farm producers of milk. These prices are based, under government supervision and control, on an arbitrary relationship to open market prices of butterfat. Leo F. Tierney, assistant United States attorney general, said that the government is making an investigation of retail price raises.

ANNENBERG PAYS $200,000 MORE ON U. S. TAX CLAIM

M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher now serving a sentence of three years in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., for income tax evasion, has paid the first instalment of the 8 million dollars plus interest which he agreed to pay the government in the next seven years to settle all claims against himself and his numerous corporations back to 1923.

A check for $200,000 from the Cecelia corporation, Annenberg's top holding company, was received yesterday by the internal revenue bureau in the United States courthouse, it was learned. This, with the $800,000 which was paid in the publisher's behalf last July, brings the total this year to $1,000,000.

NAMING MILLIS TO NLRB DEALS RADICALS BLOW

Left Winger Witt Resigns as Board Secretary.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—Appointment of Dr. Harry A. Millis of Illinois to the National Labor Relations board today was followed by signs of a housecleaning of the radical elements in that organization.

Nathan Witt, secretary of the board, who has been under fire in congress on charges of radicalism and inefficiency, lost no time in presenting his resignation when President Roosevelt sent the nomination of Dr. Millis to the senate at noon.

With the appointment of Dr. Millis there will be only one radical member of the three man board—Edwin S. Smith. Dr. Millis and Dr. William M. Leiserson, the third member, will constitute a majority capable of checking the radical tendencies of the body when it was dominated by Smith and the former chairman, J. Warren Madden.

Madden Not Reappointed.

The term of Chairman Madden expired last August but because of the ill repute into which the board had been brought under the Madden administration Mr. Roosevelt refused to reappoint him. The President gave Madden a consolation prize in the form of an appointment today to the United States Court of Claims.

Two associates of Secretary Witt, and sympathizers with Madden's radical tendencies, also turned in their resignations tonight. They are Thomas I. Emmerson, associate general counsel, and Alexander B. Hawes, chief administrative examiner.

The resignations are expected to be followed by those of still other left wingers. David Saposs, a radical who was a storm center of the agitation in congress against the board, already is out. He was reached at the office of the board today, but said that he was separated from his job on Oct. 11 by the failure of congress to appropriate for the pay of himself and 20 other employés of the technical service division, which congress legislated out of existence.

Saposs Utterances Cited.

In the investigation of the board by the Smith committee of the house there were cited many utterances by Saposs antagonistic to the capitalist system and sympathetic to communism. He denied these were his own opinions, asserting he was merely quoting the views of communists.

Dr. Leiserson called the Millis nomination a "splendid appointment," saying he knew of no man better qualified.

In testimony before the house investigating committee Dr. Leiserson characterized Secretary Witt as the evil genius of the board, responsible for its radical tendencies. In tendering his resignation to Madden, who has continued to serve as chairman pending appointment of a successor, Witt praised Madden and Smith but omitted mention of Leiserson.

COURT REFUSES WRIT TO MAKERS OF MILK CARTONS

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday upheld a decision of Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan denying the Ex-Cello corporation, makers of paper milk containers, an injunction to prevent the Chicago board of health from interfering with the sale of their products. Judge Sullivan ruled that the company could not show it was in "immediate danger of sustaining a direct injury." In another similar suit the Fieldcrest Dairies obtained an injunction against the health board from Judge Charles E. Woodward.

Attorney Demetrios Parry told the court the boy had been with relatives in the old country since Mrs. Salapatas obtained a divorce from her first husband two years ago.

SURVEY FLYERS OVER GULF WILL TAKE OFF TODAY

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Nov. 15.—After weathering five days of gale winds that made a take-off from Lake Pontchartrain impossible, American Export airlines' big flying boat "Trans Atlantic" will commence a survey flight over a new short cut route to Panama and the Canal Zone with the first light tomorrow morning. The plane has been held seven days behind schedule by the same wintry blasts that have shaken the middle west from Canada to the gulf.

Route of flight.

Conditions are now satisfactory for flight but T. W. Jones, assistant operations manager for Export, canceled the trip for today to allow the crew to make a thoro inspection of the consolidated navy-type long range patrol plane. The ship, anchored less than 100 feet from shore, has taken a terrific pounding from seas that were pushed along at times by 45 mile an hour winds.

Two members of the crew had been marooned on the ship for 36 hours, but were relieved today.

The flight is being made to obtain navigational and weather material in connection with an A. E. A.'s application to give a regular passenger and mail service over the route.

CIO Pickets Halt Work in California Factory.

Downey, Cal., Nov. 15 (AP).—The west coast's fourth largest airplane factory was closed by a strike today, the first one called against a plant with aerial defense contracts.

Union employés of the Vultee Aircraft company, which has on hand $50,000,000 in orders for military aircraft, walked out at 5 a. m. in support of a demand for a wage increase. The orders include $39,000,000 worth for the United States and $11,000,000 worth for export.

Two hours later the company announced shutdown of the huge plant, in which scores of airplanes are in all stages of production. The company said the suspension also affected more than 20 airplanes ready for delivery tomorrow.

Two Conciliators Assigned.

Two conciliators were assigned by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins to the task of bringing about a settlement. At Washington she named E. H. Fitzgerald, a commissioner of conciliation who has been working in the Pacific coast region, to join Lyman Sisley in working on the case.

Vultee has a pay roll of 5,200 employés, 3,700 of them in the production department. The C. I. O. United Automobile Workers union, which claims 3,000 of the latter as members, demands that the minimum wage scale be increased from 50 to 75 cents an hour.

Officials of Vultee charged the union with using the company as a lever for the organization of other California airplane companies.

Charges Organizing Drive.

Vultee, in a statement charging that "the local conciliator has been unable to get the union leaders to meet with the committee from the management," asserted:

"It is apparent that we have been elected by the C. I. O. as the guinea pig for organizing the entire aircraft industry in southern California. The company has offered several times to arbitrate and each time the arbitration has been refused by the union."

L. H. Michener, regional director of the union, said the company was 2½ hours late yesterday in filing an answer to union demands with a federal conciliator.

Since it did not meet the union demands, Michener added, the company's proposal would not have forestalled a strike order anyway.

Fifteen hundred night workers, leaving the plant at 5 a. m., started the picket line. It was swelled later by the arrival of day workers.

Company officials said they desired a peaceful settlement and would make no effort to break the picket line.

Former Gov. F. O. Lowden Is Home from Hospital

Oregon, Ill., Nov. 15 [Special].—Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, who underwent an operation two weeks ago at St. Luke's hospital, Chicago, has returned to his Sinnissippi farms estate near here.

Prepare for Labor Conventions

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 15 (AP).—John L. Lewis and Sidney Hillman, two of the most potent leaders and co-workers in the C. I. O. until differences over political and labor policies interrupted their teamwork, met late tonight in a conference which apparently paved the way for a reconciliation—and a peaceful C. I. O. convention.

For an hour and a half the two men talked in a hotel room, and while neither would comment afterwards, there was reliable information that they frankly had discussed their conflicting views.

The two men who played major parts in founding the C. I. O. five years ago were on opposite sides in the Presidential election, Hillman supporting President Roosevelt and Lewis coming out for Wendell L. Willkie.

It was understood that Lewis and Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, virtually buried the hatchet now that the election was over, and that possibility of a bitter showdown between their partisans in the C. I. O. convention opening Monday thus were greatly diminished.

Lewis Is Expected to Retire.

There were indications the question of seeking a formula for unity with the A. F. of L. would be handled without any explosive debate in the convention and that the insistence of Hillman's followers for a curb of the so called left wing influence in the C. I. O. would not split the convention.

Lewis is expected to retire next week as C. I. O.'s president, and Hillman, because of his duties as a member of the national defense commission, will not be a candidate for a C. I. O. vice presidency.

The choice of a new C. I. O. leader is expected to fall on Philip Murray, long one of Lewis' closest associates in the mine workers union and C. I. O. Murray also is acceptable to the Hillman partisans.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 15 (AP).—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor today predicted a possible split of the C. I. O. into two factions, one of which "may be communist controled under John L. Lewis."

Dismissing any notion that in itself Lewis' promised resignation as president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations would help toward labor peace, Green said Lewis would still control the C. I. O.

"The differences between the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. can easily be washed out but it is a question of men," Green said. "The C. I. O. and A. F. of L. conventions about two years ago worked out an agreement that was thrown out by Lewis."

Doubts Third Group Likely.

Sharply watching reports of a serious break looming in the C. I. O. and spearheaded by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, Green said:

"I don't think there will be any third national group. I think developments may show some C. I. O. unions may withdraw from that parent body and remain independent or turn to the open door of the A. F. L."

Green, declining direct comment on the announcement by the executive board of the clothing workers that it would seek immediate negotiations between the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. for labor peace, said:

"This gradual sifting may draw a line between the left wing group of Lewis and the right wing of Vice President Sidney Hillman [head of the clothing workers.]

"Out of this may come a communist controled fellow traveler membership in the C. I. O. under Lewis."

Green told a meeting of the A. F. of L. building and trades department today:

"We are now at a point where we can bring about a united labor movement in the United States."

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP).—It was disclosed today that explosives fell twice recently on the grounds of bomb scarred Buckingham palace and that the famed Theater Royal, Drury Lane, had been damaged. The face of the clock tower overlooking Buckingham palace road was chipped, and priceless figured glass windows of the palace picture gallery were shattered. On another occasion a high explosive scored a direct hit on the palace gardener's lodge, but no one was reported injured.

DEMOCRATS ACT TO BLOCK PLANS FOR ADJOURNING

Senate Group Brings Up Walter-Logan Bill.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP).—A group of Democratic senators threatened today to complicate plans for final adjournment of congress next week by demanding a showdown on the controversial Walter-Logan bill.

Senator Burke [top] and Senator King. [Acme Photos.]

Senators Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.] and William H. King [D., Utah] announced that next Monday they would move for senate consideration of the bill, which has been pending for more than two years.

They said they expected strong support from Senators Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], Henry F. Ashurst [D., Ariz.], and other members of the senate judiciary committee who also have been seeking consideration of the measure.

Designed as New Deal Check.

The Walter-Logan bill was passed by the house in June by more than a 2 to 1 vote, despite opposition from administration legislators. In general it would facilitate court review of decisions and regulations of many New Deal agencies, such as the labor board and securities commission.

Additional Democratic opposition to adjournment was threatened by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] and others who believe that an overhauling of taxes and appropriations is essential in view of the increased cost of the national defense program.

"I shall vote against adjournment of congress at this time," Byrd said.

Warned of Roosevelt Veto.

Both Burke and King said Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] had told them that President Roosevelt would veto the Walter-Logan bill if the senate passed it.

"It may be a futile gesture, but the senate is entitled to act upon this," Burke said.

Meanwhile, Democratic leaders in the senate have been urging their followers to vote for adjournment as a matter of party loyalty. They argue privately that the reelection victory of President Roosevelt demonstrated that there is no need for congress to remain in session as a check on White House actions.

Republicans Against Adjourning.

Republicans in both the senate and house have indicated solid opposition to adjournment. Typical of their arguments was this from Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.]: "If we're in an emergency that won't allow the President to go more than 12 hours away from Washington, I'd say we're in an emergency that would not allow congress to be 60 days from Washington or beyond its own recall."

If congress voted to adjourn it could not meet before next January unless called into special session by the President.

President Roosevelt has announced a hands off attitude on the adjournment question, saying it was a matter for congress to decide.

Britishers 35 Years Old Register for Army Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—All Britishers 35 years old will register tomorrow for military service. As many of these already are in reserve units, no more than 150,000 are expected to be affected by registration. All men over 30 years of age may volunteer for service as auxiliary firemen and, if accepted, will not be required to serve in the navy, army or air force. Since the intensive air attacks on London began, 78 members of the metropolitan police have been killed and 414 others injured.

4 GERMAN SHIPS PUT TO SEA FROM A MEXICAN PORT

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 16, Saturday (AP).—Four heavily loaded German merchant ships, which sought refuge at Tampico early in the war, put to sea during the night after obtaining clearance papers from Mexican port authorities.

Three of the vessels gave their destination as the Canary Islands and the fourth listed Vigo, Spain, as its first port of call. Shipping circles speculated that they might be planning to keep a rendezvous with a German war vessel.

First to leave was the 5,033 ton Iarwald. It was followed closely by the Rhein, 6,031 tons, and the Phrygia, 4,137 tons. The 9,660 ton Orinoco departed after an interval of about an hour.

MISSOURI'S G. O. P. GOVERNOR VICTOR IS NEW TO OFFICE

Election of Donnell, by Slim Edge, Confirmed.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15 [Special].—Republican Forrest C. Donnell, whose election as governor of Missouri by a narrow margin was confirmed today, never had been a candidate for public office before he entered the gubernatorial race and projected himself into an otherwise completely Democratic state administration.

Complete official returns from the Nov. 5 voting in every precinct in Missouri showed he beat Lawrence McDaniel, Democrat, by a margin of 3,504 votes. Donnell received 911,408 votes and McDaniel 907,904.

Donnell, 55 years old, has been a widely known St. Louis lawyer for many years. For more than 30 years he had been avidly interested in politics but only from a sideline seat as far as his personal ambitions were concerned.

Helps Others Win Office.

He had helped others win public office, putting to practical use the ability that made him valedictorian of school classes three times—upon graduating from high school in 1900, when he received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Missouri in 1904, and when he won his law degree from the same university in 1907.

A year after receiving his law degree, he accompanied the late Herbert S. Hadley as a speaker and aid in the successful campaign in which Hadley scored an upset by winning election as G. O. P. governor in 1908.

Ten years later Donnell helped his law partner, Selden P. Spencer, with whom he entered the practice of law immediately after being admitted to the bar, win election as United States senator.

Tops Three in Primary.

Donnell won the gubernatorial nomination in the August primary over three opponents with a plurality of 150,764 votes and a clear majority of 81,034.

He spoke in nearly every county in the state, exhibiting vitality that recalled his early vigorous assistance to Gov. Hadley. He laid special emphasis on issues of economy and efficiency in government, freedom from boss rule, and law enforcement.

Donnell's interest in politics and public affairs has been matched by his activities in bar association work and participation in many civic organizations.

Kansas Vote Quiz Asked.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 15 (AP).—The close and as yet undecided race for Kansas governor brought an appeal today to the United States attorney general for an immediate investigation. Later the justice department in Washington ordered the attorney general here to start an inquiry.

Charles E. Young, Democratic chairman, charged "the election laws are being flagrantly violated" in the counting of the vote in Shawnee county, where Topeka is located.

With the absentee ballot being counted, the Republican incumbent, Payne Ratner, is trailing William H. Burke, Democrat, by less than 1,800 votes.

Langlie Lead Challenged.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 15 (AP). — A state-wide movement by supporters of Democratic Ex-Senator C. C. Dill to challenge Democrats' votes for his Republican gubernatorial opponent, Arthur B. Langlie, started today as a canvass of absentee votes lengthened Langlie's unofficial lead to nearly 5,000 votes.

The official vote canvass, which may not be complete before next Tuesday, today gave Langlie 388,697 to Dill's 383,784.

Accuses Ex-Husband

Mrs. Loretta Cernok in court to press kidnaping charge against former mate.

William Cernok as he appeared at hearing.

A kidnaping charge and a petition charging contempt were filed yesterday against William Cernok, 2050 Chicago avenue, a truck driver, on the accusation of his divorced wife, Loretta, 17, that he forced her at gun point last Tuesday to accompany him to East St. Louis, Ill., and stay with him in a hotel.

It was Cernok's second abduction of his wife, the first occurring Sept. 17, before their divorce on her charge of cruelty, Judge Cornelius J. Harrington was told. On the first occasion, Mrs. Cernok testified, her husband forced her to promise not to go thru with her divorce action and last Tuesday he extracted a promise that she would have the divorce voided.

Judge Harrington sent Cernok to jail for six months for being $350 in arrears in $11 a week alimony payments and announced he will consider the second contempt action when the sentence is served. The kidnaping charge also will be taken up at that time.

SOB SISTER PLEA IS OUT, SAYS NEW PAROLE OFFICIAL

Takes Hard Boiled View Toward Criminals.

A realistic and unsentimental consideration of parole problems in Illinois was promised last night by Eugene W. Kreitner, who was appointed yesterday by Gov. John Stelle to succeed Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton as a member of the state board of pardons and paroles. The appointment came after Lawton, commander of the 33d division, National Guard, resigned.

"I will say now," declared Kreitner, who is an attorney in Belleville, St. Clair county, "that I'm not very liberal when it comes to considering the parole problem. I shall try as a member of the board to make a close study of each plea for parole, consider whether the prisoner actually deserves his freedom, and try to base my decision on the cold, practical merits of the case."

Sob Sisters Out.

Kreitner said also he would allow no "outside influences or sob sister sentimental" influences to shape his opinions in his work. He said he has been interested in welfare work in recent years and plans to devote considerable study to parole problems as a board member.

The appointment of Kreitner was announced along with that of Charles E. Day, 45 year old Aurora banker and insurance man, as director of the state department of public welfare. Day had been fiscal supervisor of the welfare department since Oct. 9. He is president of the Aurora Building and Loan association and a past commander of the Roosevelt post of the American Legion at Aurora.

Harry J. Nebel of Chicago was promoted from chief clerk of the welfare department to acting fiscal supervisor. He has been with the department five years.

Fills Post Held by Bowen.

Day replaces Dr. George W. Morrow, managing director of the Kankakee State hospital, who had served as acting public welfare director following the resignation of A. L. Bowen Oct. 18. Bowen was charged by the governor with being "derelict" in his duty in connection with the typhoid epidemic that took 60 lives at Manteno State hospital last year. A court order relieving him of his duties was on appeal when Stelle ousted Bowen.

Both Lawton and Morrow said that other tasks which required full time necessitated their resignations. Lawton is busy, he said, preparing the 33d division for an expected call to a year's military training.

GREEKS CAPTURE 700 ITALIANS AS ARMY ADVANCES

Fascist Columns Bombed by Athens Flyers.

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 16, Saturday (AP).—The capture of 700 Italian soldiers and 10 heavy guns in a continuing Greek advance along the 100-mile Albanian battlefront was reported by the high command early today. Both artillery and air actions were described as "intense."

Greek pilots were declared to have bombed Italian columns in action and to have shot down three Fascist planes against two Greek losses.

Summarizing the position briefly, a government spokesman said the Italians were retreating all along the front, altho remarking that "quite serious battles" were raging.

Greeks Recapture Hill.

The Italian guns were understood to have been seized by the Greeks in the recapture of an important hill; the prisoners in the Kalamas river region.

In the sector near the Ionian seacoast the Greeks declared the Italians had been pushed back up against the Albanian frontier in a retreat described as reaching the proportions of a rout. This is one of the few remaining points where the Italians still are on Greek soil after 19 days of fighting.

Above this area in the Pindus mountains, where the Greeks are fighting on Albanian soil, advices from the front said Greek mountain fighters had planted their artillery along the few good routes of invasion which had been open to the Fascists.

Attack Base in Albania.

On the northern flank, Greeks attacking long besieged Koritza, 10 miles inside Albania, were reported to have captured additional Albanian heights surrounding this Fascist invasion base.

The British air force command reported its planes destroyed a bridge across which Italian reinforcements were moving near Koritza, dumping the Fascists into the water below.

"Casualties almost certainly were very heavy," the British communique said.

Numerous other casualties were declared inflicted on the Italians when British planes swept low over marching columns and blasted and strafed it repeatedly with bombs and machine guns.

In still another raid, British bombers demolished a farmhouse being used by the Italians as headquarters for a section of the Koritza front.

Two British planes were lost in these operations.

Reports 13 Greek Planes Downed.

ROME, Nov. 15 (AP).—The Italian high command today reported 13 Greek warplanes were shot down in air battles on the Greek battle front.

Expect Italian Offensive.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 15 (AP). — An Italian offensive in the northern sector of the Greek-Albanian front was considered imminent today by observers on the Jugo-Slav border. They reported brisk aerial activity and arrival of strong Italian reinforcements.

Greek troops that had pressed into Albania in the north were retiring voluntarily from their exposed positions to stronger fortified points in the Albanian mountains.

The Greek forces also made limited withdrawals in the Morova mountain range which commands the valley supply roads to the Italian stronghold of Koritza. They were expected to make a stand on a defense line linking the villages of Cerje, Bracane, Bozjigrad, and Areza.

Switzerland Decrees Heavy Penalties for False Rumors

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 15 (AP).—The Swiss government today decreed maximum punishment of a year in prison and fines of $7,000 for persons found guilty of spreading false rumors concerning the nation's supply problem and prices, or who "provoke inequitable distribution of merchandise." The measure is designed to halt hoarding, speculation, and runs on merchandise.

EXPECT NEW AXIS OFFENSIVE; WAR LEADERS CONFER

Air and Land Attack on Gibraltar Seen.

trated as deep as 80 feet and more into the earth.

Gen. Hasse said that attackers on the land side would be able to hide in the rocky terrain north of Gibraltar or on the other side of the strait along the Moroccan coast, whereas every shot fired from the Gibraltar batteries could be clearly observed by besiegers.

Hasse admitted that in the 236 years of British rule Gibraltar has never succumbed to an attack. However, he expressed the conviction that once British reinforcements by sea have been stopped thru an extensive air bombardment of the base, Gibraltar's fall would be just a question of time.

In Hasse's opinion, the air defense of Gibraltar is weak, because there is no room for an up-to-date airfield. The defender's air force, he said, thus would be limited to pursuit ships launched from aircraft carriers—a comparatively easy target for attacking bombers—and to seaplanes, whose speed is inferior to land planes.

Expect Big Offensive.

ROME, Nov. 15 (AP).—A big offensive in the Mediterranean and new impetus for Italy's campaign in Greece were expected in foreign circles tonight to result from the conference of the chiefs of the German and Italian high commands.

The meeting between Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel of Germany and Marshal Pietro Badoglio of Italy today at Innsbruck in Austria was described officially in a communique as "military conversations on joint conduct of the war."

Some well informed sources predicted that pressure would be made on Turkey to allow German troops to spread their occupation from Rumania to the Dardanelles in a drive against the British at Suez and, beyond, in the oil-rich near east.

GUNS BLUNT AIR RAID ON BRITISH FLEET IN EGYPT

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Nov. 15 (AP). —Antiaircraft guns of Britain's Mediterranean fleet and shore batteries blunted an Italian air attack on this British naval base today.

Some casualties resulted, but a heavy barrage forced the raiders to fly high. Flashes from the fleet's guns illuminated the entire harbor in the fifth air raid on this harbor within 12 hours.

Broken line traces route of flight by Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British commander in chief in the middle east, to inspect his country's military establishment on Greek island.

SAYS NAZI RAIDER STRUCK TWICE IN CONVOY BATTLE

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP). — The captain of one of the merchantmen in a convoy which was attacked in the Atlantic by a German surface raider Nov. 5 said today two hits were scored on the warship.

Informed sources said no word of the raider has been received since the attack in which the armed merchant ship Jervis Bay stood off the German vessel until at least 33 of the 38 ships in the convoy got away.

The admiralty today announced the loss of five minesweepers in recent operations. They were the Rinovia, Sevra, Helen, William Wesney, and Stella Orion. There were an unannounced number of casualties.

U.S.-Canada Board Studies Defense of West Coasts

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 15 [Canadian Press].—The joint U. S.-Canadian defense commission conferred here today upon problems of defending the west coast. Altho sessions were held by the full 12 man commission, members had little to say about developments. They said, however, that their preliminary studies were practically complete, but that permanent staff members would keep continuous check on changing factors.

BRITAIN PLANS A 2D GIBRALTAR AT ISLAND OF CRETE

Lands Troops, Guns; Finds a Deep Harbor.

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 15 (AP).—The British middle eastern command has—in the space of a fortnight—garrisoned Crete with a considerable force of troops, mounted heavy guns, and has started defense works that promise to make that Greek island the Gibraltar of the eastern Mediterranean.

Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell. [A. P. photo.]

I saw the British undertaking at first hand—returning today from an inspection trip to Crete with Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander in chief of British forces in the middle east. Gen. Wavell declared he was satisfied with the progress made since British troops landed after Italy began war on Greece.

We found in the deep waters of Souda bay a protected harbor that would hold the fleets of the world. The eastern tip of the 150 mile long island is a scant 30 miles from the nearest island of the Italian held Dodecanese group.

Bombed by Italians.

Since the British took over, the towns of Crete have been subjected to repeated bombings by Italian planes. While there had been only two troop casualties, a score of Cretans were killed and extensive damage wrought on homes in rural towns.

Gen. Wavell made the journey to Crete aboard a Sunderland flying boat of the royal air force.

Not even the pilot knew Gen. Wavell was to be a passenger until he stepped aboard in an Egyptian port. A short dash across the placid bay and we were winging over the blue expanse that Premier Mussolini calls Italy's sea.

The gunners were alert at their posts in the machine gun turrets and we carried a batch of bombs in case any of Il Duce's airmen or ships tried to attack the plane. They didn't stop us tho we passed within 20 minutes flying time of an Italian base in the Dodecanese.

General Reads Poetry.

We did, however, soon sight a small sailing vessel and the big Sunderland swooped down to investigate. Later we descended again to inspect four large French merchant vessels headed toward Syria, presumably to carry French near eastern troops back to France.

During the flight the general busied himself with a sheaf of reports on which he scribbled frequent notations. This done, he turned to a volume of Robert Browning's poems, interrupting his reading twice to climb to the observation turret.

Soon we saw the rugged hills of Crete and crossed over the island, looking down on shepherds placidly tending their flocks in the valleys. If the trip had been made 3,000 years ago the scene probably would have been much the same.

TARANTO ATTACK POINTS A LESSON TO BRITAIN ITSELF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Success of the British aerial attack against Italian battleships in the Taranto naval base has brought home to the British the limitations of warships in modern warfare.

While battleships still are said to rule wide oceans, their vulnerability in narrow waters is apparent, according to experts. In restricted waters their defense requires protection from antiaircraft guns and airplanes as well as special precautions against the element of a surprise attack.

The Evening Standard, owned by Minister of Aircraft Production Lord Beaverbrook, tonight demanded more "machines, pilots and technicians." The paper declared that not only must Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin's scheme to train skilled labor be carried out to the limit in the United Kingdom but be extended to the dominions and India and "if instructors are lacking, America should be asked to assist."

FOREIGN PLANES AGAIN ATTACK JUGO-SLAV TOWN

BITOLJ, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 15 (AP).—Jugo-Slav antiaircraft guns went into action tonight for the first time against foreign planes when three bombers of unidentified nationality raided Bitolj. Six bombs dropped near the railway station. No casualties were reported.

The attackers came over from the Greek-Jugo-Slav border, dropped parachute flares over the blacked-out town, and then let go with their bombs.

This was the second time this Jugo-Slav town near the Greek-Albanian border has been bombed since the start of Italy's invasion of Greece. On Nov. 5 two persons were killed, five were injured and heavy property damage caused when three planes raided the town in broad daylight.

Both the Italians and Greeks disclaimed responsibility for that attack. A Greek communique said Italians made it.

BOMBERS BURY MORE BENEATH RUINS IN LONDON

LONDON, Nov. 16, Saturday (AP).—More than 100 Nazi warplanes dropped explosives and fire bombs on London early today, starting scores of fires, leveling apartment buildings and homes, and burying more civilians following the devastating assault on Coventry Thursday.

One whole block of apartments caved in. Casualties were believed heavy. "This is the worst night yet—at least in numbers," one air raid warden said.

The attack grew more intense near midnight when the raiders found gaps in the low hanging clouds curtaining the city. Several hours later clouds again obscured the city, but hundreds of fire bombs, explosives, and bright flares whistled down. The all-clear signal was sounded in the London area shortly before 7 a. m.

Claim 20 Planes Downed.

Twenty Nazi planes were shot down yesterday and two British planes were lost, but the pilot of one is safe, the air ministry said.

In their offensive against Germany, the British yesterday had announced a Thursday night attack on Berlin which they asserted added "increased chaos" to Germany's major transport system. The raid on Berlin—the greatest rail center of central Europe—was declared to have done such damage as to seriously affect not only Germany itself but all the countries overrun by the Nazis.

Hard hit, said the British, were the Schlesischer, Putlitz-Strasse, Lehrter, Anhalter, and Stettiner stations in the German capital. Bombed, too, according to the British, were the Berlin power stations at Wilmersdorf and Charlottenburg, and the great Tempelhof airdrome.

British Attack Hamburg.

BERLIN, Nov. 16, Saturday (AP).—Waves of British bombers attacked Hamburg, Germany's great port, during the night, but a majority of them were unable to break thru German defenses to reach the city proper or its harbors, DNB, German official news agency, reported early today.

[The German radio in a broadcast heard in New York said large numbers of British planes attacked Berlin last night and that a total of 12 were shot down. The broadcast said "only "insignificant fires" were started, and "some damage caused to private houses."]

DNB said no military objectives were hit during the Hamburg raid.

RUINED COVENTRY DIGS OUT AFTER ATTACK BY NAZIS

Germans Drop 30,000 Fire Missiles on City.

BY ALFRED E. WALL.

COVENTRY, England, Nov. 15 (AP).—Coventry, chosen by the German high command for the most concentrated aerial bombardment of the battle of Britain, emerged today from that scourge with at least 1,000 dead and wounded, not counting unknown numbers trapped in her smoking wreckage.

Berlin dispatches quoting the high command represented the assault as vengeance for the British bombardment of Munich, birthplace of Nazism. The British raided Munich Nov. 8 when Adolf Hitler was addressing a party rally.

Last night it was Coventry's turn and German bombing planes, busy from dusk to dawn, smashed the heart out of this industrially important city in Britain's smoky Midlands.

The British Press association declared, however, that the Germans "failed lamentably" to hit military targets.

A Legendary Past.

Coventry, 95 miles northwest of London and with a normal population of 190,000, now is known more for her place in Midland industry than for her legendary past. But it was streets thru which Lady Godiva rode nearly 900 years ago which were churned by incendiary and high explosive bombs during last night.

It was here that men strove in a thundering hell against growing piles of stone and smoking timbers to bring out the dead and injured. Coventry became a proving ground of men against bombs.

Stories of heroism, of rescue workers dying in the débris they were trying to move, of first aid workers killed while trying to save lives, of narrow escapes, and sudden, wholesale death piled one on another in an overpowering array.

Cases of bomb shock were reported in which the victims, otherwise unscathed, were found stricken dumb and powerless to help themselves after the night of terror.

People "Show Great Courage."

"The city suffered very seriously and the people bore their ordeal with great courage," commented a London communique.

Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, here on a tour of the Midlands, found in Coventry an example for his urging, earlier in Birmingham, that industrial workers under bombardment "must not be shocked off the job." That, he said, would be "a major disaster."

When Morrison and his wife drove into the city this afternoon their limousine was confronted by a caravan of white faced people seeking safety in the country. He prevailed upon some of them to go back.

They returned to a city which had undergone the worst continuous attack experienced by any in Britain—including London—since the air siege of Britain began.

500 Planes in Attack.

According to the German version, Coventry was attacked by more than 500 planes which dropped 30,000 incendiary bombs and more than 1,000,000 pounds of explosives. As home of the Morris, Bristol, Rover, and Napier Motor works as well as the General Electric plant, Coventry is regarded by the Germans as a prime military target.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the clock in the main spire of St. Michael's cathedral struck the hour for the first time since a bomb smashed into the building last night.

And in Hertford street, the statue popularly believed to represent Peeping Tom, the fellow who peeped at Lady Godiva, still stood as a reminder of this city's yesterdays. [Some authorities believe the statue to be an image of St. George, England's patron saint.]

The 14th century Brownstone cathedral, save for its 303 foot spire, was a jumble of stone and dusty mortar.

Two Hospitals Damaged.

Aside from the cathedral and countless homes, these places were damaged by the raiders: two hospitals, two churches, public baths, two clubs, a school, a hotel, four public shelters, movie theaters, the police station, the postoffice, and two first aid posts.

In a dash into the still burning sector early tonight this correspondent had to scramble over great piles of brick and broken stone. Fires ringed the night sky around us. The smell of explosives was still in the air. Gaunt pillars of stone rose in the midst of confusion, pointing stubbornly at the sky.

The German air armada, I was told, set the town alight shortly after sunset yesterday.

The same opening thrust had been made before. Raiders and bombs were not new to industrial Coventry. But the 12 hours that followed were like nothing before, here or in all England.

Defenses Almost Nullified.

Not until nearly daylight had the relays of planes emptied their bomb racks. They came in numbers which virtually nullified Coventry's antiaircraft defenses.

The sky flowered with flares. Amid the cannonading of Coventry's antiaircraft batteries could be heard the rattle of rifles and machine guns in the hands of men trying to shoot down the illumination flares.

Before the moon set, the sky was so thick with smoke that it could not be seen. It had shone brilliantly in the early hours of the bombardment.

Store after store was damaged, but authorities said supplies were not materially affected and there would be no food shortage.

Whole blocks of dwellings and business establishments were leveled. Police and military forces from surrounding towns were brought in to help restore order.

Despite efforts to keep the townspeople from flight, traffic on roads leading from the town was in disorder.

Coventry tonight was still at grips with the disaster, but the peak of horror had passed. At one place a pitiful group of small children with a small hand pump were squirting water on the blazing gable of their home.

A great corps of physicians and nurses worked thruout the night and day. Many were from nearby towns. At the changing of shifts in the local factories men from the work benches turned rescue workers, relieving the crews that had been on duty thru the night and the day. Many of the men dropped from exhaustion where their colleagues had fallen under explosions the night before.

Shuffle Along Streets.

Firemen reeled with weariness. Men and women shuffled along the littered streets, their faces white and pinched, always looking for some one or, with dumb stares, looking for nothing at all.

Four persons, already set down officially as "missing," were found in an air raid shelter. So shocked were they by the night of pounding concussion from bombs that they refused to come above ground. They listened to assurances that all was well, but refused to budge.

Many of the rescue workers had their own homes to work on. They clawed into the débris, using bare hands, crying out the names of their wives, parents, or children and shouting, "We're coming . . . we're coming!"

Says Cathedral to Be Rebuilt.

One young man tunneled thru débris with his bare hands, altho they were cut and bleeding, to drag out the body of his wife.

Twelve incendiary bombs were said to have hit the Coventry cathedral early in the raid. The provost and a party on duty there attempted to smother them with sand only to have another shower of incendiaries and high explosives drive them from their task.

"The cathedral will rise again," said the provost.

Elkton, Md., Nov. 15 (AP).—Ethel Merman, sultry-voiced musical comedy star, was married at noon today to William B. Smith, manager of a Film Players' Agency.

Miss Merman is appearing in the musical comedy, "Panama Hattie," in New York.

Miss Merman gave her age as 28, and Smith as 39. The ceremony was performed in Episcopal church by the Rev. J. Warren Albinson. The couple then entrained for New York.

Smith said he would return to Hollywood in a week and then was moving back to New York to open an agency there. It is the first marriage for both. Miss Merman made her Broadway debut in 1930 in the musical comedy, "Girl Crazy."

WHEAT AND CORN FLOUR WILL BE MIXED IN ITALY

ROME, Nov. 15 (AP).—The Italian Grain guild today announced that, beginning Dec. 1, corn flour would be mixed with wheat flour. Guild Minister Ricci reported that estimates of Italy's wheat stocks had been revised downward and the corn supply found to be greater. Increased consumption of wheat resulting from the war made it necessary to "discipline its consumption," the guild announcement said.

SWISS DICTATOR GROUP DEMANDS ITS OWN PRESS

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 15 (AP).—A Swiss totalitarian group delivered today what some newspapers called an "ultimatum" to the government, demanding the right to disseminate party propaganda and the "rehabilitation of persecuted and imprisoned" colleagues.

The group is known as the "Swiss National Movement." It is not strong numerically, but neutral foreign observers considered its demands important in view of Switzerland's position, sandwiched as she is between the axis powers. The group's program roughly parallels the Nazi party program.

"Herr Pilet [Dr. Marcel Pilet-Golaz, president of the Swiss federation] has assured us that our demands will be most carefully considered," said a manifesto issued by the group. "He particularly promised us permission to print daily and weekly papers in the near future."

REYNAUD'S LOVE AFFAIR CROPS UP AT FRENCH TRIAL

Aids Who Fled with Jewels Are Sentenced.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LYONS, France, Nov. 15.—A chapter of French history connected with the military collapse of last June was unraveled today before the military court of the 13th region at Clermont-Ferrand. Dominique Leca and Gilbert Devaux, quartermaster officers and collaborators of ex-Premier Paul Reynaud, were sentenced in contumax [by default] to military degradation and imprisonment for 10 years.

The romance of Reynaud and Mme. Helene de Portes, who was killed last June in an automobile accident in which Reynaud also was injured, figured in the testimony. Reynaud now is imprisoned in the Château de Chazeron awaiting trial for responsibility in the French defeat.

Detained in Spain.

Leca and Devaux, it was testified were named financial councillors of the French embassy in Washington, D. C., on June 19. This was two days after Reynaud's resignation as premier and at a time when Reynaud was believed being considered for ambassador to the United States.

They left Bordeaux the next day with trunks and suit cases for Lisbon, from where they expected to reach America. They got by the frontier guards with diplomatic passports and without examination of their baggage, but in Madrid, Spain, they were detained and their baggage examined.

Find Money and Gold.

Their baggage contained, among other things, Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin's secret reports on the conduct of the war, 12,000,000 francs [about $240,000] and other banknotes, several ingots of gold and a large quantity of jewelry belonging to Mme. de Portes.

Questioned by Spanish authorities, Leca and Devaux were said to have related that the money was a secret fund they were taking to the French embassy in Washington. They gave vague explanations about the gold and the jewels.

Spanish authorities turned two suit cases containing the money and jewels over to the French embassy. Leca and Devaux, advised that their mission to the United States was canceled, were asked to return to Bordeaux, but they escaped to England. Both were charged with desertion in wartime.

SEND FOOD TO 5 LITTLE NATIONS, HOOVER PLEADS

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover appealed tonight for a reopening of negotiations with warring European nations for guarantees of safe shipment and distribution of food supplies to "five little democracies."

In a speech before the faculty and students of Vassar college and broadcast nationally, Hoover declared the people of the United States "should be given an opportunity to try to save" the people of Finland, Norway, Holland, Belgium, and central Poland.

Asserting that millions of men, women and children in those countries faced "the stark fact of oncoming famine," the former President said "I will suggest that their lives and infinite suffering can be saved. And I will suggest that we have a moral responsibility."

The only hope of saving the people of those nations from starvation, Hoover said, was in "the importing of food from overseas thru the British and German blockades under full safeguards."

GIRLS OF LONDON SET UP CANTEENS IN RAID SHELTERS

Prepare Food for Subway Throngs.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—More than 1,000 girls in green overalls and cherry red turbans under Edith Gowans, a dapper little Scotch woman who has had a long experience in restaurant ownership and management, have begun installing canteens for subway air raid shelters. These canteens will be separate from communal feeding centers, about 100 of which have been organized by the London county council of teachers.

It is estimated that more than 150,000 persons sleep nightly in the subway shelters. Already nine canteens are operating in them and three more will be organized this week-end.

Canteens Serve Variety of Food.

The canteens prepare tea, cocoa, and soup in special electric boilers. Cakes, buns, apples, chocolate, milk, and sandwiches are served.

Miss Gowan's girls are given a week of intensive training before starting to work at 36 shillings weekly [about $7.20]. They even see that bottles containing milk for babies are properly sterilized.

Owing to donations to the communal fund, among the latest being 20,000 pounds [about $80,000] from the lord mayor's fund, prices for communal meals are low. A hot meat dish can be had for 6 pence [about 10 cents] and a sweet for 2 pence [about 3.2 cents].

Thousands Fed Daily.

Lunch is the only meal so far provided. Many thousands are fed daily, and in one area following a period of intensive bombing, 7,000 hot meals were served daily from hastily improvised kitchens. Numerous other communal feeding centers have been set up in the Midlands and other bombed areas outside of London.

In operating the communal centers, the London teachers have organized their own "flying column" of cooks who move from district to district as the need arises.

FARMER KILLED BY TRACTOR.

Dixon, Ill., Nov. 15 [Special].—Henry Ufkin, 39 years old, was killed yesterday on the Wilbur Fulf farm, three miles south of here, when his clothing became caught in the mechanism of a tractor he was driving, attached to a corn picker. Ufkin was divorced from his wife two weeks ago.

U. S. AND SPANISH FRICTION FLARES ON DOUBLE FRONT

Tangier Coup Protested; Press Faces Ban.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP).—Friction developed between the American and Spanish governments today as the United States reasserted its 34 year old treaty rights in the international zone of Tangier, and Madrid announced a probable ban on operations of all American press correspondents in Spain.

Arrow locates international zone.

The state department announced representations have been made in Madrid over the recent Spanish seizure of full control at Tangier, the strategic international zone in Morocco which commands the approach to the strait of Gibraltar from the Atlantic.

They were based on treaty rights acquired in the 1906 Act of Algeciras, which grew out of an international conference to stabilize administration in Morocco. The United States did not adhere to later conventions adopted by Mediterranean powers which gave Spain certain police rights at Tangier.

Axis Angle Is Sensed.

In view of the slight interest shown by the United States in the Tangier zone in recent years, the representations were interpreted here as a means of registering this government's interest in any Spanish move to assist the axis powers in seizing Gibraltar.

Spanish authorities in Madrid notified American correspondents they would not be permitted to send out any dispatches, effective next Monday, and said the action was a result of refusal by the United States to grant visas for correspondents of the Spanish news agency, EFE, to come to this country or for that agency to operate here.

[EFE is the foreign service of the official Spanish news agency, EFE-Cifra.]

State department officials asserted, however, no visa applications had been received here for correspondents to represent the Spanish agency or for permission for the agency to operate.

Later, Spanish authorities in Madrid said the restriction against American correspondents there "probably" would become effective next Monday and that the United States, instead of denying visas, had not granted them.

The state department said it had cabled the embassy in Madrid for details.

SPAIN NOTIFIES PRESS

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 15.—All American newspaper men in Spain will have their present limited freedom to function here withdrawn Sunday night as a result of the alleged failure of a correspondent for the official Spanish news agency to obtain a visa to go to Washington, D. C., they were informed today.

The threatened retaliation, which has been hanging fire the last week, was communicated to American correspondents by the interior ministry in the following note:

"Since the North American authorities have not permitted the entry into the United States of the EFE agency representative nor the official establishment of the this agency in the above mentioned country, the United Press and the Associated Press are suspended in Spain."

It was explained the reprisal would be applied also to THE TRIBUNE correspondent as well as the correspondent of the New York Times.

The origin of the present situation goes back two weeks, when the Spanish correspondent applied at the embassy here for a visa for Washington. When the visa application was forwarded to Washington for approval, instead of being granted here, a spokesman for the government press bureau indicated Spain was ready to regard this as a refusal to grant permission.

SPEED UP WORK ON ARMY CAMPS FOR 60,000 MEN

9,000 Toil on 3 Posts in Louisiana.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Beauregard, Alexandria, La., Nov. 15.—Camp Beauregard is actually the spearhead of a cluster of actual or planned army training camps. The 32d division, which includes the Wisconsin and Michigan National Guard, is now encamped here. On Nov. 25 the 106th Illinois cavalry, of which Chicago's famous Black Horse troop is a part, will join it.

Camp Buaregard is six miles north of Alexandria. Six miles still farther north is Camp Livingston. Fourteen miles south of Alexandria is Camp Claiborne. Sixty miles west, at Leesville, a training camp for an armored division of 11,000 men is to be built.

9,000 Men Are Working.

Both Camps Livingston and Claiborne are under what may be called "feverish construction," each employing 9,000 men on a 24 hour day, seven day week basis. Eight hundred frame buildings of all types are being erected at Livingston and 680 at Claiborne.

Work on the two jobs started Sept. 15 and is to be completed by Jan. 2, altho here, as at Camp Peay, Tullahoma, Tenn., where the 33d Illinois division is to train, not one frame building is yet completed. However, the difficulties here are not so formidable inasmuch as both camps are to be tent cities, whereas Camp Peay is to be a barracks camp, and 400 structures are required by January.

Two Camps Renamed.

Camp Livingston was originally named Tioga and Camp Claiborne originally Evangeline by army corps headquarters at Atlanta, but the war department hastily changed them. One camp is named after Edward Livingston, a noted Louisiana lawyer, and the other after W. C. C. Claiborne, first governor of Louisiana after its admission into the Union. Camp Beauregard, of course, honors one of confederacy's immortals.

The 32d division will occupy Livingston after quarters are ready. Claiborne will be taken over by the 34th from Iowa, Minnesota, and the Dakotas. Beauregard will remain headquarters of the 5th army training corps area with a complement of 1,200 men, two pontoon units and two observation squadrons.

Including corps and post troops with division troops, Livingston ultimately will have a total population of 31,000, while Claiborne will have 2,800. The three camps eventually will contain more than 60,000 men.

211 'LOST CARD' DRAFTEES HOLD LOTTERY OF OWN

A new kind of draft lottery, in which registrants drew their own serial numbers, was held last night in the Palatine Township High school with the blessing and assistance of Illinois draft officials. It was held to correct a situation created when registration cards of 211 men in precincts 1 and 2 of Palatine township were destroyed accidentally in the county clerk's office.

Of the total, 208 men re-registered during the week, and many of them were at the lottery last night. The cards of the men were shuffled, and then the lottery began. One serial number for each man, beginning with 2510, had been placed in capsules and then stirred in a fish bowl. Paul G. Armstrong, state draft director, drew the first number, which was 2549, and it went to John F. Douglas whose card was on top of the pile. Robert L. Schoppe, whose card was second, drew his own number—2630—as did succeeding registrants.

The local board now will determine a new order number list on the basis of the national master list established in the national lottery. The list will be posted tomorrow at board headquarters in Arlington Heights.

ARMY PRECISION! IT BEGINS BEFORE SOLDIERS ENLIST

First 200 Draft Age Men in Service Next Week.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

There will be little room for guesswork when the 200 Cook county men who will become the first under the draft law to be inducted into the army from the 6th corps area leave their homes Monday and Tuesday to enter the service.

Every step in the process of delivering selected men from their respective local draft board headquarters to the induction station in the 122d field artillery armory at 234 East Chicago avenue has been specified with military precision.

Each board was notified last week of the number of men—ranging from one to four according to size—it would have to provide. Each board then selected the men to fill its quota.

Nearly All Are Volunteers.

These men, almost 100 per cent volunteers, will report to their local board headquarters at designated hours.

In a "brief and dignified ceremony," the regulations say, the local board shall:

1. Call the roll.

2. Designate one of the selected men as leader and another as assistant leader with such authority as is necessary to deliver the group to the induction station, the leader acting as a sort of noncommissioned officer.

3. Turn over to the leader the bus or street car fare or train tickets for the trip to the induction station and give him the records to be delivered at the induction station. [Maj. Stanley R. McNeil of the Cook county office said yesterday that there were indications many of the boards would arrange to escort their men to the armory.]

4. Order the selected men to obey their leader and assistant leader.

5. Specifically order them to report to the induction station under their leader and assistant leader.

Ceremonies May Be Varied.

Regulations provide that the ceremony may be varied to include speeches by representative citizens, the presence of uniformed organizations, the playing of band music, and parades. It is urged that all members of the local board and its government appeal agent be present.

The documents to be handed the leader include: The original and duplicate delivery list; report of physical examination for each man; the order to report sent to each man, and a document for each man, called "information for the armed forces," which includes data copied from his questionnaire.

Maj. McNeil said some local boards will hold special ceremonies on the night before induction.

Hourly Schedules Made.

An hourly schedule for reporting at the armory has been worked out, with the men appearing at 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, and 10:30 a. m.

Once inside the induction station, the men will begin the thoro physical examination to determine whether they are up to the army's standard. Each man previously will have passed muster before his local board's physician.

The selected men have been instructed to bring bathrobe and slippers, which probably will be the "uniform" for this first formation of their army career.

VOLUNTEERS MAY HALVE NUMBER IN DRAFT BY JULY 1

Draft registrants are volunteering for service at such a rate that it seems probable they will account for half of the 800,000 men to be drafted before July 1, C. A. Dykstra, director of selective service, said yesterday in a luncheon address to the American Municipal association in the Congress hotel.

C. A. Dykstra.

Dykstra cited the situation in Cook county, where virtually all of the 200 men to be inducted into the army next week are scheduled to be volunteers. He told of a report from Maryland that the entire quota would be made up of volunteers, and said a similar trend was evident in other parts of the country.

Dykstra said the selective service administration is endeavoring to establish a nationwide organization to take care of reemployment of men after they are released from their year's training with the army.

"The law protects the jobs which men leave to enter the army, but we are interested also in helping to find jobs for men who had none when they entered the army," he added.

ROB TRUCK OWNER OF $185.

Paul Krajci, 1516 Chestnut street, owner of a trucking business, was robbed of $185 late yesterday by two men. They forced their way into his truck at Ogden avenue and Jackson boulevard and compelled him to drive into an alley at the rear of 124 South Wood street.

FURTHER NAMES LISTED OF MEN CALLED IN DRAFT

Volunteers to Fill First County Quota.

Names of additional young men in Chicago and Cook county who are scheduled to be inducted into the army next week for a year's service under the draft act were announced yesterday by local draft boards.

Virtually all of these men are classed as volunteers because, taking advantage of a provision of the draft act, they asked that they be given their training as soon as possible rather than wait for their turn to be drafted in accordance with the national draft lottery.

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce in England to do some studying. Arriving alone at night, she opens a closet door and a dead man falls out, getting blood on Rowan's skirt. She rushes out of the cottage and runs into 32 year old Stephen Smedley, a publisher who, because of a breakdown, has come to the country for a rest. He lives in an old chapel near the Fordyce cottage. When he goes off for help and fails to return, Rowan goes searching for him and stumbles upon him prostrate. She helps him into the cottage where he collapses upon the sofa. She lets him sleep there while she goes upstairs to bed. She hides her bloody skirt under the eave outside her window, in a brief case of Stephen's she has found which contains a foreign manuscript. She is awakened by Stephen entering her room holding a butcher knife. A sharp command makes him drop the knife and retreat. The next morning he remembers nothing of the knife incident and the body has disappeared. Stephen advises Rowan to say nothing of finding the body, as its disappearance will get them into trouble. It turns out that the dead man is Bertram Bogge, the no-good brother of the vicar who lives next door. Lord Romrytch and his secretary, Forbes, help the vicar in search for Bogge. They find the body down a well, and Egbert, the caretaker, is arrested for murder, but he produces an alibi and is released. Scotland Yard is called in on the case. Some one has slipped notes under Rowan's door demanding the return of the brief case under penalty of death, and the next morning her room is locked pending investigation. Rowan suspicions every one, but tho she likes Stephen, she gets desperate when he disappears. She feels he is the murderer and confesses to Lord Romrytch about the hidden skirt and brief case which she has been unable to recover. She overhears the police report a suicide, and she is made to believe it is Stephen as the police try to trap her. When she finds out the suicide was Forbes the police hint it was a second murder by Stephen. In desperation she decides to make a last attempt to recover the brief case. As she is reaching for it that night she sees a figure, and before she has time to see who it is she is knocked out. Shots are fired and her assailant stumbles down the well in his flight. He is Lord Romrytch, the murderer of Bogge. They were both Fifth Columnists.

INSTALMENT LIV.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

Stephen and Dr. Roach remained behind after Inspector Headcorn and the police officers left the room.

"They'll call Romrytch's death accidental? But—my hat!" exclaimed the doctor.

Stephen said, "I know. So do they, but wasn't it accidental? How they'll wangle the whys and wherefores of their puzzle, I can't say, but they'll work it out, never fear. I predict a dumb-show hunt for some nameless soviet agent. It'll drag on for a few weeks, then be quietly dropped. Bogge will have been the victim of a person or persons unknown. If you don't believe me, watch your paper and see."

"Well, well, I'm not betting." The doctor swayed embarrassedly on his heels. "Rum little bounder," he said gruffly. "Outsider—in a way. Not but what the radium he bestowed on our Cottage hospital was a gift from heaven. How a man capable of the one action could lend himself to—to——"

"Call him an emperor of industry. Won't that suffice?"

"O! Hrumph! Didn't I spot a bottle of Victoria Vat on the dining room table? Come along, let's sample it."

"Bright idea."

They quitted the room.

So, it was finished. Washed up. Tomorrow, Rowan supposed, she'd be packing her bag.

Her lids smarted. Stephen as he went out had not so much as glanced her way. Of course, one of those shots might easily have got him. Surely he wasn't feeling a grudge against her for the part she had played? She might leave here, never knowing——

Wildly she sat up. "But how can I go, when any minute they may——"

"May what? It was Stephen, quietly back at her side.

Tears slid weakly down her lashes. "My skirt," she whispered. "What's happened to that?"

Softly he closed the door. "S'sh! Under this cushion, where I shoved it."

"O," she gulped, and for a full minute could say no more. "Tell me," she quavered. "Did you guess I'd blurt the whole darned thing out to—to——"

"To Romrytch? O, definitely! At your very next chance."

"But how did you know? I never said——"

"You trusted him, that's why—as you never quite trusted me. You looked on him, most naturally, as the one well disposed and completely disinterested person who could offer you sound advice. You'd have consulted him before if my—shall I say my domineering presence?—hadn't been holding you in check, and last night even that curb weakened when you thought I was going to sit tight and let Yalilee take the rap. I could hardly tell you Romrytch had issued a second invitation to Struve for the sole purpose of forcing your hand."

"It's what he did do, Stephen! He seemed to know just about all there was to know, otherwise I'd never have——"

"Exactly. I suppose it never occurred to you to wonder how he came by all his extraordinary knowledge? Or why the day after the murder he got me, on five minutes' acquaintance, to lunch with him?"

"I . . . Why did he ask you, Stephen? I don't quite get that even now."

"Well, he knew I had his letters—or that I had had them, a short time before. He wanted to see if I meant to cash in on them. As no move was made by me he jumped to a pretty accurate conclusion. You'd got the damned things, and while still in the dark as to their nature were afraid to give them up. From then on he concentrated on you."

Ruefully she said, "I suppose it wouldn't have done to drop me a hint?"

"And supposing I had?"

Her cheeks were on fire. "Don't rub it in, please! Go on, let's have the rest."

"I'm not particularly happy about it," he said reluctantly. "I'm afraid I played you up in rather a beastly way. Deliberately. If I'd foreseen how it was going to work out for you . . . well, I couldn't, could I? The moment had come. I had to force the issue, and there seemed just one means of managing it. In short, I wanted you to blow the gaff to your titled friend. Don't you see why?"

"You wanted me to . . . No, I don't see."

"Yes, of course—and I knew if you felt injured and let down you'd turn instantly to him. As you did.

"Yalilee was now free. I saw the news in a 6 o'clock paper. Yours truly would have been the next candidate for arrest, and Scotland Yard's finding those papers so carefully secreted along with your gory garment would have fixed a charge on the two of us it would have taken superhuman ability to shake. There was just one course open to me. It was to sneak back here, catch Romrytch with his talons actually on the stuff, and hold him up while I yelled for your sergeant."

"You never thought it might have been Forbes? He heard me, you know. So did the vicar."

"Nonsense! Forbes was a decent fellow. Besides, he hadn't the guts. His part's easily explained. Suspecting Bogge's game, he hinted his fears, very delicately, to the man he served. His visit here was undoubtedly prompted by the hope of recovering Romrytch's letters and putting a match to them. Confidential secretaries are very apt to get an inkling of their masters' secret machinations. It's a mistake to speak of them, tho. See here, was it bang on top of this eavesdropping that Forbes got the sack?"

"When the vicar had gone, yes. It knocked me silly."

"Precisely. Don't you get it? Dictator stuff. The formula being, first put your henchman in the wrong. Next, execute him. On no account allow him time or chance to start justifying himself. Execution in this case meant knockout drops in the poor devil's whisky flask. Forbes in his miserable state was bound to take a swig before he reached London. Yes, Forbes knew too much—and his very honesty made him a menace. If I'd known about this alleged suicide sooner my last doubt would have conked out; but I still wouldn't have had proof. Well, it will be suicide—now. Watch and see."

Grimly Stephen lit a cigaret.

"I hadn't banked on the Yard's clamping down today instead of tomorrow, or on a trap being laid for one or both of us to walk into. The vicar's trying to do a deal with you gave them that bright idea. A simple means of leading them to whatever was hidden. Headcorn and his boy friend were up above, crouched between the flower borders."

Hunched on the sofa beside her he had been stabbing at her sleeve to point his remarks. Now his finger began tracing little patterns on the velvet, gravitating by degrees toward her wrist. Here, on her bare skin, it rested, lightly, as if poised for withdrawal. She saw his throat contract, his eyes wander from her own.

"Rowan." His tone was low and hard. "Why on that first night did you lock me in?"

She winced. "O, Stephen, don't! Not again. At least, well, I've answered that question, haven't I?"

"No. You hedged—and you're hedging now. It's all mixed up with your not trusting me. Listen, girl, I've got to know. Surely you see why?"

Concluded Monday.

POLICE CHARGE CLUB IS HANGOUT FOR RAPIST GANG

Girl Kidnaped, Taken to Place and Attacked.

Police were investigating the Twin Cardinals club in an apartment house basement at 1656 18th place last night in the belief that parolees have been kidnaping girls and taking them there to rape them.

Three paroled robbers were among the six men held in the investigation. Two of the parolees have been identified by a girl 20 years old as members of a gang that took her from her escort's car, dragged her into the club, and raped her while another frequenter of the club was there.

The parolees the girl identified are Walter Gorski, 25 years old, of 1956 Cullerton street and Mitchell Kopec, 25, of 1930 21st street. The police said the girl also identified Tracy Leonard, 25, of 2100 South 50th court, Cicero, as one of the rapists. The third parolee, arrested as an associate of the others, is Ben Malinowski, 23, of 1747 14th street.

Club Chartered by State.

Lieut. Thomas F. O'Hare of the Warren avenue police said the club was chartered by the state in 1931. It has rooms, furnished with cheap lounges and card tables. There are about 20 members who pay 20 cents a week dues.

The girl who brought about the arrests is a waitress. A young man called for her after work Monday morning and drove her to her home in the 900 block of South Claremont avenue. The rapists followed in another car and demanded that her escort surrender her. She fled but they caught her at her front door, dragged her to their car and then drove by a circuitcus route to the club, which they entered by the alley door.

There each of them raped her. Then they drove her away and released her.

Police Find Club's Location.

They had tried to keep her from learning the club's location, but Lieut. O'Hare and Detectives Lawrence O'Keefe and John Adair were able to find the club from her description.

They rounded up the accused men, Malinowski and three other frequenters of the club: Joseph Fagrowicz, 25, of 1733 18th place; Clarence Klepowicz, 22, of 1956 West Dickens avenue, and Stanley Hodur, 32, of 1650 18th place.

Hodur said he walked into the club during the attack. He told police he had frequently heard women's screams from the club at night. Hodur was released as a state's witness.

Seeks Habeas Corpus Writ.

In the midst of the investigation George Crane, high priced criminal court lawyer, began habeas corpus proceedings for the release of Kopec. Chief Justice James F. Fardy of the Criminal court thereupon indicated he would release the parolee today unless formal charges are filed.

The police said their investigation showed that the parolees had been renting cars and keeping them out until the early morning hours, in violation of parole regulations.

BANDITS ASSAULT WOMAN IN HOTEL; GET $2,500 IN GEMS

Enter by Ruse; Quiz Maid, a Parolee.

Police last night sought two bandits who assaulted and robbed a woman of jewelry worth $2,500 in her apartment in the Seneca hotel, 200 East Chestnut street, earlier in the day. The victim is Mrs. Jane Shuffleton, 52 years old, a clerk for the board of education. She was taken to St. Luke's hospital for treatment.

Miss Mary Rospapa, 24, a maid employed by Mrs. Shuffelton, was questioned when police learned she is a parolee from the women's reformatory at Dwight, Ill.

The bandits appeared at the apartment door, said that they were from the parole board and wished to talk to Miss Rospapa.

Struck with Gun.

"Why doesn't your board leave this poor girl alone?" Mrs. Shuffelton asked. Then, when she went to the telephone to call the parole office, one of the bandits struck her over the head with a pistol.

The robbers then tied and gagged the women. Two diamond rings and a bracelet were jerked off Mrs. Shuffelton's hand and other jewelry was taken from a dresser drawer. The bandits cut the telephone wires before they left.

Flee in Taxicab.

Miss Rospapa untied herself after the robbers left and then freed her employer. The maid said the bandits took two rings from her finger. She did not know the value of them. She said she looked out of the window after she freed herself and saw the robbers drive away in a taxicab.

Miss Rospapa was sent to Dwight from Kankakee for burglary in 1934. She was paroled in 1936 and returned that year for parole violations. She was paroled to Mrs. Shuffelton last July. She was convicted with three youths for breaking into a home in Kankakee.

Mrs. Shuffelton is separated from her husband, Oren, of 915 Cuyler avenue.

POLICE TO START NEW CAMPAIGN ON PARKED CARS

Law Violators Will Find Tickets on Machines.

Simplified enforcement of Chicago's auto parking laws in the loop and at all intersections patroled by the city's 400 traffic policemen will go into effect next Wednesday, Police Commissioner Allman announced yesterday. Under the plan summonses will be attached by police to illegally parked vehicles.

This procedure, proposed by the Chicago Motor club, was adopted by the city council last April but has not been enforced. It will enable the police eventually to enforce the law against all night parking in the streets, according to Ald. George D. Kells [28th], chairman of the traffic and public safety committee of the council.

Supply of Tickets Ready.

A supply of the summons booklets sufficient for the police assigned to traffic duty in the loop and at the major intersections has been printed and will be distributed before Wednesday, Ald. Kells said. Booklets will be available in about a month for district police.

The new tickets are about the color of a penny postcard, slightly smaller, and somewhat stiffer. They are made out in triplicate, two other sheets, one for the police and the other for the court, being made out when the card, which goes on the vehicle is filled in by the policeman.

There is a hole in one end of the summons ticket and each policeman will carry wires to attach the tickets to vehicles. Police, using the license number of the car, later will fill in the name of the owner on the copies of the summons kept in the police records. If summonses are ignored warrants will be issued and served by district police.

In the case of a driver from out of the city, this procedure will be impossible, according to Chief Prendergast, and unless the police are able to reach the violator within the city limits, no warrant could be served.

Offenses and Fines Listed.

Listed on the back of the summons card are 27 offenses and the corresponding fines—either $1 or $2. The offender may pay his fine in court or send a money order for the amount due on the offense checked.

Commissioner Allman was asked if the police would make an immediate drive on the estimated 450,000 cars that remain on the city's streets all night.

"I haven't analyzed that situation yet," he replied.

However, Ald. Kells indicated that enforcement of that part of the ordinance would be a matter of "slow work" on the part of the police.

"Abolishing all night parking will have to be gone into slowly and treated as a problem," Kells said. The public will have to be educated into abiding by the ordinance.

Garage Space in City.

Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed force estimated yesterday there are approximately 525,000 automobiles in Chicago.

"I don't believe there is enough garage space in the city now to take care of all those cars," he added.

State Senator A. L. Marovitz, attorney for parking lot and garage owner interests, disagreed. "There are about 600 public garages in the city—most of which stand empty now," he said. "Most of them hold from 200 to 400 cars."

Husband Off to Jail

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Lillian Greco kisses her husband, Joseph, goodby after he is sentenced to jail for contempt of court.

For being unkind to Deputy Sheriff Harry Blue on Nov. 1, Joseph Greco, a grocer of 3507 Chicago avenue, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Rudolph Desort to 10 days in jail. Greco already is doing six months for contempt of court for being $900 in arrears in alimony payments to his first wife, Eva.

Because of the Nov. 7 incident when Blue was tossed into the street, Mrs. Lillian Greco, the grocer's second wife, was fined $5 yesterday. Greco's son, Raymond, 15, was fined $1.

Deputy Blue had been trying to serve an attachment on Greco when the scuffle occurred. The sheriff's office was considerably annoyed by the incident, charging that it seems to be open season on deputies who are only trying to do their duty. During the hearing the Grecos entered a general denial of Blue's charges and their attorney, Charles C. Cooley, brought out that Blue often has drawn a pistol while serving civil suit papers.

SENT TO PRISON FOR THREAT TO KILL PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP).—A two to six years' prison sentence was imposed today on Edward DeRoulhac Blount for threatening the life of President Roosevelt, the court announcing that the punishment should serve as "an example to others."

"These are difficult times and make the offense more grievous than in peacetime," said Justice F. Dickinson Letts in federal court as he sentenced the former census bureau clerk, who had pleaded guilty. "The defendant must have substantial punishment and must be somewhat of an example to others thruout the country who might be inclined to abuse the rights of citizenship."

Blount's attorney pleaded that the young man had been found by a psychiatrist to be emotionally unstable and a constitutional psycopath. Secret service agents testified Blount had made threatening, filthy, and obscene remarks about the President in addition to threatening to kill him.

The defendant's father, a retired government attorney, heard sentence passed.

MYSTERY AUTO CRASH VICTIM DIES OF INJURIES

John Johanek, 63 years old, 1759 Augusta boulevard, died yesterday in County hospital of injuries suffered a week ago in an automobile accident. Johanek was taken to the hospital by a friend, and hospital records do not show where the accident occurred.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 759 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 554 were killed in Chicago, where 20,693 were injured in the same period.

33 TON MARVEL TO HELP NAVY IN DESIGNING SHIPS

New York, Nov. 15 (AP).—A 33 ton towing machine, a steel thing big as a house but so precise it will bump audibly when it runs over a fly sitting on its steel rails, was accepted today by representatives of the United States Navy.

The structure is a unique type of towing carriage, made to draw 12 to 20 foot models of warships in the navy's new 960 foot long roofed-in testing canal at Carder Rock, Md.

The purpose is to take certain serious kinds of guesswork out of the design of battleships and other naval craft, as, for instance, what would make them topheavy. It was designed by Capt. H. E. Saunders of the navy engineering division and built at Long Island city by Machinery Builders, Inc.

Built to Straddle Canal.

This new carriage is a huge, cage-like structure of metal tubing, built to straddle a canal 51 feet wide and to run on rails carrying it a few feet above water.

Its shape is that of a triangular piece of pie. The tip of the pie forms one end of this traveling bridge, and the broad side, where the crust would be, the other end. The crust side, carrying driving motors and measuring instruments, is 72 feet long. It is 56 feet across to the tip.

The huge structure will bump at even a fly because of some new features in American construction. The steel wheels and the rails are machined to the smoothness of mirrors. Naval representatives said this was the first time rails have been so machined. They are even adjusted to the earth's curvature.

Movement Almost Perfect.

Altho a fly-bump is not important, it illustrates the reasons for the precise structure of the new carriage, which results in almost perfection in movement.

Any sag, tremor, or bend in the carriage is transmitted to the towed model and seriously confuses the problems of design. This is the first carriage in the world designed to eliminate practically all the outside movements. The pie shape helps give rigidity.

The big cage will run, up to 20 miles an hour speeds, without varying its speed as much as one-hundredth of a mile an hour.

It is designed, said the makers, to do for warship models what a wind tunnel does for airplanes. The idea for the new design came from the navy's seaplane towing canal maintained under Starr Truscott, chief of the hydrodynamics division, National Advisory Council for Aeronautics.

GUNMAN ROBS LOAN OFFICE.

Four employés of the Family Loan corporation, 9113 Commercial avenue, were threatened with a pistol yesterday by a gunman who took $53.80.

U. S. ROAD PLANS OMIT AID TO CITY SUPERHIGHWAYS

Plea Issued for Chicago Following Disclosure.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody in an address before an annual convention of the American Automobile association here today said the government's road program for immediate construction does not include express highways thru cities.

John M. Carmody [top] and Charles M. Hayes.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club promptly issued a statement urging that an exception to this general policy be made for the government to assist Illinois, Cook county and Chicago to build deathproof highways in the midwest metropolis.

Carmody's speech relegated urban express routes to a "long term highway program." He recited other roadwork as of immediate necessity for national defense.

Points to Military Angle.

"We need the superhighways in Chicago," Hayes argued, "as defense against a traffic toll that each year is killing almost a thousand persons and crippling approximately 15,000. If the project must be considered on a strictly military basis, surely it is important to improve motor transportation in the manufacturing center of war supplies and materials."

Carmody said that the highway requirement of first necessity in the United States is for roads and streets for 130 army cantonments. Preliminary surveys, he said, estimate this requirement to total 2,900 miles of pavement to cost $194,000,000.

Survey Shows Weaknesses.

New defense industries and old ones that are expanding, he continued, also are in great need of road improvements. The public roads administration and the Works Progress administration are coöperating with the war department in organizing formal conferences thruout the country to determine the specific requirements and the money available from federal, state, and local agencies for construction.

In addition to the pavements to serve military and naval establishments and war industries, Carmody cited a recent survey of a 75,000 mile federal highway system which disclosed the following weaknesses: 4,000 miles less than 18 feet wide; 14,000 miles deficient in surface strength; 2,400 bridges below standard strength; 500 additional bridges less than 18 feet wide or lacking 12½ feet overhead clearance.

BRITAIN WILL CONTINUE TO EAT.

Hitler's air and submarine blockade of the British isles is admittedly more effective today than it was a year ago, when the British considered that they had the submarine menace whipped and the Nazis lacked the nearby bases from which to launch aerial attacks on shipping.

The recent attack, presumably by a pocket battleship, on a convoy in mid-Atlantic may be considered more a martial stunt than an indication of things to come. Hitler has only two pocket battleships and they are not likely to make many such raids before encountering far stouter resistance than that offered by the gallant crew of the Jervis Bay.

But German submarines now have the whole western coastline of Europe on which to base themselves, and German planes operate from fields just behind these ports. The royal navy and air force face a battle over the seas that is just as vital to the safety of Great Britain as are the battles over London and the invasion ports.

This concession, however, comes far short of saying that Hitler's blockade threatens Great Britain with any real danger of starvation. Probably that is the least of the major British worries in connection with the sea war.

Despite the fact that Great Britain imports so large a proportion of its food, foodstuffs occupy a relatively small proportion of the bottoms that enter its ports. Most of the essential foods are, after all, fairly concentrated.

Cereals are by far the bulk of the imports. In 1938 Great Britain imported in the neighborhood of 9,360,000 tons of flour and grains of various sorts, of which about 5,500,000 tons were obviously intended for human consumption and most of the remainder for dairy and stock fattening feeds. A freighter can make a round trip across the Atlantic, to the United States or the Argentine, in a month or less. Placed on a monthly basis the imports of cereals for human consumption would amount to about 460,000 tons a month, cargo for rather less than a hundred ships.

No other food import bulks anywhere nearly as large as cereals. Meat, at 1,450,000 tons annually, could be handled on a monthly basis by a dozen refrigerator ships of 10,000 tons burden. Sugar, another extremely concentrated and necessary food, would fill only 20 smaller ships of 5,000 tons burden. Imports of all dairy products amount to only 21,000 tons a month, cargo for a half dozen ships at most. All the tea the British drink, some 24,000 tons a month, could arrive in three modern freighters of 8,000 tons burden.

Neither is it likely that the blockade can destroy enough ships to keep Britain from taking home all the munitions the industries of the United States can supply, altho munitions cargoes sunk will mean most serious losses. It takes a number of large plants, working a good many days, to fill the holds of a single ship with shells, or tanks, or airplanes.

Where Britain will be most seriously embarrassed will not be in its supply of foodstuffs and arms, but in its export trade. To pay for its war it must import millions of tons of raw materials, process them, and then distribute them thruout the world. The Hitler blockade will hit, and is designed to hit, at the British pocketbook rather than the British stomach or the British armed forces.

In this field the British at least have the satisfaction of knowing that in spite of German successes on the continent the present British naval barriers in the North sea, the Atlantic, and the Mediterranean have a tighter collar on Hitler's trade and imports of raw materials than he has been able to slip on their own.

THE REALITIES OF WAR.

What war really means was suggested vividly in a couple of dispatches published recently, one from Berlin, the other from London.

Beginning on Jan. 1, dogs in Germany will be slaughtered for meat. Dog meat is probably as wholesome as any other and has been regarded as a delicacy by many more or less primitive peoples for centuries, but to the western European the notion of eating dog is loathsome. To authorize the sale of this meat is to invite popular resentment and to advertise the shortage of food. How much dog meat there may be in Germany we do not know; in the United States there are presumed to be about 12 million dogs, three-fourths of them mongrels. It is possible that the German government took the step not so much to increase the food supply as to inform the conquered nations that the German people are not living high this winter at the expense of the Poles, Norwegians, Danes, Belgians, Hollanders, and French whose territories have been overrun and whose food resources have been taken over. But whatever the reasons for the decree may have been, it does symbolize the degradation and privation which war brings to the people who engage in it.

From London comes the news that Capt. A. H. M. Ramsey, a member of parliament, is in jail by order of the home secretary. He has not been informed of the charge against him. He has been subjected to questioning and during the interrogation was denied the right to counsel. His appeal to the house of commons has been rejected by the committee on privileges. He will remain in jail without trial as long as the home secretary cares to keep him there. The constitutional protections which were thought to safeguard an Englishman's liberties are nonexistent today so far as he is concerned.

That is what can happen in a free country in time of war. The constitutional provisions against arrest without warrant, the requirement of indictment and trial in open court, the protection of habeas corpus, the right to counsel, and all the other guarantees of individual liberty are shelved and along with them may go freedom of the press, of speech, and of worship if the government so desires. War means not only dog meat but also dictatorship.

STATEHOOD FOR HAWAII.

By a large majority the people of Hawaii expressed their desire at the recent election for the admission of their territory as the 49th state of the Union.

The problem presented is a difficult one. The population of the islands is now at least 400,000 and is therefore considerably larger than the populations of some of the smaller states. Four times as many people live in Hawaii as in Nevada; nearly twice as many as in Delaware or Wyoming, and 50,000 or so more than in Vermont. If statehood were awarded on the basis of numbers alone, Hawaii's claim would be about on a par with Arizona's, Idaho's, Montana's, New Hampshire's, North Dakota's, and Utah's. None of these states had a population nearly as large as Hawaii's at the time it was admitted to statehood.

Hawaii's claim is good on other counts. The people are literate and orderly as we are accustomed to measure those qualities. The Hawaiians no doubt are as competent to govern themselves as are the people in many of our states.

But when all this has been said, the fact still remains that the United States holds Hawaii primarily as a fortress and as a base for the defense of our Pacific coast against invasion. We hold it as a strong point against the threat of Japanese aggression. A large part of the people living in Hawaii is Japanese by blood or birth. Most of these citizens are no doubt thoroly loyal to America and would wholeheartedly side with America in any conflict with Japan but it is only natural that the navy doesn't want to take any unnecessary risks. The navy feels that as long as the islands remain a territory the danger of fifth column activities is minimized. Statehood would unquestionably raise some of the Japanese in the islands to positions of power and influence and to that extent it might invite trouble.

Perhaps the conflict of desires might be adjusted by annexing the islands to one of the Pacific coast states. That would give the islands voting representation in the house and some representation in the senate and would satisfy the natural ambition for political equality of men and women living under the American flag. It would also avoid the danger of a Japanese dominated state government.

Such an arrangement might be rejected by the islanders as failing to satisfy their aspiration for their own government but the compromise would no doubt be acceptable to everybody else concerned.

ARE THE BASES A BLUFF?

It was on Sept. 3 that President Roosevelt announced the destroyer transfer to Great Britain and the concomitant transfer to the United States of naval and air bases on British possessions in the Atlantic and West Indies.

More than 10 weeks have passed since. The destroyers were delivered immediately if, indeed, as Prime Minister Churchill's remarks in parliament hinted, some of them had not already been transferred. But in the 10 weeks that have followed not a single American marine has been landed to take possession of any of the bases. All the information that has been given the American public regarding the necessary development and fortification of them has been some nebulous and fragmentary releases concerning "surveys."

Only a few months before he announced the acquisition of rights to the bases President Roosevelt had publicly termed the idea of acquiring them silly. On this record, there is good reason for Americans to inquire of their President whether the deal for the bases was consummated in good faith or whether it was a bluff to take the edge off criticism of his destroyer transfer which, however much it may have met approval in principle, was accomplished in great haste and in a plainly illegal and unconstitutional manner.

Editorial of the Day

THEY'RE JUST PLAIN CRAZY.

[Detroit News.]

When a motorist in dense traffic suddenly leaves the line and dashes forward at high speed weaving in and out and endangering lives, some one is sure to exclaim: "He's crazy!" The one expressing that opinion probably would be surprised to learn that he was right.

About two years ago a special unit of the psychopathic clinic of Recorder's court was instituted to deal with traffic offenders. This was suggested by the fact that persons who have been brought to trial for causing traffic accidents frequently reveal by their conduct that they are mentally unfit to drive.

Dr. Lowell S. Selling, director of the clinic, has published findings in the cases of 500 persons examined by the psychiatrists. It reveals not only the importance of the tests but also the extreme difficulty of refusing drivers' licenses to unfit persons thru the routine examinations made by the police in the annual rush of applicants.

It is quite possible for a person who is feeble-minded or a neurotic, or definitely a psychotic, to answer the questions and pass the tests required for renewal of a driver's license. But—

He may react very differently when he leaves a party where he has had a few drinks and drives with some friends in the car before whom he wants to show off.

He may be a victim of that silly sense of inferiority which makes him vow that nobody is going to pass him on the road!

Dr. Selling reports that 10 of the 500 clinical cases discussed were feeble-minded. Only 131 were of average intelligence. Another Detroit psychiatrist reports a case of a patient whose insanity took the form of an impulse to drive into persons standing in safety zones. Another patient admitted an urge to run down a policeman.

The greatest difficulty arises from the fact that the behavior of a psychotic is quite unpredictable.

"In all but two of our psychotic cases," says Dr. Selling, "when we interview relatives or arresting policemen they admitted that they had failed to recognize until it was pointed out to them the fact that there was anything bizarre in the individual's behavior."

The report proves the importance of such studies and the need to make the clinic as effective as possible for its aid to the courts.

JUST EXPLAINING THINGS.

Taranto, Italian naval base [see recent dispatches from London], is the place where the tarantella dance originated. The tarantella is generally described as a Neapolitan dance, but that's just tourist talk. . . . The most famous tarantella ever danced on any stage was Nora's in Ibsen's "A Doll's House."

* * *

If we try to tell you any more about Taranto, which was the ancient Tarentum, we'll land in the 4th century B. C.

Somebody asks for the meaning and origin of the phrase, "Pyrrhic victory." A victory that almost wrecks the winner. King Pyrrhus, a fighting Greek from the mountain country where the modern Greeks are now at war, said after defeating the Romans at Tusculum, 279 B. C., "One more such victory and Pyrrhus is undone."

* * *

Another fellow pops "wigs on the green" at us. . . . Imagine yourself a Georgian buck of the "Corinthian" type at an open air prize fight. A free-for-all scrap starts among the customers. If you pitch in, as a mettlesome fellow should, you will soon find your fine, powdered tie wig on the grass.

* * *

Do we give the answers offhand? Of course not. We look 'em up. But in the case of "wigs on the green," we found nothing in print to justify our undoubtedly correct explanation.

* * *

Our studies of Mormon lore have turned up two old fashioned Americanisms for assassination—"to sock away" and "to use up." These strike us as better than the modern gangster's "to bump off" and "to rub out." . . . England can offer nothing better than "to do in."

THE PERSIAN ENCHANTER.

[Omar Khayyam, circa 1100 A. D.]

"Proceed no further," spoke the Shah with heat,
"Despatch a courier, bring the Persian here;
I honored the Astronomer at meat,
The Poet's heresy shall cost him dear."
The jeweled seraglio trembling stirred,
The tigers in the presence chamber gaped;
Then Omar came, his shrill accusers heard,
But skilfully their evil snare escaped.
For he, replying, spake in rubaiyat,
Vibrant as music of the dulcimer,
Freighted so rich with vivid image that
The divan rose applauding him for more;
At which the Shah even louder than the rest,
Proclaimed him henceforth Master of the Feast!

The Great Storm of 1894.

The storm in which many lumber vessels were pounded to pieces along the coast of Chicago was on May 18, 1894. My grandfather was the owner and captain of the Loomis MacLaren, a new lumber vessel which was among the nine boats carried by the gale to the shore at 27th street and southward, where they were battered to kindling wood. Grandfather's boat dropped anchor just outside the harbor entrance when the wind would not let them be picked up by a tug to be towed in. The wind dragged the anchor and boat to 27th street where the crew finally managed to cut the chain and get to safety by means of a tow line thrown to them by the crowd on the shore.

The mate of the boat was killed on deck by the falling masts. The other men worked themselves hands and feet along the tow rope with the waves washing over them and the wind almost succeeding many times in throwing them off. The wind, accompanied by a sleet and hail storm, whipped Lake Michigan into a fury with waves that washed up into Lincoln park for many blocks westward.

Grandfather sailed the Great Lakes from 1855 to 1912 and this was his only shipwreck. Father also was out that day but succeeded in turning back after starting out and seeing what was brewing.

How to Swank as a Wine Expert.

If you are posing as a connoisseur of wines, you'd better be prepared to recite the table of relative fineness in any vintage or brand. Here it goes, in French, which is a required language for any wine bibber:

1. Vins hors ligne. 2. Tête de cuvée. 3. Première cuvée. 4. Deuxième cuvée. 5. Troisième cuvée. 6. Passe-tout-grain. 7. Bons ordinaires. 8. Ordinaires.

VARIATION ON A THEME.

Some Genius with mechanic bent
Conducts this war by instrument.
By tabulating each misdeed
He deftly calculates his speed,
And on the dashboard of his brain
Is registered amounts of pain.
He plans and executes his raids
Abetted by his faithful aids,
The same Four Horsemen mankind knew
When wars, disorganized and few,
Were fought with spears and clubs and stones
Instead of dull trimotor drones.
This war has no new brilliant scheme—
Just variation on a theme.

At This Time of Year.

Football weather! And my thoughts go back to hazy fall afternoons; to the tensing of muscles before the play; the smell of leather and of sweat.

I'm running, almost away—then the rocketing of strength against strength; the rank odor of the mud in my nostrils. Cheers and the band come faintly to my ears. Blue twilight and the sharp crack of the pistol in the crisp air.

I'm a lucky man, I guess; got a nice wife and kids. But when football weather comes I get a queer ache inside.

Tale of a Great-grandpappy.

When the politicians told great-grandpappy he couldn't build his home on his own land, he didn't argue with them. For a month or two he was very busy in his huge haypress. One day the walls of the press fell down, and there stood a cottage, with smoke pouring from the chimney! You don't need building permits for finished jobs, so the home stayed there; in fact, 80 years later it still stands, now at 1505 West 17th street. It has been moved and a second story added, but it looks good for another 80.

OFFSPRING OF VITAMIN B.

WHEN we consider that the outer covering of the body excretes a substantial volume of waste we can understand that in the process of elimination it may be injured by toxins. Furthermore, the epidermis tells much about nutrition. If the fat which lies beneath is absorbed the surface will wrinkle and, in many instances, will be in an ideal situation to harbor bacteria or fungi.

Again, we are likely to be confronted by food deficiencies—wherein the cuticle seems to be influenced profoundly. For example, the vitamin called B [composed of many parts] appears to be necessary if the cells are to carry on their work properly.

Investigators have learned that B contains a fraction which may be termed the "dermatitis portion," or B6. Another factor, B2 [riboflavin]—when absent—will account for the formation of cracks at the corners of the mouth. Then it is that the skin around the orifice will be greatly roughened. The disturbance may include also the tip of the nose, noticeable in undernourished women, and sometimes in children. Cure depends upon an adequate diet.

A recent report by W. P. Shields concerns a 6 year old child. The youngster had been neglected because she had received neither cod liver oil nor orange juice since birth. When examined, ulcerations were evident on the upper and lower lips with deep fissures at the angles of the mouth. The areas were covered with crusts.

A diagnosis of vitamin B2 failure was made and a small amount of this preparation was given daily for four days. There ensued a complete recession of all symptoms—altho, a day or two later, the lesions reappeared. It was then decided to give large doses orally, whereupon marked improvement was noted. Within a month the meals were so adjusted that total healing occurred.

One of the considerations that has to do with vitamin needs and their consumption lies in the fact that in the presence of disease one may require more of a particular element. In delirium or fever, in which metabolism is greatly increased, more B1 is called for. In hyperthyroidism [goiter] food is used up so rapidly by the enhanced activity of the tissues that essential edibles must be supplied in additional quantities.

We can understand also that should anything interfere with absorption or the rate of assimilation, a larger intake may be necessary. In colitis, as an illustration, attended with frequent stools, two or three times the normal quota will be demanded to make up for that lost via the bowel.

Curiously enough, the rôle of B6 [pyrodoxin] is not well understood, but apparently it is responsible for certain types of degeneration within the muscles. Unfortunately, this may involve the heart. Some patients subject to extreme weakness were definitely helped thru its administration.

There seems good reason to believe that it may be of benefit in paralysis agitans [Parkinson's disease] since some gain in strength has been observed following its use. In one case carefully checked menus were employed without the slightest effect, the victim remaining bedridden and unable to shave or dress himself. A fairly large dose of B6 was thereupon injected directly into a vein every other day. A veritable transformation took place. Within a week the sufferer was able to rise from his chair without difficulty and the normal expression returned to the countenance.

TURKISH BATHS.

L. I. writes: Are Turkish baths harmful to one with high blood pressure?

REPLY.

Not recommended. Because of the profuse perspiration the blood is obliged to surrender some of its fluid. In consequence, its flow will be sluggish. There are less strenuous ways to rid the body of toxins. Tepid to warm baths are preferable.

CHEMICAL PROCESS.

N. N. writes: Please give the medical definition of "reduced iron."

REPLY.

This is the pure metal in the form of a fine powder. It is quite different from a salt, such as iron chloride; or an oxide, in which oxygen is combined with the element. The preparation in question is used to rebuild the hemoglobin of the blood.

LUNGS AND BRONCHI.

M. K. writes: Is an abscess in the lung the same as bronchiectasis?

REPLY.

No, altho the bronchial tubes may dilate and harbor infection. Drainage is usually free. An abscess, on the other hand, may require surgical interference.

HEROIC WORK IN STORM.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—During the recent campaign one group constantly referred to the "avaricious utilities that never served and always grabbed." On Armistice day our family traveled from northern Wisconsin to Chicago thru that terrible blizzard. Everywhere the storm was playing havoc with telephone and electric poles and wires; everywhere, however, the utilities companies were battling its fury. Capable, courageous, energetic men were braving the elements, bracing the poles and repairing the wires.

These utilities serve the public under most adverse circumstances. Let's be fair.

M. E. M.

Skokie, Ill., Nov. 13.—As a dweller in this northwest Cook county region I must pay tribute to the efficiency of the Public Service company in combating the elements in our worst recent storm and to the real heroism of its workers who were out all Monday night restoring power lines crippled by the blasts of wind. I saw those men at work and wondered if political jobholders would have done one-fourth as well. Page Senator Norris.

SUBURBANITE.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—I do think that Chicago policemen and the street car men deserve a hearty "thank you" for their help and consideration in helping all the folks, young and old, from and to the street cars at Broadway and Lawrence last Monday in that whirlwind which almost took us off our feet. MRS. D. E. D.

FOR AN ELECTION REFORM.

Oak Park, Ill., Nov. 14.—Some one said, "Nothing much is being done about the disfranchising of thousands of voters." But something can be done to prevent its recurrence.

Suppose 10 cards are stolen from each precinct. That could steal a state election.

Amend the election law. When a citizen registers let the identification card be signed in duplicate, one to be kept by the election officials and the duplicate given the voter.

When the citizen goes again to vote and the precinct officials cannot find his card [it having been lost or stolen], he presents his duplicate and should be permitted to cast his ballot. This is a simple solution.

ROBERT E. CANTWELL.

CRUTCHES OF GOVERNMENT.

Pine River, Minn., Nov. 9.—Have noted your editorial explanations of the election. Especially we noted your comment on the fact that there was a distinction between the views of the two Presidential candidates.

You have been hammering along this line. Congressman Knudson often quotes you in his article-letters home, one of which appeared in the Crosby Courier.

Your paper is to be commended in your fight on the excessive government load. Humanity needs to grow up and master its problems without the crutches of government.

C. H. HOPPER.

A CAUTION AND A WARNING.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—If the few criticisms which THE TRIBUNE allows to appear on the editorial page is any indication of the popular feeling it seems that you are neither wise nor prudent in continuing your policy of bitter partisanship and opposition to Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policies.

H. E. M.

AS TO FEEDING THE HUNGRY.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The letter you printed today, signed by so-called Christian leaders of Chicago, represents to me the most disgusting exhibition of present day religious hypocrisy that I have ever had the misfortune to encounter. And I hold no brief for Hitler or Mussolini, or the totalitarian principles which they embrace. Nevertheless, I pride myself on the fact that my mind is not sufficiently narrow or intolerant to distinguish between a starving German, Pole, Belgian, Frenchman, Norwegian, or English woman or child.

I refuse to believe that this letter, protesting against food for hungry people on the continent, represents the sentiment of the church in America, since acceptance of these words would be in direct contradiction to the teachings of Jesus Christ.

I pray that this letter may be published in your column in the hope that some representatives of the church may be led to answer and erase the impression which must be in the minds of many Chicagoans who were served this inhuman document this morning.

FULTON W. SMITH.

A CHECK NICELY TIMED.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—I just heard a story which throws some light on why the recent election went as it did. A certain man bought a farm downstate, just a few acres. He put up a small house and planned the whole thing as a home for his family. He never intended to raise wheat or grain of any kind. Some time ago a government agent called on him and said he would be paid for not raising wheat. He said he never intended to raise wheat. Well, the man said he would be paid and the day before election, Nov. 4, he got a check for $12.93!

Another man, a neighbor, had the same experience. This same man said his business made it necessary to travel extensively back in New York state. He said before the election heavy wool blankets were given to the Negro population in certain settlements.

How can an honest election make any headway against the very corrupt methods that are used?

MABEL B.

CAN'T BE IN AND OUT TOO.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Every one says we must keep out of this war, and they also say we must aid Britain. We cannot do both. Does any one believe that Germany will remain inactive while we are supplying guns, tanks, ammunition, air ships, etc., to her enemy? Certainly not. Naturally she will make attempts to destroy the factories supplying her enemy for the same reason she destroys similar factories in England. And then congress will pass a resolution to the effect that "a state of war exists" and we would be in it again just as we were the last time.

I believe Senator Borah was right. We should restore the arms embargo. It is the only way we can keep out of a war that might last 50 years and destroy our civilization, leaving no one but the Japanese to carry on.

WIFE AND WORK QUESTION.

Marion, Ind., Nov. 11.—Perhaps I could enlighten the wondering wife if she would listen to my logic. It is not a question of combined salary which is important, but the fact that a working wife is independent and financially able to care for herself. If she were smart she would have no need to be envious of the dependent wife. She could stay at home and be on her own time, even tho her husband earns only $30 a week—yes, and ride around in a car to bridge parties, too!

Plenty of women can manage on a small salary and I venture to say that we make our homes more livable than one who has to report every day. It all depends on the little word budget.

I maintain that a married woman loses more than she gains by working, and speak from experience.

SATISFIED WIFE.

NEEDS A HEARING AID.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—My brother, who is 62, and on relief, is very deaf. I have heard several times that the government would supply hearing aids to the needy who are deaf, but I can't get the information as to whom or where to apply for same.

Can some reader of this column tell me what to do?

This man is really deserving of aid and probably could support himself if he could hear.

Won't some one write in to this column and let me know?

OPEN RELIGIOUS 'BLITZKRIEG' IN CITY TOMORROW

Protestant Mission Will Last Four Days.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A religious blitzkrieg will be waged by Protestant leaders, beginning tomorrow, when they open Chicago's section of the National Christian mission in churches thruout the city.

Dr. Ralph Wakefield.

The blitzkrieg, according to Dr. Ralph Wakefield, president of the Chicago Church federation, under whose auspices the Chicago mission is being conducted, will be a "lightning four day war on sin, laxness, and spiritual decay in all affairs of life today."

Air Attack to Launch War.

Dr. Wakefield said the "Christian warfare" would begin with an air attack tomorrow morning from radio stations. At 9 a. m. from station W-G-N, the Rev. John B. Hubbard, of Park Ridge, Chicagoland church hour preacher, will outline the five fold purpose of the mission. At 10:45 a. m. the same station will present a round table program featuring three members of the preaching mission. The trio will be Dr. Adolph Keller of Geneva, Switzerland, who has just completed a tour of Europe to study church needs; Bishop Robert Nelson Spencer of Kansas City, Mo., and Dr. Jesse M. Bader of the federal council of churches, New York, director of the national mission.

"In the afternoon," Dr. Wakefield continued, "the panzer divisions will converge on the city from Oak Park, Evanston, Englewood, and the south. In Oak Park at 2:30 p. m. the First Methodist church expects an overflow youth congregation to hear Muriel Lester of London, England. Lester will speak again at 4 p. m. in the Oak Park High school auditorium.

Canadian Clergyman to Talk.

"In First Presbyterian church, Evanston, the 4 p. m. congregation will hear the Very Rev. Richard Roberts of Toronto, Ont., former moderator of the United Church of Canada. At the Olivet Baptist church services, which will be held in Wendell Phillips High school because of recent fire damage to the church, the leader of the team, Dr. E. Stanley Jones of India, will share the pulpit with Willis J. King, president of Gammon Theological seminary, Atlanta, Ga."

Dr. Wakefield said the main loop massmeetings at night will be in Orchestra hall, with Dr. Jones preaching before the Sunday Evening club, and in the Chicago Temple with Dr. Worth M. Tippy of New York preaching. Other night meetings in the city will be held in the United Church of Hyde Park, Edgewater Presbyterian church, and Chicago Lawn Methodist church. Suburban meetings will be held tomorrow night in New Trier High school, Pfieffer hall, Naperville, and Lombard Methodist church.

Nine massmeetings are scheduled for Monday.

Charles Kopenec, 51 years old, won another round yesterday against his wife, Lillian, 48, who is seeking a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

The last time the Kopenecs were in court, on July 18, Mrs. Kopenec was seeking separate maintenance. The husband, a commercial photographer, of 5212 South Paulina street, at that time presented an album of household photographs showing dishes stacked high in a sink, disorderly rooms, and other scenes of household neglect. Thru his attorney, Norman Becker, Kopenec charged his wife spent all her time rehearsing a song and dance act for the stage, and Judge John J. Lupe denied her plea.

Yesterday Mrs. Kopenec was before Judge Cornelius J. Harrington asking temporary alimony pending hearing of her divorce petition. When Becker noted that one of the acts of cruelty she alleged was supposed to have occurred on July 19, the day after the last hearing, Kopenec testified he hasn't been near his wife since May, 1940. Judge Harrington dismissed her alimony bill.

DEFER HEARING ON CITIZENSHIP FOR LOST SAILOR

Last Monday's disastrous storm blew into a naturalization hearing before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday.

Byron McAdo, naturalization examiner, was calling the roll of 250 persons seeking to become citizens. When the name of Knut Edward Sundberg, 6007 South Halsted street, a native of Sweden, was called he did not answer. Instead, his wife, Emmy, spoke up. She said Sundberg was fireman on the lake freighter Ashley and that she had not heard from him since the storm swept Lake Michigan.

The granting of a naturalization certificate to Sundberg was deferred until his wife could learn what has happened to the Ashley, which is owned by a Dearborn, Mich., company. It plies between Dearborn and Indiana Harbor.

COURT ORDERS BOXER TO PULL PUNCHES IN WIFE VS. SISTER BOUT

Irving Kiehn, 32 years old, a mechanic and prizefighter, heard his wife, Harriet, 25, tell Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday that she is tired of being introduced as Irving's sister. Further, she asked temporary support for herself and son, Dan, 2. She alleged that her husband spent two hours last Monday night practicing punches on her, then tossed her out of their home, 1012 West 31st place, at the height of the storm then raging.

Judge Desort was intrigued by the sister angle. He wanted to know why. The husband explained that he wishes to rise above his station; that he goes to night school and to social functions and that having a wife is a handicap.

Judge Desort enjoined the young man from making the false introductions. The matter of support for Mrs. Kiehn and little Danny was continued to Nov. 22.

MYRNA LOY AND MATE SEPARATE; TO ASK DIVORCE

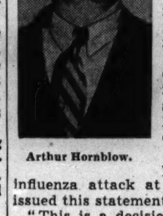
Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 15 (AP).—Actress Myrna Loy said today thru her attorney, George Cohen, that she and her producer husband Arthur Hornblow, were estranged.



Arthur Hornblow.

"It is with great reluctance that we admit that we are ending our marriage," her statement said.

Cohen asserted divorce proceedings would be instituted by Miss Loy at an early date.

Miss Loy, recuperating from an influenza attack at a desert resort, issued this statement thru her studio:

"This is a decision we reluctantly reached after almost a year on both Arthur's part and mine to arrange a way of life that could find happiness for us both.

"Now, at last, it appears certain separation between us is the only course, and there is no hope of reconciliation."

"What Myrna says is true," Hornblow agreed. "I face the fact with great sadness. We have tried for a long time to adjust the inescapable complications of our careers. It has not been possible.

"That still leaves her the loveliest woman in the world."

The Hornblows were married at Ensenada, Mexico, June 27, 1936. It was Miss Loy's first marriage, Hornblow's second.

NORMAN L. JONES, CHIEF JUSTICE OF ILLINOIS, IS DEAD

Funeral Services Will Be Held in Carrollton.

Jacksonville, Ill., Nov. 15 [Special].—Chief Justice Norman L. Jones of the Illinois Supreme court died today in Our Saviour hospital here. He was 70 years old.

Chief Justice Jones.

Since early September the jurist had been under treatment in the hospital for a recurring abdominal ailment. He had been in failing health since he collapsed Dec. 15, 1939, during a session of the court. For several weeks his condition had been considered critical and death came about 11 a. m. today.

The justice represented the Second Supreme court district and had always made his home at Carrollton.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the First Methodist church at Carrollton, with the Rev. John W. Crouch, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. The Rev. Leo Ewing of the Methodist church will assist in the services. Burial will be in the Jones family lot in the Carrollton cemetery.

Born in Green County.

Chief Justice Jones was born Sept. 19, 1870, at Patterson, Green county, a town named for his maternal grandfather, and lived in Carrollton 68 years. His ancestors were of pioneer Illinois stock of Welsh origin extending back to territorial days.

After finishing high school Jones went to college at Valparaiso, Ind., for a time, studied two years at the West Point Military academy, and then entered a Carrollton law office. In 1892, at 21, he was elected to the state legislature. He served two terms in the house.

Jones was a law partner of Henry T. Rainey, late speaker of the house of representatives. Later he was Circuit judge of the 7th judicial circuit for 17 years. He was a Democrat, but in only one instance did he have Republican opposition for the office.

Defeated for Governor.

The Democratic nomination for governor was given the judge in 1924. He lost the election to Len Small, Republican, but polled more than a million votes in the face of the Coolidge landslide.

In 1931 Jones ascended to the Supreme court bench at a special election to fill a vacancy, and was successively reëlected. He was twice chief justice of the high court, being elevated to the rotating place of seniority in 1934 and again last June 4.

Jones married Meda Pegram, also of a pioneer family, in 1906. They had one child, Norman Pegram Jones.

Clubs Open Up Their Trap and Skeet Ranges

BY JUDITH CASS.

COLD weather, barren trees, and the first snow mean one of two things to most people. Either a good book and a blazing open fire, or a hunting jacket and a shotgun. For those who cannot go far enough away from the city to shoot quail, pheasants, ducks, or rabbits, the trap and skeet shooting ranges at the various clubs near the city offer opportunity for enthusiasts to whip their marksmanship into shape. And the club ranges will be available all winter, whereas the pheasant season ends next Tuesday, the quail on Dec. 9, the duck on Dec. 14, and the rabbit on Jan. 15.

Both trap and skeet boxes have been open at the Chicago Golf club and at the Exmoor club for several weeks. Those at the Onwentsia and the Knollwood will open this weekend. The Glen View ranges will not see service until Dec. 1.

Contests Are Held at Exmoor Every Sunday.

Wallace M. Barker, and William J. Drake head the marksmen at the Exmoor club, which holds contests every Sunday. Knollwood ranges open today at 1:30 o'clock with a turkey shoot. This is a 50 target affair and turkeys will be awarded for the high handicap score, high gun, and high ladies' score. L. D. Milligan and Kenneth S. Beall are in charge of the Knollwood shoots.

The little clay birds will be sprung at the Onwentsia for the first time this season tomorrow. On Thanksgiving day competition for the Onwentsia cup will be held. Owen A. West is chairman of the trap and skeet shoots at this club.

The Glenview shoots start Dec. 1, with Glen E. Smith in charge. Single and double competitions will be held every Sunday, with special prizes for the feminine shots.

John P. Wilson is one of a group of six men who have gone to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., to take advantage of the deer hunting season in nearby Virginia counties. The season opened yesterday.

John Alden Carpenters Giving Tea for Thomas Mann.

One of tomorrow's interesting social affairs will be a tea that the John Alden Carpenters are giving for Thomas Mann, the eminent writer, who is in Chicago for the week-end. Mr. Mann has been active in the work of the Emergency Rescue committee, which aids anti-Fascists to leave Europe. It is partly to further that work in Chicago that he is here. He also has a daughter living here, Mrs. G. A. Borgese.

Mrs. Carpenter's daughter, Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, is one of those active here in the work of the committee. Among other Chicago members are Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Mrs. Paul Scott Mowrer, Mrs. Wells Farnham, Mrs. James Watkins IV., Mrs. Arnold Miles, and Dr. Robert M. Hutchins. The Chicago committee is planning a dinner for Nov. 29.

Mrs. William Francis Gibbs, chairman of the membership committee of the Metropolitan Opera guild and daughter of the late Paul Cravath, for years president of the Metropolitan Opera association, is arriving from New York today to hear two performances by the Chicago Opera company. Carleton Smith, who is the house guest of the Walter R. Kirks, is having a small luncheon at the Casino this noon preceding a box party at the performance of "Don Giovanni." Tonight the Kirks will entertain at dinner before "Rigoletto." Mrs. Gibbs and Mr. Smith will be the luncheon guests of the Donald McPhersons tomorrow.

Two Great Stars and Two of Opera Chorus Who Will Delight Chicago's Music Lovers Today

ROSE BAMPTON.

Clora Wicklund and Gwen Eckstrom of the chorus.

JOSEPHINE TUMINIA.

Today's Opera Stars Combine Beauty, Talent

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Music rich in melody and magnificent voices to do it justice are promised today in the matinee and evening performances at the Civic Opera house. Two of the bright personalities in the opera spotlight—both American born stars—Rose Bampton and Josephine Tuminia, will be heard.

Tito Schipa.

Jussi Bjoerling.

Appearing for the second time this season, Miss Bampton will have the soprano rôle of Donna Anna in the afternoon presentation of Mozart's "Don Giovanni." Others of a brilliant cast are the young Hungarian soprano, Margit Bokor, who is making her Chicago debut, and Schipa, Pinza, Lazzari, and Witwer.

Miss Bampton, tall, stately and gracious, is a favorite at the Metropolitan Opera house, where she has sung every season since 1932, when, scarcely out of her teens, she made a sensational debut in "La Gioconda."

As a high school girl, Miss Bampton had a coloratura voice. Then came an attack of laryngitis. The doctor assured her that her vocal mechanism was definitely contralto. So Miss Bampton sang in a contralto and mezzo range, with happy results. When later study placed her voice again in the soprano register it was enriched with an exceptional range of voice colorings.

Miss Bampton is the daughter of a Buffalo [N. Y.] business man.

Miss Tuminia is the possessor of a coloratura voice which her admirers liken to Galli-Curci's. The vivacious young soprano is a St. Louis girl. She made her operatic debut in San Francisco in 1935 in the "Barber of Seville" with a cast that included Schipa, Bonnelli, and Pinza. Miss Tuminia has sung at La Scala, in Milan, and at the leading opera houses in Switzerland. In Belgrade, her Rosina ["Barber of Seville"] brought the house down. That performance won her a decoration from the Jugo-Slav government.

"Rigoletto" tonight will introduce Miss Tuminia to Chicago in the rôle of Gilda. The great Swedish tenor, Jussi Bjoerling, will appear as the frivolous Duke of Mantua. In the title rôle will be the Hungarian baritone, Alexander Sved. This will be Sved's debut in America.

Story of Tonight's Opera

Here is a synopsis of the opera "Rigoletto," to be presented tonight by the Chicago Opera company. It is suggested that persons unfamiliar with the story, who are planning to attend the performance, clip it and take it with them to the Civic Opera house. It will greatly increase their enjoyment.

"RIGOLETTO."

[Opera in four acts. Music by Giuseppe Verdi. Libretto by Francesco Mario Piave after Victor Hugo's play, "Le Roi s'Amuse." The scene is laid in Mantua, Italy, in the 16th century.]

Act 1—Festivities are in progress in the ducal palace. In the midst of the dancing the duke, a notorious philanderer, is heard telling one of his courtiers about his latest interest—a beautiful girl whom he has been seeing in church these last few months. He has followed her home, and has noted the fact that a mysterious man visits her each evening. He does not know that the man is her father, Rigoletto, the jester in the duke's own court. Rigoletto, a hunchback, now enters. He ridicules the courtiers, and mocks even the aged Monterone, a man whose daughter the duke has seduced. Monterone turns on the jester and delivers a father's curse. Rigoletto, himself a father and a very anxious and loving one, cowers in terror at the curse.

Act 2—Rigoletto encounters Sparafucile, a professional assassin, on the street in front of his [Rigoletto's] home. Sparafucile offers to do away with any enemy Rigoletto may have. The jester has no immediate need for his services, but takes his name and address just in case. Now he enters the courtyard of his house and is greeted by Gilda, his daughter. Well aware of the evils of the town, and more nervous than ever now because of Monterone's curse, Rigoletto warns his daughter again never to venture out. He gives the servant, Giovanna, similar instructions.

The duke, disguised as a student, now raps at the garden gate. Rigoletto goes out and peers up the street and the duke slips in unobserved and persuades Giovanna to hide him. After Rigoletto leaves, the duke comes forward and addresses loving words to Gilda. They remain in affectionate converse for some time. Soon after the duke leaves, a band of courtiers, all of whom have smarted at one time or another under Rigoletto's jests, come to kidnap the woman whom they believe is his mistress but who is really his daughter. By a ruse they persuade Rigoletto himself, who happens along on his way home, to hold the ladder by which they enter his house. Gilda is borne away to the palace.

Act 3—Back in the palace the courtiers tell the duke that Rigoletto's "mistress" is in the palace. Knowing that it is his latest beloved, he goes to her. Now Rigoletto enters, looking for a trace of his daughter. He pleads with the courtiers, then denounces them. Gilda runs in, and her father lovingly tries to console her. Later, Monterone is led thru the hall on the way to execution. He pauses to curse the duke's portrait.

Act 4—At the inn of Sparafucile, the duke is now making love to the assassin's sister, Maddalena. Rigoletto brings Gilda to the inn that she may see what manner of man her lover really is. He dismisses her, with instruction to go to Verona. Now he pays Sparafucile half his fee, and promises to pay the rest when the duke's body is delivered. Soon the assassin brings Rigoletto a sack containing a body. Unaware that Gilda has slipped into the inn and has offered herself as a substitute for the duke, whom she still loves, Rigoletto gloats over what he thinks is his fallen enemy. He opens the sack and discovers his daughter instead.

Two Sopranos Make Debut as 'Il Trovatore' Is Repeated

BY CECIL SMITH.

"IL TROVATORE."

Opera in four acts and eight scenes. Music by Giuseppe Verdi. Libretto by Salvatore Cammarano. Presented by the Chicago Opera company in the Civic Opera house, Friday evening, Nov. 15, 1940.

THE CAST.

Leonora	Naomi Cook [début]
Azucena	Suzanne Sten [début]
Manrico	Arthur Carron
Count di Luna	Carlo Morelli
Ferrando	Douglas Beattie
Inez	Henrietta Chase
Ruiz	Kenneth Morrow
An Old Gypsy	Ben Landsman
Conductor	Henry Weber
Stage Director	William Wymetal

Dances in Act 3 by the Ballet Theater. Soloists, Alicia Alonso, and Jerome Robbins. Choreography by Eugene Loring.

The Chicago Opera company's beautifully mounted production of "Il Trovatore" was repeated last night for the enthusiastic young people who attend the operas in the weekly board of education series. Naomi Cook, Chicago soprano, made her operatic debut as Leonora. Suzanne Sten, the Viennese mezzo-soprano, who has sung here in concert but never before in opera, was the Azucena. Arthur Carron, absent from our tenor roster since 1937, sang Manrico for the first time locally.

Miss Cook's initial opportunity in opera had been awaited with keen interest, for the exceptional beauty of her voice has long been widely recognized. While her debut last night was marked by ups and downs, the sustained applause of the audience left no doubt of her popular success.

When she was at her best Miss Cook was both effective and persuasive. In several dramatic passages—such as the excited ejaculations just before Mr. Carron's "Di quella pira" in the third act, and the declamatory portions of the "Mira di acerbe lagrime" duet with Carlo Morelli in the last act—she attained altogether authoritative operatic projection. Her pianissimo, as she employed it in both the first and the fourth act arias, was both lovely and vibrant. Her coloratura was agile and clear, if not particularly exact in accentuation, in all the florid passages.

It was in sustained melodic line and in the expressive inflection of the full voice that she fell, at times, quite short of a desirable standard of performance. She often overestimated the need for a projectile and heavy sort of singing, and destroyed vocal fluency by an unsupported wobble and a serious tendency to sharp. These defects—which were serious—were caused less, I am inclined to believe, by nervousness than by a misplaced fear that a more easily produced tone would not carry.

But Miss Cook's voice is material of the most distinguished quality, and the opera company was quite right to let her sing. Let us hope that she will quickly learn to sustain an entire performance on her best level.

Miss Sten, admirably slender, and exceedingly good to look at when her lineaments are not hidden by the old gypsy's makeup, sang with intelligence and volatility. Not by the most violent stretch of the imagination, however, does she possess a sufficiently heroic voice to make Azucena's broadly dramatic music effective. The choice of this particular rôle for Miss Sten is utterly mystifying; let us review her singing on a later and happier occasion.

Mr. Carron sang sturdily and manfully, if not imaginatively. His voice carries a baritone timbre all the way to the top. This is a feat requiring great physical strength, and it is not surprising that the tone quality is somewhat strained. The character of his voice was best suited to the big "Di quella pira" aria.

Apart from Mr. Morelli, who sang much as he had a week ago, the cast included Douglas Beattie as a good Ferrando and Henrietta Chase as a sympathetic Inez. Henry Weber again conducted in an altogether superior manner.

Opera Star Is Injured When She Falls on Ice

Miss Karin Branzell, leading contralto with the Chicago Opera company, was confined to her bed yesterday after slipping on the ice and injuring her right knee. A rehearsal of "Salome," in which she sings the rôle of Herodias, was called off yesterday as a result of the fall. Miss Branzell made her debut in Chicago opening night as Amneris in "Aida."

Jeweled Yokes Will Liven Up Dullest Dress

BY REA SEEGER.

Bejeweled collars and yokes to make the dullest dress a shining light of fashion come in luscious new pastels, pale beige tints and snowy white because of the background laces whereon the tiny twinkling beads are sewn. These new yokes shimmer against either thin wool, velvet or dull silk crêpe.

One festive affair is a cream colored lace yoke of deep shallow scallops alive with dozens of topaz, emerald and ruby sets. Another shell pink ruffled collar shimmers with dozens of shell pink sequins, while another pale beige collar and yoke combination boasts black sequins for contrast.

Pale blue lace yokes have the floral pattern of the lace sewn with tiny coral beads, with the foliage in a light green. The same coral beads enliven the beige tinted lace as well as the pink and white. Turquoise blue beads are especially effective on the white and beige lace. Tiny seed pearl beads, reflecting the pale pink tint of a deep square cut lace yoke with a high round collar, shimmer as daintily with white.

One white yoke has red ruby beads for contrast, and the same effect is worked with emerald green beads or sapphire blue. Revers or lapels are jeweled in the same manner as the yoke and collars. Long, V line collars, demure little Puritan models and the deep square outline affairs are plentiful. The varying patterns outlined with different color combines of small beads make these new arrivals particularly interesting as accents for simple daytime and Sunday night supper dresses or as the flashing highlights for sheath dinner dresses of dull crêpe velvet or wool.

Good Morning!

There is a special sort of gallantry that has remained unsung—so far as I know—until the advent of this picture. It is that displayed by the sailors of the merchant marine, whose daily bread during war times and in war zones is danger. Danger that they meet with nonchalance and matter of fact courage.

"The Long Voyage Home," adapted from four of Eugene O'Neill's plays, is just about such sailors in such time and zones. The period could be either that of the last war or of this. . . . And the picture to the last, fools you by its utter simplicity.

You are constantly on the alert for spies—and there are none. Is that funny little steward a "fifth columnist?" No, he's just what he seems to be—a funny little steward. The deep and devious are missing. The folks you meet are strong and weak, gross and bad, and brave. But—just folks, bound to the sea and its haunts by birth of circumstance. And their entwined stories, strongly seasoned and hot off an honest griddle, hold attention spellbound. I declare I never saw such a picture!

The cast is mostly male, but there's an arresting feminine portrayal by Mildred Natwick, as a bit of waterfront riffraff.

Thomas Mitchell, Ian Hunter, and Ward Bond give marvelously effective performances. . . . Barry Fitzgerald as the aforementioned, monkeylike stewart, is intriguing. John Wayne plays a great hearted dumb Swede to excellent effect—accent and all—tho I like him best with all his wits. John Qualen as his small, fiery Norwegian protector and mentor is a card—but he'll always be just the Dione quintuplets' papa to me.

And the captain of the ship on which all these sailors sail—a ship carrying ammunition in its hold—is none other than "Pastor Hall." [Wilfrid Lawson. Golly, I do like him!]

Superlatively fine direction and photography combine with other assets to make "The Long Voyage Home" a film you'll long remember.

See you tomorrow.

Private Collection.

Dr. Frederick Stock must have a valuable collection of letters from famous musicians of the world, written to him in the 35 years he has been conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. We had the pleasure of seeing a note from Milhaud the other day, written on the train going west after his appearance with the orchestra. One of the most recent letters from famous composers and musicians was one received by Dr. Stock recently from Vano Muradeli, head of the Moscow Conservatory of Music. It was in Russian and was sent on to the embassy of the U. S. S. R. in Washington for translation. Mr. Muradeli expressed thanks to Dr. Stock for playing his—Muradeli's—first symphony last year and said his doing so would be "an impulse toward further work." He also expressed gratitude that Dr. Stock and the orchestra have played works of his contemporaries, meaning Prokofieff and Glière, and that a new symphony of Miaskovsky was to be played.

Ballet Theater's Miss Bennett.

One of the interesting personalities in Chicago with the Ballet Theater is blue-eyed Isadora Bennett, who is in charge of press relations. Miss Bennett, poet and friend of poets, artists, and dancers, is the wife of Dan Reed, director and playwright. When she was a very young girl—we remember her as a tiny thing with bright red hair and very pink cheeks—Isadora Bennett was a protégée of the late Mrs. William Vaughan Moody, at whose home on the south side poets, and painters, and sculptors congregated. Vachel Lindsay dedicated a number of his books and poems to Isadora Bennett. John Masefield first knew Vachel Lindsay's poetry thru Isadora Bennett, and she used to read it to him by the hour. Masefield, who spent some months in Chicago, loved the American poets and Vachel Lindsay particularly. It was the late Frederick Smith who suggested to Miss Bennett she try to get a job on a newspaper when she, still in her teens, came to Chicago from Springfield. He himself took her in to see Henry Justin Smith, late beloved Chicago newspaper editor. It was explained that she was a friend of Harriet Monroe's, and of Mrs. Moody's, and of Vachel Lindsay's.

"My God, you're literary!" exclaimed one of the most literary newspaper editors of all time, appraising the tiny, shy girl who was applying for a job. "Besides," he added, "you're a lady, and this is no place for ladies."

"O, but Mr. Smith, I'm a very tough person," the pink cheeked Isadora solemnly assured him. She got the job.

Descriptive phrase: Little girl's analysis of cherished new schoolgirl socks: "Why, they come way up to the bendings!"

True Life Tale.

A man entered the Glass Hat at the Congress and a waiter, observing he was coatless, said he would have to go to his room and get his coat. After some argument the man departed and returned, wearing his coat. After an hour or two of imbibing, he left without giving the waiter a tip.

"Now why did I do that?" he argued with himself afterward. "After all, the waiter was only observing the rules of the house. I'll go right back and give him a $5 tip."

He lurched to the door of the Glass Hat again. The waiter promptly ejected him, telling him he was too drunk to enter.

Many readers apparently missed the column on roasting the Thanksgiving turkey, which was crowded out of some editions of the paper the day before election. So I'll review the principles of modern cookery which will produce a golden brown, moist-meated and tender turkey every time.

First, buy a plump young hen or tom turkey, and allow a pound dressed weight, per serving, more than that if you want turkey leftovers. Remove pinfeathers with tweezers and pincers [for the big, hard-to-pull ones] the night before roasting. Remove oil sac back of the tail, wipe turkey inside and out with a damp cloth, and stuff it with your favorite stuffing. Sew or skewer the opening. Stuff the neck, too. This will be easier, and the turkey will look handsomer if you pull back the skin and cut the neck off close to its base.

Cook the neck with the giblets for the gravy or stuffing. Tie the legs to the tail, fold the wings back under the body, and tie or skewer the neck skin to the back. Refrigerate the turkey overnight.

When roasting time comes—allow about 3 hours for a 6 to 10 pound bird, 3½ to 4½ hours for a 10 to 16 pound turkey, and 4 to 6 hours for an 18 to 23 pounder—brush the turkey all over with melted butter. Place a buttered cheesecloth over the breast to protect it from drying out in the oven. The cheesecloth may cover the whole turkey, if you like. It will protect the drumsticks, too. Roast uncovered at 300 degrees, basting with melted butter at half hour intervals. [It isn't necessary to use butter, of course. I like it because it gives good flavor to the drippings from which the gravy is to be made.] Remove the cloth during the last half hour in the oven if the turkey doesn't become as brown as you like it. Allow 18 to 20 minutes to the pound for a medium turkey, 10 to 16 pounds in weight.

There are other ways to protect the turkey breast during roasting. Sometimes the dealer will give you a "collar" of turkey fat or of salt pork, which fits over the breastbone and acts as a basting agent.

If the turkey is to be carved in the kitchen, allow time to reheat the sliced meat in the oven before serving it. Place dressing first on the platter, cover with dark meat and then with light. Place a damp cloth over the platter and keep hot until everything else is ready. Then it is a simple matter to serve dressing, a slice of dark and a slice of light meat at the same time.

If the turkey is to be carved at the table in the good old-fashioned way, be sure that the carver is equipped with a sharp knife and fortified by previous encounter with "Easy Lessons in Carving," an illustrated booklet which sells for 7 cents in stamps, by mail.

Mary Hale and H.F. Gillette Jr. to Wed Today

Today is another Saturday upon which numerous weddings of interest are taking place. One of the most important socially of the winter, altho not a large one, is that of Miss Mary Hale, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Browne Hale of Winnetka, and Howard F. Gillette Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Gillette of Santa Barbara, formerly of Chicago. The ceremony will be read at noon in Christ church chapel, Winnetka, by the rector, the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard. Mr. and Mrs. Hale will give a breakfast at their home after the ceremony. When they return from a wedding trip to Tryon, N. C., Mr. Gillette and his bride will be at home at 70 East Walton place.

Miss Hale's only attendant will be her debutante sister, Eunice, who is leaving her freshman studies at Bryn Mawr college to come to Chicago for the wedding. Mr. Gillette Sr. will be his son's best man. Gordon Palmer, Garfield King, Walter C. Coleman, and George Hale, the bride's brother, will serve as ushers.

Miss Hale will wear the lovely old wedding gown which Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mr. Gillette's paternal aunt, wore for her own wedding.

Miss Pauline Herrick of Woodmere, Long Island, and Miss Nancy Cooper of Rome, Ga., classmates of Miss Hale at Dobbs Ferry, are here for the ceremony. John, the Hales' youngest son, is taking a few days off from classes at Hotchkiss to be here for his sister's marriage.

Miss Julie Walcott will wear her mother's wedding gown for her marriage this afternoon to David Gallagher. Miss Walcott is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Howe Walcott of Highland Park. The ceremony also will take place in Christ church chapel in Winnetka, at 4:30 o'clock, with the Rev. Mr. Gerhard officiating. Mr. Gallagher is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Gallagher of Highland Park.

Miss Walcott will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Roderick McKenzie, as maid of honor and by Mrs. Charles Butland, Mr. Gallagher's sister, and Miss Evelyn Shuman as bridesmaids. Charles Butland will be his brother-in-law's best man. Roderick McKenzie, Edward Ashley Gerhard Jr., Edmund Kurtz, and James A. C. Kennedy Jr. of Omaha, Neb., will be ushers.

Several Chicagoans are in Grosse Pointe, Mich., for the marriage today of Miss Krhybel Travers and Thomas H. Amberg, son of Mrs. John Ward Amberg of Lake View avenue. Miss Elizabeth Amberg will be in the bridal party, as will her brothers, Bertrand, as best man; Gilbert, and William Ward.

Two othre sisters of Mr. Amberg, Miss Virginia Amberg and Mrs. Edmund Egan, arrived in Michigan in time for the bridal dinner last night, as did Mrs. Amberg's sisters, Miss Lillian and Miss Leontine Inderrieden; Miss Mary Amberg, the bridegroom's aunt, and William Cremin, a cousin.

The ceremony will take place at 11:30 o'clock in St. Paul's church and will be followed by a breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis Travers, formerly of Chicago. After a wedding trip Mr. Amberg and his bride will be at home in Chicago.

BY JEAN MacDONALD.

Here is the ideal hand knitted jacket for wear over lightweight dresses. The neckline is not its only attractive feature, for the shoulder yoke and inverted plaits add to its effectiveness. The college beauty, career girl, or inveterate traveler may wear this comfortable and good looking garment which requires little time to create.

For instructions in knitting this jacket, No. 337, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

There is no denying the fact that at times players are forced to rely upon nothing more than a sheer guess. But this should be a last resource, to be used only when all logical forms of investigation have failed. There is no excuse for guessing when a surer avenue to knowledge exists.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	Pass	2 hearts
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding is worthy of discussion. East, having opened third hand on very nearly minimum values and poor distribution, felt there was no future in the hand even after his partner's fairly strong response of two diamonds, and therefore exercised his discretion in passing. It is true that East-West could have made a game very easily, but that was due to the excellent lay of cards. South's bid, as may easily be seen, was based on virtually nothing but "suspicion." He knew East to be given to psychic bidding and had a "hunch" that this particular time he had indulged; the pass to the two diamond bid was misread as testimony to that hunch. When South saw the dummy, he learned how wrong he was!

West opened the eight of spades, dummy played low, as did East, and South won with the queen. The king and queen of clubs were cashed, after which declarer exited with a low diamond. West put up the eight and East overtook with the king in order to lead a trump. Declarer covered the ten of hearts with the jack and West won with the queen.

Now, West made a bad guess. He jumped to the conclusion that South's bid could not possibly have been based on less than five trumps, and that being so, that East had no more trumps to lead thru. Therefore, in order to prevent dummy from ruffing diamonds, West laid down the ace and the nine of trumps, the latter card being played to prevent dummy's seven from becoming an entry for the club ace. Obviously, however, the lead of the nine of hearts from the 9-4 went into declarer's tenace of K-6 and saved him a trump trick.

There was no reason whatever for West to guess about the heart situation. There was a way for him to find out surely. All he had to do was to lead the deuce of spades. East would win, and if he had another heart would of course lead it; if not, he would play the spade ace and now West, on the knowledge that he could not expect another heart lead from partner, would ruff East's trick with the four spot and lead out the ace and nine. Since his actual method of play made the four of hearts worthless, this would have cost nothing. True, it would have meant only one more trick for the defenders, but these differences are reflected very decidedly in the match-point score.

Thomas Proves in Recital He's Among the Best

BY EDWARD BARRY.

John Charles Thomas, baritone of the Chicago Opera company, last night forsook the stage of the Civic Opera house for that of Orchestra hall and the colorful casings of Amonasro and Falstaff for sober evening dress. The occasion was a benefit recital for Wesley Memorial hospital.

The program was an elaborate one made up of songs in Italian, French, German, and English. Perhaps the most interesting group was that given over to American folk songs and songs with a folk flavor.

For Mr. Thomas' keen sense of drama, which does not desert him even when he turns from opera to concert, permitted him to enter wholeheartedly into the characters of such people as an Erie canal man and a Virginia backwoods woman to make their personalities and their feeling about life real to his audience.

By means of odd little inflections, restrained bits of clowning, and skilful use of his extraordinary voice, he managed to project perfectly not only the folksy, half-humorous quality of the music, but also that haunting beauty which springs from the nearness of these songs and their singers to the earth and simple things.

"Extraordinary" is a poor enough adjective for the Thomas voice. After making use of the opportunities that a recital gives to study this voice for itself, without the distraction which the complicated sights and sounds of opera inevitably cause, one can only declare again that there is hardly a baritone on this planet who sings so easily and with so consistently lovely a tone as John Charles Thomas.

He was expertly accompanied by Carroll Hollister, whom he introduced from the stage because his name had been omitted from the program.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 15.—An important new producing combination is shaping up, consisting of William Hawkes, Lewis Milestone, Ronald Colman, Irene Dunne, Anatole Litvak, and Charles Boyer. The scheme is to have a producing unit on the Fox lot, with Fox distributing facilities. The studio puts up the money but Darryl Zanuck will have no say in the affairs of the unit—which will be something like the Frank Capra-Robert Riskin setup at Warners'. The plan is for two pictures a year, the first of which will probably be Geoffrey Household's novel, "The Third Hour," starring Colman.

On the "Men of Boys' Town" set day before yesterday Mickey Rooney did a scene with a youngster named Darryl Hickman and the lad stole the scene. Rooney went over to Director Norman Taurog and observed, "Now I know what Spencer Tracy has had to put up with in me the last five years."

Last summer a real estate salesman worked very hard on Jack Oakie trying to sell him a house in the San Fernando valley. Despite its inland location, which is only a valley removed from the desert, the locale is becoming quite the place for fancy new movie homes. Oakie resisted, saying he thought the valley would be too hot. The salesman persisted, arguing, "Try it for a month. If you don't like it, it's no sale. Just pay a month's rent and move out." So Oakie gave in. Three weeks later he came on a blistering day to see the star in the new place.

"How is it?" he queried.

"It's hot!" said Oakie.

"Ah," said the real estater, throwing in the good old punch line, "but how is it at night?"

"Dark," said Oakie.

Since R-K-O distributes the Walt Disney films, the Disney office recently sent over to R-K-O for printing all the stills on the new "live action" feature, "The Reluctant Dragon." The Hays office, which has to okay all publicity pictures, promptly blue-pencilled a series of shots of Robert Benchley in the Disney Art school because, in the background, were little nude figures of the centaurettes in "Fantasia." But the movie of the centaurettes got by!

Ernst Lubitsch is having a struggle with his ems and ells while directing "That Uncertain Feeling." His players include Merle Oberon, Mel Douglas, Buzz Meredith, and Mozelle Miller, and the camera man is Merritt Gerstad. For a while he tried to keep the names straight. Now he calls any of the above "Merle."

One of the parties of the year will be Edgar Bergen's at the Lakeside club a week from Saturday, with guests instructed to come dressed as their childhood ambition.

Universal day—Since the background of today is likely to be high tensioned, don't waste energy.

Birthdays—This is the birthday of Lawrence Tibbett, Max Baer, Milton Cross, Charlie Chaplin, Ginger Rogers, and like others who are celebrating on this date, they face a year that calls for willingness to assume a little more than the normal share of burdens. One takes on some anxiety and an obligation to help others during a six year. The year 1941 is a six universal year, so those entering a six year will feel the urge very strongly to serve in some capacity this troubled world.

It will help you thru the year if you make up your mind to make the necessary adjustments cheerfully.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 15.—There's a lot of electricity in the air here on the eve of Notre Dame's homecoming football game with Iowa. That familiar Notre Dame calm which frequently seems to say, "We hope and expect to win, but after all it's only a football game," is not apparent this week-end. The Irish definitely are out to crush the Hawkeyes, come kickoff time tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

There may be some elements in the Irish determination, a determination which really is on the grim side, that we wouldn't want to discuss here if we knew all the answers. It may be that some of the Iowa partisans, in their hysteria over the Hawks' 7 to 6 victory in Iowa City a year ago, hollered things at the Irish that impressed the latter as being somewhat beyond the pale of football competition.

They Like the Players.

Oddly enough, the Irish ire is directed toward Iowa fans and not the Hawkeye players. All who discuss the situation hasten to say a Notre Dame team never lined up against a finer bunch of boys than those who beat them in Iowa City Nov. 11, 1939.

While the Irish will be out to "run up a big score on the Iowa fans," the Iowa players, were they forced to submit to any such program, would have to bear the brunt not only physically but in spirit, insofar as tomorrow's battle scene is concerned. What we mean is that the Iowa partisans so much in evidence last year in Iowa City are staying away from Notre Dame in droves, according to the ticket comebacks. A capacity crowd of 56,000 is in prospect, tho the Iowa Athletic association is said to have sold fewer than 2,000 of a 7,000 ticket allotment.

There's No Overconfidence.

With all the apparent Irish disposition to try for a big score, the wish always is qualified with the admission that there may be a vast difference between hope and accomplishment. Coach Elmer Layden has not found it necessary, however, to warn his protégés against overconfidence, such as they carried to the Army game two weeks ago, for instance.

No Hawkeye football team has been defeated by a Notre Dame team, and this clean slate idea is one the Iowans naturally want to preserve tomorrow, tho the slate is not a long one, showing a 10 to 7 victory for Iowa in Iowa City in 1921 and that 7 to 6 triumph last year.

The Irish Are Ready.

After the workout today it was said the Irish will take the field tomorrow in better shape than for any game this year.

Bob Osterman, center, who has been having miseries most of the season, is ready to go. Paul Lillis, right tackle, also is reported fit. Bob Dove, knocked out some minutes after he had scored the first touchdown of the Navy game, is in shape to resume at left end. Left Tackle Tom Gallagher, Right End Johnny O'Brien, Full Back Milt Piepul, and Half Back Steve Juzwik, are in the pink.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 15.—At 1:30 tomorrow afternoon in Memorial stadium Illinois' football men will open fire on Ohio State's defenses, seeking the return of the famed wooden turtle, Illibuck, the gage of victory last seen on this campus six years ago when Illinois tripped up the Buckeyes, 14 to 13, and thus prevented them from sharing the Western conference championship with undefeated Minnesota.

Twenty-five thousand, including 4,000 fathers of university students, probably will see this new chapter in the closely fought rivalry between these universities.

While still a bit below freezing, the weather offers no other handicap, since this territory has had no snow. Ten thousand general admission tickets will be placed on sale at noon tomorrow.

Last Home Game for Seniors.

While Dads' day is first in the campus motif, the university also will honor its senior football men who are playing their last game at home. In this group are Capt. Tom Riggs, Harry Siebold, Ralph Ehni, Cliff Peterson, George Bernhardt, Don Elting, Bob Campbell, and Landis Hurley. Jim Phillips, Bob O'Neill, and George Rettinger also are seniors, but their final season was cut short by injuries.

While cheer leaders direct tributes to these athletes, the university dads will be greeted between halves by the combined Illinois bands, totaling 350 musicians. Once on the gridiron, this mammoth band completely fills the stadium field.

The promise of clear weather has encouraged Illinois, for this means Dick Good and other Illinois forward passers can start pitching immediately. Illinois' attack undoubtedly will center around open formations and passes, and if the Illini can duplicate last week's two touchdowns against Northwestern, they hope to be able to stop the Buckeyes long enough to win their first conference game of the year.

Await Checkup on Ehni.

Illinois thus far has been caught between the defensive failure of the line to check its opponents' power and the offensive lack of speed which has handicapped the running and passing attack. The principal difference between this year's eleven and the 1939 team, which won three conference games, including one with Chicago, has been in defensive tackle play.

The Illini retired to the Champaign Country club this afternoon for a final drill. The team will remain there until game time tomorrow. Coach Bob Zuppke still is waiting for a final checkup on the condition of Ralph Ehni's knee before deciding whether he can start at quarter back. Lavere Astroth will start otherwise.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Fritzie Zivic won on foul from Al Davis [2]; Ernie Vigh stopped Al Bernard [6]; Carmen Notch beat Harry Ginsberg [6]; Bernie Manhoff beat Norman Rahn [4]; Terry Young beat Texas Lee Harper [6].
At Cleveland, O.—Jimmy Bivins beat Anton Christoforidis [10]; Jimmy Reeves stopped Johnny Lasinski [3]; Nick Castiglione beat Maurice Arnoult [6].
At Hollywood, Cal.—Jack Larrimore beat Young Kid McCoy [10].

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—Schedule makers forgot Chicago this week. . . . They left the nation's second largest city, and one of its better football centers, without a single major game, either collegiate or professional. . . . But they took good care of Washington. . . . The mighty Chicago Bears meet the Redskins here Sunday. . . . This is professional football's equivalent of the Notre Dame-Army game. . . . Tickets are as scarce as Republican Presidents here tonight. . . . Redskin Owner George Preston Marshall, professional football's Man of Tomorrow, has limited sales to the seating capacity of Griffith stadium. . . . That means a few hundred in excess of 34,000. . . . There are no general admission or standing room tickets sold to Redskin games. . . . All seats are reserved. . . . Marshall says the public deserves that consideration. . . . Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Redskins' Indian marching band, composed of 120 musicians, who play for the privilege of making all trips with the team. . . . The band has a waiting list of 30 musicians who are willing to toot and tramp thru the mud without pay. . . . Marshall contends they get their spirit from the team. . . . Washington scouts constantly are on the lookout for the skilled services of trained men. . . . The Redskins will never tolerate a playboy or WPA athlete as long as Marshall is head man. . . . Marshall is opposed to night football, makes every trip with the Redskins, goes to all training camps, but never attends practice. . . . In Griffith stadium he watches all games from a seat in the upper deck, presumably to help him thwart an overwhelming urge to leap over the rail and sass an official or an opponent. . . . Professional football, says Marshall, is a great stimulant to economic recovery. . . . The Redskins alone, he estimates, are directly responsible for the sale of 40,000 railroad tickets a season. . . .

"In my opinion," says Laundry Man Marshall, "the late Knute Rockne was the No. 1 coach of all time. Dr. Jock Sutherland is second. Red Flaherty, my coach, may surpass them both." . . . Flaherty studied to be a doctor. . . . Precedent will come away with only a .500 average if the Redskins get into the National Football league's championship playoff. . . . In the seven years playoffs have been held, the league's leading ground gaining team has never been able to win. . . . Washington is well ahead of other league teams in yards advanced. . . . Washington also is the league's leading passing team, and in four of the seven playoffs the title went to the champion in this department. . . . Sammy Baugh's only preparation for those record breaking passing feats is washing his hands. . . . Sammy says the slightest bit of dirt on his right hand interferes with the feel of the ball and ruins his control.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15.—This college town is all set for one of the big football shows of the year. Two high powered, well matched, versatile teams—Michigan and Northwestern—will meet here tomorrow before approximately 80,000 spectators.

Old grads, students, football fans, from Chicago, Detroit and from all over southern Michigan will jam the stadium. Before this throng, Tom Harmon, Forest Evashevski and several of their colleagues will make the final home appearance of their college careers. By their dashing performances, these players have made the Wolverines of 1940 so colorful an outfit that they are drawing a greater total attendance than any other team in the history of Michigan football.

Set Attendance Record.

With 72,000 seats already sold for tomorrow's game and with next week's engagement at Ohio State a sellout at about 67,000, the Wolverines will play to approximately 440,000 for the season. The biggest previous drawing card was the 1927 team, which played to 416,000 spectators.

Officials estimate that, with a continuation of favorable weather tomorrow, it will be no trouble at all to run the present 72,000 up above 80,000. In view of the fact that 20,000 seats were sold on the day of the Penn game, they consider it quite likely that tomorrow's game will be played before a capacity crowd of 85,000.

Both Want Fast Field.

The Wolverines are particularly anxious about the weather because they are preparing to fight fire with fire. They believe their greatest danger lies in the quality, quantity, and versatility of Northwestern's backs, so they're hoping that their own most dangerous man, Harmon, will be able to perform under his favorite conditions. Tom likes nothing better than firm, springy turf. On this kind of footing he can baffle his opponents with his characteristically clever changes of pace and direction, and he can run like an antelope when he gets in the clear. In the rain at Minnesota last Saturday, however, he showed that he isn't a great mudder.

From all appearances, the Wolverines will get the kind of weather they want. It was clear and windless again today and there was a good snap in the air. The forecasts implied that these conditions will continue.

Bob Can Take It, Too.

Bob Westfall, the compact and rugged full back who has stolen the show from Harmon on several occasions, will be another factor by which Michigan will attempt to balance the numerical superiority of Northwestern's back field resources. Like Harmon, Westfall can stay in there and keep hammering long after the more delicate type of ball carrier would be on the bench resting.

In the earlier stages of the season, football fans used to look forward to this game as a duel between Harmon and Northwestern's Bill DeCorrevont. Now, however, the Wildcats have come up with a couple of sets of back fields, thickly populated with young men who have been doing everything that DeCorrevont was supposed to do. In addition to that speedy back, Northwestern has Ollie Hahnenstein, Don Clawson, George Benson, Paul Soper, Ike Kepford, and Floyd Chambers, most any one of whom is likely to break away on a gallop to a touchdown.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—Wisconsin's Badgers, still pepped up by their victories against Purdue and Illinois, will be aiming at two goals tomorrow at Camp Randall. One of the goals will be the one Indiana university is defending. And if the Badgers get across that line often enough they'll find the other goal—their third straight Western conference triumph. Three in a row in 1940 will be sufficient to erase the memory of a lean 1939.

Hoosiers Are Tough.

But the goal behind the Indiana goal is not going to be reached merely by hoping. The Badgers appreciate this much. They know all about Hal Hursh, the football pitcher. They also know that Iowa whipped them, 30 to 12, but was subsequently spanked by the Hoosiers. Even fresher in their minds is the 20 to 0 beating Indiana slipped to a strong Michigan State eleven last week-end. In the main, however, their concern is what they'll be able to do about harrying Hurling Hal.

To that end Wisconsin will send a completely revised front into the starting lineup, including three young fellows who haven't started a game this season. They are Gene [Pat] Lyons at left end, John Roberts at right guard, and Ted Damos at right half back.

Five Sophs to Start.

The starting team will include five sophomores and a made-over end, Ray Kreick, at center. The sophomores are Lyons and Dave Schreiner at the ends, Dick Thornally and Lloyd Wasserbach at the tackles, and Roberts at right guard. Lyons and Roberts were promoted from the reserves when Al Lorenz and Dick Embick, senior regulars, failed to round into shape from leg injuries.

The Indiana squad worked out this afternoon in Janesville, where it spent the night.

PURDUE TO KEEP GOPHERS WARM AND VICE VERSA

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 15.—Minnesota and Purdue football teams today were attempting to prove that they would like to play a game tomorrow, but both were playing a chilled second fiddle to a whimsical fellow who always is crowding himself into sports stories—the weather man, of course. Until noon it appeared that galoshes and ear muffs instead of headguards and shimmels, and snowballs in lieu of footballs, would be the weapons for tomorrow afternoon.

It all started last Monday, when the Twin Cities enjoyed a little zephyr such as Chicagoans fought their way thru on the same day, with an additional pinch of snow that eventually attained 16 inches. Since then Coach Bernie Bierman and his lads have been forced to work in the big fieldhouse, and when Mal Elward brought his 36 Purdue boys into St. Paul this morning he decided that he, also, would wind up work indoors in the same structure this afternoon.

Fair, Warmer Predicted.

The temperature went from 7 above at 8 o'clock this morning to 20 plus by 1 o'clock, auguring fair and warming temperatures for tomorrow. Groundkeeper Art Smith and 125 assistants have completed the digging out process, so 30,000 are expected for the contest.

The Gophers are none too uppity about the outcome of the morrow's contest, which finds their constituents yielding 3 to 1 odds on their team. They do not anticipate any cinch, allowing that the speed and daring of the Purdues always has been an unpredictable obstacle. This was true last year, when Mike Byelene, swiftest of the Boilermaker backs, ran 45

Zivic Winner Over Davis on Foul in Second

New York, Nov. 16 [Special.—As a result of what veteran ringside observers describe as one of the most disgraceful exhibitions ever seen in a New York boxing ring, Fritzie Zivic, world welterweight champion, tonight won on a foul from Al Davis, Brooklyn contender, in the second round of their scheduled 10 round nontitle fight in Madison Square Garden.

While a crowd of about 17,000 fight fans came near joining in a riotous demonstration, Davis struck Zivic no less than 10 foul blows in the second round, before Referee Billy Cavanaugh disqualified Davis. Cavanaugh's intervention was believed to have been the first New York disqualification of a boxer for erratic body punching since the introduction of the so called no foul rule.

Fans Approve Ruling.

Referee Cavanaugh stopped the fight after the second round had progressed 2 minutes and 34 seconds. Davis' disqualification was heartily approved by the crowd. Fans at the ringside had been yelling for Davis' disqualification from early in the round.

As the fight ended a scene that almost approached riot proportions was enacted in a neutral corner of the ring where Davis shook himself free of Referee Cavanaugh's restraint, and lunged into Zivic.

Amid a deafening storm of jeers from the crowd, whose members had tossed papers, hats, cigar butts and other missiles into the ring, Davis disappeared under police protection.

Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the state athletic commission, Bill Brown and Col. D. Walker Wear, other members of the board, agreed following the bout to withhold Davis' money pending a hearing at next Tuesday's meeting of the commission.

May Bar Davis.

Commissioners Brown and Wear declared at the ringside they favored barring Davis from boxing, at least in New York state.

The one completed round promised a knockdown and drag out affair. Zivic demonstrated his own ability as a rough-and-tumble fighter almost with the first exchange. After snapping Davis' head back with lightning like straight lefts, the welterweight champion moved close and smacked and cuffed and hooked and uppercut Davis with a volley of lefts and rights. After one breakaway, Zivic sneaked over a right cross to the jaw which made Davis' knees buckle.

A short time later, Zivic hooked a quick left and a right to the jaw that sent Davis to his haunches. Al arose before a count could be started and was hammered and cuffed and smacked all over the ring. He was groggy at the bell.

BIVINS DEFEATS CHRISTOFORIDIS IN TEN ROUNDS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 15 (AP).—Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland Negro middleweight, won his 20th straight victory tonight with a 10 round decision over Anton Christoforidis of Greece.

While Bivins failed to extend his string of nine knockouts, he won seven rounds and drew another. It was Christoforidis' first defeat in the United States. The fight drew a crowd of about 7,000 fans.

Jimmy Reeves of Cleveland won a technical knockout over Johnny Lasinski of Scranton, Pa., after one minute and 27 seconds of the third round. Nick Castiglione, 138, Chicago, beat Maurice Arnoult, 133, Paris, France, in a six round preliminary.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The proprietors of the various football pools should tear up their cards today and dare those who like to back their opinions financially to pick the winner of the 43d annual six day Chicago bike race, which will last until the stroke of midnight tonight—if the supply of rubber tires holds out.

Old timers blinked their eyes in amazement last night as the big black scoreboard underneath the organ registered two changes that turned the race to nowhere into a six way tie for the lead. Midway in the 10 o'clock sprints, 45 year old Gerard Debaets, the Belgian who is an Americanized citizen, and his partner, Jerry Rodman of Chicago, pilfered a lap to crowd among the leaders. Then the surprise team of the race, Andy McConnell of Montreal and William Anderson of Cleveland, did likewise and made it an even half dozen in the deadlock.

Others in Deadlock.

The others involved in this crowded situation are Cecil Yates and Torchy Peden, the technical pace setters on points among the six teams; Angelo De Bacco and Charley Bergna, Rene Cyr and Fred Ottevaere, and Doug Peden and Archie Bollaert.

By all rights the German team of Heinz Vopel and Gustav Kilian should have made its move by this time. There is a strong suspicion that the Teutons, who have scored more sprint points than any of their eight rivals, are planning for the killing today. All they have to do to vindicate their rôle of favorites is to make up the lap by which they trail the four teams tied for the lead on a mileage basis and retain their lead on points.

Sprint Points to Increase.

Yates and Peden, No. 2 favorites to come out on top, are next to the Germans in points. These two teams are far ahead of the others on points. Starting at midnight last night the winner of each sprint race was allotted 12 points. Previously first place was worth only six points.

In the final hour tonight first place in the sprints will jump in value to 72 points and there will be a sprint every mile, making the final hour of the grind the most spectacular. Results of sprints:

5—Debaets, Ottevaere, Bergna, D. Peden.

Rich Rewards Await Dogs in Two-Day Show

BY BOB BECKER.

Cash and gold and silver trophies worth thousands of dollars are waiting for the right dogs to come along and take them home. Both the money and the trophies will be awarded in the Coliseum Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 during the annual Western Specialty Clubs association dog show.

Thomas M. Halpin, secretary of the Chicago Collie club, one of the groups which will sponsor its own specialty show during the annual two-day event, said yesterday that the value of the cash prizes and trophies for winning collies totals more than $400. The cash awards will be $3 for first in each class, $2 for second, and $1 for third.

Other breeds for which the generous cash awards will be made are Sealyham terriers, Chihuahuas, Boston terriers, dachshunde, Great Danes, Airedale terriers, fox terriers, and schnauzers. The Central States Airedale Terrier club has offered $5, $3, and $2 for first, second, and third places, respectively, in all classes except American bred. In this division the awards will be $10, $5, and $3.

The closing date for entries is Nov. 24. Owners wishing to enter their dogs should call or write A. Wilson Bow, show superintendent, Atlantic hotel. He can supply premium lists and entry blanks.

Obedience tests in the show will be limited to Dobermann pinschers and German shepherds, but because of the increased interest in this type of dog compet

WILSON A CINCH TO BE CUB PILOT, SO RUMORS GO

Kiki Cuyler Runs Second in Whispering Mill.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

No typewritten statements were passed out yesterday by Philip K. Wrigley, president-owner of the now managerless Cubs, but the rumor factory was operating at capacity.

Production, however, failed to add any new names to the field supposed to be running in the race for the managerial shoes from which Gabby Hartnett stepped—by request—last Wednesday.

Instead the whispering mill concentrated on the fact, or alleged fact, that Jim Wilson, the Cincinnati Reds' catcher-coach and former manager of the Phillies, was leading the race by such a wide margin that he'll step into the vacant shoes early next week. Kiki Cuyler, former Cub outfielder, was reported running second to Wilson. Wrigley, however, continues to keep his secret, explaining only that President Wrigley is still debating the subject with Owner Wrigley.

New Slant in Fan Mail.

Meanwhile Wrigley's fan mail has taken a new slant. Last week when he announced he was giving thought to releasing himself as club president he was deluged with letters in which the writers announced their candidacy for the job. They admitted they knew nothing about the baseball business, but thought it would be pleasant to get into the ball park without the necessity of purchasing a ticket. This week's crop of letter writers has concentrated on the ouster of Hartnett, some complaining that Gabby was shortchanged and others stating the finish of the Cubs in fifth place last season warranted the action.

Some of Hartnett's admirers declare Wrigley has backtracked on one of his own statements, made shortly before Labor day. He was reported to have said a change in managers was not contemplated. What he really said, according to club attachés, was that "a change isn't contemplated at this time." The subsequent firing supposedly resulted from the team's fifth place finish combined with reports that Hartnett was at odds with a number of his men.

Report Dodgers Want Him.

Altho Hartnett hasn't received his release as a player from the Cubs, jobs are awaiting him, according to reports from the east. Larry MacPhail, Brooklyn's generalissimo, is credited with a declaration that he'd find a place for Gabby as a coach with the Dodgers. Bill Terry of the Giants is supposed to be interested in Hartnett, either as a Giant coach or manager of the Giants' Jersey City farm club.

The Jersey City job also is reported open to Bill Meyer, who has been mentioned as a Cub possibility since he asked his employers, the Kansas City Blues, to give him the privilege of shopping around. The latest report on Meyer in connection with the Cubs is that he isn't on the list of managerial possibilities. Meyr, however, might be installed in Jersey City with the idea of moving him up to the Giants after Terry either retires or has his way about moving himself into the New York club's front office.

James J. Farley, prospective president of the New York Yankees, was in Chicago yesterday, presumably on a baseball mission. He conferred with Commissioner K. M. Landis, but the subject of the meeting was not revealed. Farley is visiting various cities, supposedly for the purpose of talking with members of the syndicate involved in the $4,500,000 purchase of the Yankee club and its affiliates.

PRINCETON, YALE BATTLE TODAY FOR 64TH TIME

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 15 (AP).—A carnival atmosphere keyed up this college town tonight on the eve of the traditional Princeton-Yale game. Some 50,000 spectators are expected to wedge into Palmer stadium for the 64th battle of the oldest continuous football rivalry in America.

The Yale captain, Hal Whiteman, will be missing from his half back spot because of a shoulder injury. Ray Anderson, a passer, has a bad ankle, and Hovey Seymour, passer and kicker, has an ailing knee.

Tad Wieman, in his third year at Princeton as head coach, is shooting for a third victory over the Blue in a row, something never achieved by the Tiger. Princeton won last year, 13 to 7, and in 1938, 20 to 7.

Schurz Faces Fenger Might in Stagg Field

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Henry Stevenson and Ray Florek, who have absorbed Fenger High school's touchdown scoring duties since Donald [Flash] Griffin graduated, this afternoon will attempt to move the south side school toward its third consecutive Public School league championship and another chance to play in the All-City game on Nov. 30. Fenger, which has compiled a record of 35 games without defeat, opposes Schurz, west division representative, in Stagg field in one of the two semi-final contests. Lindblom, central section champion, meets Amundsen, north zone winner, in the other game in Soldiers' field.

Residents of Roseland and Pullman who have followed Fenger's high scoring eleven, which has rolled up 378 points in nine games, predict another overwhelming victory over Schurz, the squad Fenger routed, 47 to 0, in the final round last year. However, there is confidence in the Schurz camp despite the report from Coach Bill Heiland of Austin which pictured Fenger as "a team with shoulders like barn doors and legs like tree trunks." Fenger's long victory string will be snapped some day, Coach Bob Koehler and his Schurz players contend, and this may be the day. The game will be broadcast by station WHIP at 2:30 p. m.

Schurz Hope Is in Air.

There is very little in the statistical record favoring Schurz. The team won five games, was tied by Crane Tech and lost to Steinmetz, 21 to 7. But Schurz is hopeful of a victory over Fenger if its aerial attack is clicking. Capt. Pat Keefe is capable of firing touchdown passes into the hands of Bill Perchon and Dick Jensen, 6 foot ends. The Schurz line, which includes Bull McAdams, 203 pound tackle, also may stop Stevenson and Florek from starting on their touchdown jaunts.

However, nine teams have failed to check the fleet Fenger pair. Hirsch attempted to accomplish the feat last Saturday, but Stevenson and Florek each scored two touchdowns as the team triumphed, 44 to 0. Florek, who shared ball carrying duties with Griffin last year, is third among the state's individual scorers with 120 points, 16 touchdowns, and 24 extra points. Fenger is one of the eight undefeated and untied teams in Illinois. Other Chicago district teams with perfect records include Wheaton, Downers Grove, and Libertyville.

Amundsen Gets Chance.

Amundsen and Lindblom also will display their touchdown specialists in the other semi-final contest. Both come to the title playoffs with unbeaten and untied records in sectional campaigns. Ray Senkowski paced Lindblom to seven victories in the central division, while William [Red] Johnson led Amundsen in a surprising march to the north section title. It will be Amundsen's first appearance in the semi-finals, the north siders having joined the league six years ago.

Suburban activity this afternoon will be confined to the Evanston-New Trier game in Dyche stadium. Evanston, the team which halted Oak Park's long winning streak, will gain a share of the Suburban league by winning from New Trier. Proviso, despite its defeat at the hands of Oak Park last Saturday, was assured of at least a tie for the championship two weeks ago when it won from Evanston.

The Catholic league's south section winner will be determined tomorrow afternoon when Leo, present leader, meets Catholic High of Joliet in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, and Mount Carmel, defending champion, plays Fenwick in Stagg field.

STANFORD FACES OREGON STATE IN BIG TEST TODAY

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 15 (AP).—Stanford, the outstanding comeback team of 1940 football, will make its next to the last bid for a Rose bowl invitation tomorrow against an Oregon State eleven which nurses similar ambitions.

Winners of five conference games and leading the parade into the homestretch, Stanford comes up for the all important clash in crippled condition. Its full back, Norman Standlee, is out with an injured knee. The position will be taken by Milt Vucinich, a hard hitter but slower and less versatile than Standlee.

The Lake Forest college football team, undefeated this year, will play Albion college this afternoon in Lake Forest. Albion is one of the few undefeated, untied teams in the country, has been victorious in its last 14 games, and clinched the Michigan Intercollegiate title last week.

17 YEAR OLD PREP BOWLER ROLLS PERFECT GAME

The first 300 game bowled in Chicago High School league competition was marked up yesterday when Don Berlinger, 17 year old Lane High senior ran out a three game series with a perfect game. His accomplishment coming after games of 234 and 179 gave him a 713 series.

Berlinger, who has a 172 average, was close to a perfect performance two weeks ago when he submitted a 262 game. He is in his fourth year of competition in the prep league, rolling with the Lane team that has Lincoln Square recreation as its home alleys. He won the class A title in the all city high school Christmas tournament last year. His home is at 3830 North Bell avenue.

BOMBERS FACE MAYWOOD.

Bernie Jefferson's Brown Bombers will play the Maywood A. C. football team tomorrow afternoon on Spencer field, 4200 North Central avenue.

PURDUE CLUB TO AWARD PUBLIC SCHOOL TROPHY

The Purdue club of Chicago will award the Noble E. Kizer trophy to the most valuable football player in the Chicago Public High school league, it was announced yesterday by Charles W. Morey, chairman of the award committee. Announcement that a similar award would be made to the Catholic league's outstanding player was made three weeks ago.

In naming the Catholic league's winner, each team will select its most valuable player and from this list the player will be chosen by five coaches, five officials, the Rev. Patrick J. Conaty, president of the league, and Robert H. Watson, president of the Purdue club. The Public School league's most valuable player will be named by five officials from the league, four Chicago sports writers and Watson.

Conzelman Is Signed for '41 by Cardinals

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

James Conzelman, author, actor, and lecturer, yesterday signed to remain as coach of the Chicago Cardinals' football team thru the season of 1941. Terms were not announced, but Conzelman indicated immediately that he would be a candidate for a third term. He has two more games to go on his first one year contract.

Conzelman's retention was a foregone conclusion, provided the one time National league back field star and club owner wanted to remain with the Cardinals. Altho his team has won only two games, it has been one of the more colorful and interesting outfits in the National league.

Beat Bears, Rams.

The Cardinals defeated the Bears, 21 to 7, and beat Cleveland, 17 to 7, played a scoreless tie with Detroit, and scared the life out of Sammy Baugh and associated Redskins.

Even at their best the Cardinals presented a personnel with which many National league coaches would not attempt to open a season. But Conzelman not only opened the season, he accomplished so much with what little he had that he is the No. 1 candidate for the title of professional coach of the year. His first task was to transform the Cardinals from a hobby and an experiment into a major league enterprise by stripping the club of all sentiment and placing it on a business basis.

Instills Winning Spirit.

Thruout his career, Conzelman always has been accustomed to winning and he quickly instilled his will to win in the club. The finest tribute to his ability is found in the attitude of the players themselves. The Cardinals, attempting to operate without a major league left half back and capable replacements, gain the respect of every opponent by playing all the football they are capable of every time they take the field.

Conzelman, looking to 1941, has begun to do some personal scouting of prospective pro talent and set precedent in the National league recently by sending assistant coaches—Chili Walsh and Phil Handler—on the road to check up on leading college seniors.

LEADING HAWKS RETURN; REST UP FOR CANADIENS

The Chicago Blackhawks arrived home yesterday after their successful eastern jaunt which took them to Montreal, Boston and New York, and brought them back in first place in the National Hockey league. They scored victories over the Canadiens and Bruins and tied the Americans to gain the league leadership.

Tomorrow night they tackle the reconstructed Montreal Canadiens in the Stadium. The Canadiens have 10 new players in their lineup.

"Every player, without exception, has a minor bruise or two, and Joe Cooper sustained a head cut during the opening face-off at New York which required seven stitches," said Manager Paul Thompson of the Hawks upon his arrival. "Twenty-five hundred miles with three hockey games in five days, one an overtime affair, is no picnic, and the boys will rest today so they'll be ready for the Canadiens."

Games tonight:
Montreal at Toronto.
Detroit at New York Rangers.

'CHEAP' MONEY POLICY SLASHES U. OF C. INCOME

Rise in Assets Fails to Offset Loss.

Altho assets of the University of Chicago in its fifty years have climbed to $128,536,000—said to be one of the most rapid accumulations of funds in the history of educational institutions—the last decade has witnessed a drop of about $1,500,000 in its annual income because of a declining rate of return on its endowment funds.

This aspect of the university's financial position was presented yesterday in its fiftieth anniversary report, made by Harvey C. Daines, controler, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1940. Daines' report again emphasizes the difficulties faced by private American educational establishments in making both ends meet in the face of declining revenues caused by the federal government's cheap money policy.

Assets Continue to Rise.

A substantial part of private educational operating costs are met with the income from accumulated endowment funds. The government's cheap money policy has caused interest rates to decline sharply, thereby reducing returns on private investments.

During the fiscal year closed June 30, the university's assets increased $3,099,172 over the preceding year. Of the total, $72,502,176 was in the form of endowment, $44,468,790 has been invested in campus, buildings and equipment and the remainder consists of general, loan and annuity funds.

Daines said that the rate of return on the average balances of endowment funds for the year concluded was 4.17 per cent, compared with the 6.2 per cent rate for the year ended June 30, 1930. However, last year's interest return showed an improvement over the 4 per cent rate for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1939. In dollars the 1939-'40 income from the endowment funds was $3,031,195, compared with $2,808,866 for the preceding fiscal year.

Rate of Return Is Lower.

"During the year 1939-'40 the endowment income was $506,272 less than that received in 1930-'31, the peak year in the amount received," Daines continued. "This reduction has occurred in spite of a net increase in principal of $12,572,277 since that year and is explained by the decline in the rate of return from 6.1 per cent in 1930-'31 to 4.17 per cent in 1939-'40.

"Since endowment is of value only for the income produced, this reduction in capital productivity is equivalent to a loss of 31.6 per cent in endowment principal. At present a variation of 1 per cent in the rate of return on endowment funds is equal to $725,021 in annual income, which readily indicates the serious consequences resulting from a diminution in yield of endowment investments in the operation of the university."

Total income of the university for 1939-'40 was $10,760,170 and total expenditures were $10,749,609. For the preceding fiscal year total income was $10,567,953 and total expenditures were $10,767,360, leaving a deficit of $199,407.

Pays $833,387 in Taxes.

Gross income for 1939-'40 included consumable gifts of $1,731,517, or 16.1 per cent of the total, of which $1,066,029 represented special gifts received in prior years. Gifts during the year totaled $5,110,987, of which $2,626,624 was for endowment.

The university paid during the year $833,387 in real estate taxes, directly or indirectly thru lessees, on investment properties which it owns. It enrolled 11,674 students during the year and its full time instructional and research staff with the rank of instructor or higher numbered 594 persons.

Commenting that the university's fiftieth anniversary campaign for funds is now in progress, Daines said that the world famed school is looking to its friends, and especially to the citizens of Chicago, for needed support.

Says Funds Are Needed.

"Altho the university may have attained a measure of success during its first 50 years of existence, it is clear that it is in no position to rest on its laurels," Daines asserted. "The major problem now confronting it is in the maintenance of its activities at the level of their present excellence.

"It is the belief of the administration that a further reduction in expenditures of any significant amount will greatly jeopardize the character of its work. If the university's position in the educational world is to be maintained, it must raise substantial sums of unrestricted gifts to bridge the gap between recurring income and expenditures; if it is to go forward in its contribution to human progress, still larger amounts will be required."

TAX COLLECTIONS OVER 2 BILLIONS FOR 4½ MONTHS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP).—Federal tax collections since July 1 totaled $2,000,466,569 today, not counting $301,795,808 of social security taxes which went directly into the old age pension reserve fund.

The revenue figures reflected part of the increased taxes voted by congress this summer, with more of the increased levies due to show up in March.

As defense spending was stepped up, however, federal expenditures in the same period rose to $3,555,732,836, leaving a deficit of $1,555,266,267.

The federal debt was at a new high of $44,211,946,430.

Canada Seeks Way to Reduce '41 Wheat Crop

Winnipeg, Canada, Nov. 15.—Special.—Canada, with more wheat in storage than the Dominion's populace can consume and export to existing markets in the next 12 months, already is facing the problem of next year's crop.

Some measure to limit wheat acreage or in any other way cut down the amount of grain grown in Canada is believed certain to be presented at the present session of parliament which opened Nov. 5.

The Canadian government indicates that it will welcome discussion on all aspects of the question—production, controled or uncontroled; price guarantees and their extent; loans on grain stored on the farms, and any other of the numerous remedial proposals.

Yield 561 Million Bushels

From 28,726,000 acres planted in wheat this year, Canada is estimated to have harvested a crop of 561,000,000 bushels. In 1939 the crop was 490,000,000 bushels and the five year average yield was 248,000,000 bushels. The present visible supply of wheat in the dominion is estimated at approximately 409,000,000 bushels.

Some quarters do not expect any definite program before February, just before spring seeding starts. One government official said that because of the war, the whole world wheat market may undergo vast changes before that time. Demand may be increased or reduced by the war.

Would Cut 1941 Price

One proposal said to be considered by the dominion government is to raise the price for the 1940 crop to 85 cents a bushel, or 10 cents more than the existing minimum, and then order a reduction of 25 to 35 per cent in 1941 wheat acreage.

The average Canadian planting is 25,000,000 acres. The Dominion usually consumed approximately 120,000,000 bushels of wheat annually.

Production of Eggs Sets New Record for October

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP).—October egg production today was estimated by the agriculture department at 2,215,000,000, the largest on record for the month. Production was 2,052,000,000 for October last year. Prices received by farmers for eggs on October 15 averaged 23.7 cents per dozen compared with 21 cents a month earlier and 22.9 cents a year earlier.

Week's Auto Production Highest Since July, 1937

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP).—Ward's Reports Inc., estimated today that automobile and truck production this week would total 121,943 units. The total was 120,948 last week and 86,700 vehicles a year ago. The current week's production is the highest since mid-July, 1937, when 122,890 vehicles were assembled in one week.

Reopen Probe of Insurance Firm's Affairs

Ernest Palmer, who submitted report on inquiry.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 15 [Special].—C. Hayden Davis, new Illinois director of insurance, has reopened an inquiry into the affairs of Illinois Bankers Life Assurance company, which last year figured in a federal investigation of insurance, it was learned today.

Davis, it was disclosed, has recalled from the office of Attorney General John E. Cassidy a voluminous report submitted recently to Cassidy by Ernest Palmer, Davis' predecessor as director. Palmer's report called to Cassidy's attention charges made at the government hearing that officers of Illinois Bankers Life used the company to their benefit.

Davis, questioned about a report that he had demanded that the company's president, Hugh T. Martin, and its directors resign their posts, avoided a direct answer.

Denies He Made Statement.

Calling legal counsel to his side and arranging for a stenographer to make a record of questions and replies, Davis asserted he had made no statement to any one to the effect that he had demanded the resignations. He said the company has until Nov. 28 to file an objection to the report if it desires to do so, and that he could not comment on a matter that is pending.

Earlier in the day, however, he had indicated in a talk with reporters that he had made no formal demand for resignations, but that he had indicated indirectly that the department considered Martin's resignation desirable. Altho some quarters questioned the director's power to demand such a resignation, it was said at the office of the attorney general that in certain cases the director does have such power.

Officials Deny Knowledge.

Martin, who lives in Chicago, could not be reached there or at company headquarters in Monmouth, Ill., but other officials said they did not know of any demand for resignations.

Palmer, who left office Nov. 7, said yesterday his report to Cassidy was submitted after Illinois and three other states had finished a regular examination of the company. He said the department believed that the charges made at the federal hearing, conducted late in 1939 by a subcommittee of the temporary national economic [monopoly probe] committee, warranted a study by the attorney general.

The charges involved events prior to 1929 when the company was being converted from an assessment company into a stock company.

At the federal hearing, concerning life insurance practices generally, Martin admitted receiving a $430,000 "kickback" from reinsurance commissions and said the company loaned money to his wife.

Statement by Palmer.

"The TNEC study as related to the company did not involve any events that took place after I became insurance director in 1933," Palmer said.

Davis and Martin's company both are interested financially in the Abraham Lincoln hotel in Springfield. Davis is managing director of the hotel, and with associates owns a majority of the voting stock. The insurance company owns 3,700 shares [$370,000 par value] of the hotel's preferred stock.

Davis said that the investment relationship between the hotel and the insurance company had nothing to do with the new developments in the insurance inquiry.

AIR LINE SEEKS AUTHORITY FOR SINGAPORE STOP

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP).—Pan American Airways petitioned the Civil Aeronautics board today for authority to add Singapore, straits settlement, as an additional terminal for its route to the far east. The company said it desired authority to extend service west of Manila so as to serve both Singapore and Hongkong.

Company officials indicated the new service may have "defense implications," explaining this would be the first time American commercial planes had used the Singapore civil air base.

One company spokesman said the pioneering of the new route would give the American government a "peg on which to hang its hat" in the far east. British permits already have been obtained, the company said.

SEC RESTRICTS BROKERS' USE OF SECURITIES

Requires Customer Consent to Loans.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission adopted today two rules which it said would "in effect, prohibit brokers and dealers from risking the securities of their customers as collateral to finance their own trading, speculating or underwriting ventures."

The rules, which become effective Feb. 17, 1941, will operate on these principles:

Brokers and dealers are prohibited from commingling the securities of different customers or with their own securities as collateral for loans without the customers' consent.

Limited to Amount Owed.

A broker or dealer is prohibited from pledging customers' securities for more than the amount the customers owe him.

Heretofore, it has not been illegal for a broker or dealer to commingle customers' securities with his own as collateral for loans used by the firm in its own account, or to borrow more on the customers' securities than the customer owed the broker or dealer.

Aimed to Prevent Losses.

"Where the broker or dealer failed under such circumstances, the risk of loss to customers was substantially increased," the SEC said, adding that the new rules were designed to furnish added protection to customers against losses which might result in brokerage failures.

The rules were studied for several months by members of the commission staff along with representatives of the national securities exchanges, National Association of Securities Dealers, and certain banks.

BUILDING PERMIT TOTAL TOP SINCE '29 IN OCTOBER

New York, Nov. 15 (AP).—Building permits issued in October were the largest for that month since 1929, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

The valuation of permits issued in 215 cities totaled $137,170,225, or 15.3 per cent larger than $118,942,371 in September and 16.3 per cent ahead of $117,913,884 in October, 1939.

The agency said the total was the largest for any month since April, 1931, with the exceptions of January and July, 1938.

Percentage changes from a year ago, according to major geographical areas, follow:

New England, up 71.8; middle Atlantic, up 3.9; south Atlantic, up 4.5; east central, up 57.5; south central, down 40.8; west central, up 21.2; mountain, up 8.6; Pacific, up 44.2.

For the first 10 months of 1940 the total of $1,146,585,957 reached a 10 year peak and was 7.9 per cent more than $1,063,071,073 in the comparable 1939 period.

FINES IMPOSED IN PLANE FABRIC ANTITRUST SUIT

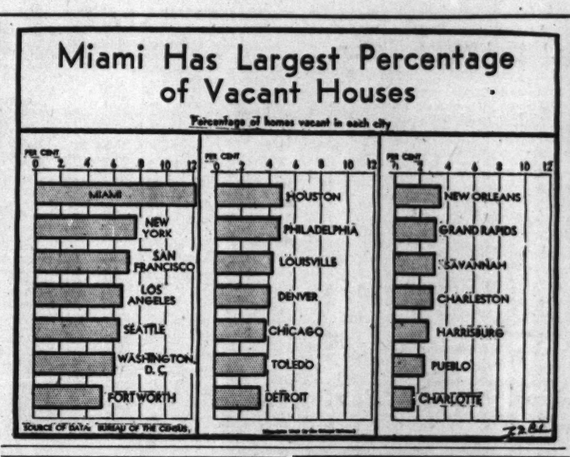
New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—Fines totaling $74,000 were imposed on 29 corporate and individual defendants for alleged price fixing in optical instrument and airplane fabric lines today after they pleaded nolo contendere [no contest] in Federal court.

Federal Judge Samuel Mandelbaum imposed the fines upon the recommendation of Samuel S. Isseks, special assistant to the attorney general.

Defense counsel for some defendants issued statements saying that by not contesting the charges they were not admitting that they had violated the law, but that they considered the subject matter of the case unimportant and that the expense and time for litigation would disrupt work on national defense materials.

David Sarnoff to Head Radio Corp. 6 More Years

New York, Nov. 15 [Special].—An agreement made by the Radio Corporation of America to continue the employment of David Sarnoff as president for the next six years at his present salary of $100,000 annually and providing for a pension at the rate of $20,000 per year at the end of the six year period was disclosed in a report to the Securities and Exchange commission made public today at the New York Stock exchange. Radio corporation also reported that it had borrowed $5,000,000 from banks for five years at an annual interest rate of 1½ per cent.



Cardox Corp. Buys Big Plant Site at Monee

BY AL CHASE.

The Cardox corporation, fire extinguishing and mining equipment maker, yesterday announced the purchase of 30 acres of land between Monee, in Will county, and the southern boundary of Cook county as the site for a large manufacturing plant. The first unit, designed by Charles D. Faulkner, to cost approximately $100,000, will be built at once, it was said.

The plant site was purchased from Louis J. Hoefle, thru Grover Elmore & Co. It is on the east side of the Illinois Central railroad right of way, just east of the Governor's highway.

Increased demand from industrial concerns for fire fighting equipment made the new plant necessary, Lawrence E. Lawson, head of the company's operating department, stated.

Uses Own Fire Protection.

"It will be air conditioned and also have modern fire protection provided by the company's own system," Lawson said. "Fully automatic alarm, timing, and release devices will control the installation. In the projected welding shop, the equipment will be arranged to provide a practical testing ground for all classes of factory fires under actual working conditions."

The name of the Cardox corporation is based on its manufacture of liquid carbon dioxide. By its method carbon dioxide can be stored in tons instead of pounds and released thru large diameter piping and nozzles at high speed in great volume on any burning material. It is effective, it is claimed, when water fails to extinguish a fire.

Will Move Hammond Plant.

One of the most recent installations of the system, Lawson said, is designed to protect about 40 rooms for the testing of airplane motors in conjunction with the defense program.

The Cardox corporation's plant at Hammond, Ind., will be transferred to the new factory. It also has a plant at Benton, Ill., making explosive cartridges used by coal mines.

LOW MONEY RATE TERMED THREAT TO INSURANCE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 15 [Special].—Col. C. B. Robbins, Chicago, told the 42d annual session of the Indiana Fraternal congress here today that policyholders will have to pay more for insurance in the future unless interest rates rise on types of securities in which insurance companies are permitted by law to invest.

Col. Robbins is manager and general counsel for the American Life convention, an organization of United States and Canadian life insurance companies. He said there are no signs of a reversal in the steady downward trend in security interest rates.

"Life insurance reserves represent the savings of policyholders over a period of years, and decreases in the interest rate that can be earned on these reserves penalizes the policyholder," he declared.

CLASSIFIED 'ADS' IN NEWSPAPERS BEST FOR REALTY

Philadelphia, Nov. 15 (AP).—Classified advertising in newspapers, the National Association of Real Estate Boards was told today, is by far the most effective medium for real estate advertising.

Kenneth S. Keyes, Miami realtor, reported to the association's broker division that about two-thirds of real estate boards questioned thruout the country spent more than 70 per cent of their annual advertising appropriations in the classified pages of their local newspapers.

The survey indicated, he said, that about one-third of sales commissions are traceable to classified advertising.

I. C. C. REJECTS PLAN TO COMBINE THIRTY TRUCKING COMPANIES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission denied today an application by the Transport Company of New York, a recently organized holding company, for authority to organize a vast trucking combine in the east.

The company proposed to organize a corporation capitalized at about $25,000,000 to acquire control of approximately 30 companies, including trucking concerns and affiliates.

In a brief announcement of its action the commission said the application was unanimously denied, but no reasons were given.

RAIL REVENUES IN OCTOBER DIP BELOW YEAR AGO

Estimated operating revenues of 86 class I railroads totaled $335,853,176 during October, compared with $344,607,164 in the same month last year, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The association said these roads represented 82 per cent of total operating revenues of all class 1 railroads.

Freight revenues of the railroads aggregated $281,346,209 for the month, against $290,058,784 in October, 1939. Passenger revenues also showed a slight decrease, at $28,262,087, compared with $28,475,772 a year ago.

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroad reported a net income of $359,242 for September, the first month the road has shown a profit since October, 1939. Last year it had a September deficit of $187,641. For nine months ended Sept. 30 the road had a net loss of $9,386,606, against a net loss of $14,173,668 in the corresponding period last year.

CHICAGO STORE SALES TOP YEAR AND WEEK AGO

Chicago department store sales increased 5.9 per cent during the week ended Nov. 9 over the corresponding week last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Total sales in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district gained 10 per cent, with Milwaukee, Wis., showing the largest individual increase.

Sales both in Chicago and the whole district jumped 15 per cent over the preceding week.

Sales in all twelve federal reserve districts averaged 6 per cent ahead of the comparable week last year. For four weeks ended Nov. 9 the increase was 3 per cent.

Milwaukee reported a gain of 16.4 per cent, while Indianapolis placed second in the 7th district with an increase of 16.2 per cent. Sales during the four weeks ended Nov. 9 were up 4 per cent in the district and 2.5 per cent in Chicago over the comparable period last year.

RAIL SELECTS DIRECTORS FROM ITS OWN AREA

Two Mississippi valley business men yesterday were elected directors of the Illinois Central in line with the road's policy of selecting the men who run it from cities along its lines.

B. C. Peacock, Peoria, president of the Caterpillar Tractor company, Norman O. Pedrick, New Orleans, president of the Mississippi Shipping company, are the two directors. They succeed L. A. Downs, former president of the Illinois Central, who died Aug. 10 and A. D. Geoghegan, former president of the Wesson Oil and Snowdrift company, who died Aug. 1.

Peacock, who has long headed the Peoria Tractor company, is widely known in Chicago. Pedrick heads a shipping company active in the South American service. He has been interested in promoting trade between the Mississippi valley and the Latin American nations.

CURTISS-WRIGHT TO BUILD MORE NAVY AIRPLANES

Awarded 29 Million Dollar Contract.

News of industrial activity yesterday was headed by a $29,139,793 navy award to the Curtiss-Wright corporation for airplanes and an announcement by President N. R. Powley of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company that the utility plans to spend about $55,000,000 on construction in 1941.

The navy planes will be built by the Curtiss Airplane division of Curtiss-Wright at the Buffalo plant. No details as to number or type were given. Neither were details as to the Pacific Telephone plans.

War department contracts let yesterday totaled $6,482,089. Included in its purchases are two ferryboats, the St. Ignace and the Mackinaw City, being bought from the state of Michigan. Chicago's share was an order for $248,320 in gasoline shovels placed with the Link-Belt Speeder corporation.

Bendix Gets Big Contract.

Among the larger items covered by contracts were the following: Atlas-Ansonia company, New Haven, Conn., ammunition components, $484,000; Bendix Aviation corporation, Bendix, N. J., indicator assemblies, $308,000; Fairchild Aviation corporation, Jamaica, N. Y., fire control equipment, $277,300, and the Hanson Clutch and Machinery company, Tiffin, O., trailers, $234,847.

The army orders also included contracts for large quantities of clothing, including 558,500 wool service coats, 622,500 caps and 285,400 pairs of woolen gloves.

A large ordnance department contract just announced was one for $5,525,000 given the B. F. Goodrich company, Akron, for several thousand rubber tracks for use on high speed "half track" scout cars. An order for $1,400,000 of the same type of equipment was placed on July 19. The tracks consist of endless belts of resilient rubber blocks reinforced with imbedded steel cables to give high mobility over all types of terrain.

New Synthetic Rubber Plants.

The tracks are mounted on the crawler type rear wheels of the army vehicles which travel 55 miles an hour and upward.

Plans by two companies for large scale production of synthetic rubber also were announced. The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company said work would be started soon on a new plant at Akron for the manufacture of 10,000 pounds daily of "chemigum," a synthetic rubber. The addition will increase production to about 30,000 pounds daily.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. announced that it had started construction of an addition to its neoprene plant at Deepwater, N. J., which will boost production capacity to about 1,500,000 pounds a month. The two new units will increase the nation's synthetic rubber production by the end of 1942 to about 6 per cent of its natural rubber consumption.

The Ken-Wel Sporting Goods Company, Inc., Utica, N. Y. was apparent low bidder on 4,653 tank helmets for the war department, it was announced at the Rock Island arsenal.

GRAIN FUTURES HIT PEAKS, BUT GAINS ARE LOST

American grain markets advanced in the early trading yesterday, with May and July wheat and rye, July corn, all deliveries of oats, and December and May soy beans selling at new seasonal high prices on the Chicago Board of Trade. Prices then declined under profit taking sales.

Wheat futures closed with losses of ⅝ to 1⅛ cents a bushel. December had sold at 90⅛ cents early, or 10⅛ cents over the government loan figure. Farmers were reported to have sold some stored wheat as the result of the advance, but Chicago elevator interests said that they had made no purchases.

Corn closed ¼ cent higher to ¼ cent lower. Oats finished down 1 cent, and rye was ⅝ cent lower. Soy beans retained net gains of ¼ to ⅝ cent a bushel.

STOCKS WEAKEN AS STEEL GROUP MEETS SELLING

Many of Leaders Slip Fractions to $2.

New York, Nov. 15 (AP).—Pressure on steels was communicated to other departments in today's stock market and leaders generally registered losses of fractions to more than 2 points. There were isolated declines of 4 or more.

The list was no more than irregular uptil shortly after midday when selling became insistent. Prices touched lows of the day in the final hour and little comeback was in evidence at the close. A few oils, rubbers, and specialties managed to gain.

Altho dealings were well under those of yesterday, they topped the million share mark for the ninth consecutive session.

Offerings Not Excessive.

The approach of the week-end and the more pessimistic tone of the European war news was blamed partly for liquidation. At that, hopeful business items were believed to have kept offerings within bounds.

United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Crucible, and Republic were soft thruout, altho near capacity production in this industry was expected to be maintained next week. General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, du Pont, Westinghouse, American Can, Anaconda, Kennecott, Consolidated Edison, Western Union, North American, Sears-Roebuck, and Great Northern moved lower.

The $3 dividend by J. I. Case aided this stock to hold a gain of 3¼ at 63. It was the first payment since 1938 when $5 was disbursed. General Electric announced an 80 cent dividend and its shares were up ¾ at 35.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER.

The price trend on the Chicago Stock exchange was downward yesterday in a turnover of 33,000 shares. Marshall Field, one of the volume leaders, set a peak for the year at 16¼ before sinking to close at 15¾, off ¼. Elgin National Watch and Kentucky Utilities junior preferred also set new tops at 31 and 49 respectively.

SLUM CLEARANCE TERMED WAY TO EASE WAR SLUMP

Palmer Urges Planning for End of Conflict.

When world peace comes, whether America has been in the war or not, the men and materials now required for the defense program can be used to rebuild our cities and remove slum areas, C. E. Palmer, defense housing coödinator, said yesterday. He addressed a luncheon of the Metropolitan Housing council in the La Salle hotel.

Palmer also said that the housing of defense employés and their families during the emergency will entail about 700 million dollars of new construction. Congress has appropriated 290 million dollars for part of the task and private enterprise should provide the balance, he declared.

Fears Postwar Collapse.

"As everyone knows," he said, "the peace, for which we hope and pray, will bring with it a collapse of war prosperity as it did in 1921. Shall we sit around then and let the unemployed wallow in postwar depression. I do not think so.

"The problem we shall face will be what to do with some millions of men and large quantities of machinery and materials suddenly thrown into idleness by stoppage of the defense program. We should make plans for a program of rebuilding our cities, using the idle men and materials."

Palmer said that there are four approaches to the emergency problem of housing defense workers:

1. A survey of available labor to see whether workers can be obtained who do not have to change residence;
2. Registration of vacant houses, apartments, and rooms.

Favors Private Building.

3. The possibility of encouraging private enterprise to build whatever housing seems to offer a fair prospect of commercial soundness;
4. If housing must be built, and private enterprise cannot or will not do it, the government will build it as a war expenditure, not wasting any money, but not looking for any profit.

Demountable or movable houses will be used wherever possible, he added, so that such settlements can vanish after the emergency rather than have ghost towns survive.

"The government is interested in preventing, as far as possible, the runaway material costs in housing that we saw in the world war," he said.

MANY BONDS END LOWER IN MIXED TRADING SESSION

New York, Nov. 15 (AP).—Weak spots were fairly numerous in the bond market today. Some issues countered the downward trend, but as a rule traders seemed willing to lighten commitments for the week-end recess.

Low yield corporate issues were firm, but most United States government obligations slipped back a little.

Japanese and German issues lost fractions to around a point, while some British obligations had gains running to around 2 points.

Transactions totaled $7,777,500 face value, against $9,031,200 Thursday.

WARNS INDUSTRY CO-OPERATION OF LABOR IS NEEDED

Expert Explains Policies Vital to Defense.

Management must succeed in winning the coöperation of labor, or government will assume control of industrial relations, Harold B. Bergen, of McKinsey & Co., management consultants, warned yesterday.

He spoke at the University of Chicago to more than 500 representatives from 150 organizations at the seventh annual midwest conference on industrial relations, sponsored by the Industrial Relations Association of Chicago and the university school of business.

Executives must plan their employe relations as carefully as they plan sales, production, and finance programs, Bergen explained, and must not wait to solve labor problems by "emergency repair measures" after they arise.

Requires Long Training.

Gearing a business for national defense requires the training of people long before contracts are procured from the government, he said, and a start now is essential to avoid possible bottlenecks or breakdowns in production later.

Bergen advised executives to try to make a constructive force of the union with which the company has a collective agreement.

"Most union leaders," he explained, "need education in personnel management just as most chief executives need education in sound employe relations. Many union leaders also need much education in sound pricing policies of labor and avoidance of restrictive practices. Problems of national defense require that management and labor work together and avoid conflicts. The leadership in this coöperation, however, must come from management."

Youth Needed in Industry.

Declaring that the old conception of "youth in the trenches and old men back of the lines" has been exploded, J. Walter Dietz said that demands for precision in industry mean that many youths, 15 to 26 years old, must play a vital defense role back of the lines. Dietz is a member of the training in industry committee of the advisory commission of the Council of National Defense and personnel relations manager of Western Electric company, New York.

"Because of the demand for trained workers today, you can no longer order up a tool and die maker just like that," he said. "It is also often difficult to retrain many older machinists and tool and die makers to the accuracy demanded today. You must get young people who are quick to learn the new ways."

COTTON

Heavy buying of cotton futures attributed to price fixing by mills lifted the market to new seasonal high levels yesterday. After liberal hedging pressure and profit taking developed on the rise, the close was about the top, with all deliveries except July and October selling at 10 cents or more a pound. Final sales were .08 to .18 cent a pound higher.

Consumption of cotton by American mills in October of 770,000 bales was the largest on record for any month except March, 1937, when it was 777,000 bales, it was reported.

Cash cotton closed .12 to .13 cent higher, with New York 10.28 cents, New Orleans 9.88 cents, Galveston 9.78 cents, and Houston at 9.73 cents a pound. Prices follow:

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Despite the huge volume of hogs handled this week, demand was broad enough to lift hog prices slightly yesterday. The day's average, at $6.50 a hundredweight, showed 5c gain. The top was unchanged at $6.15, but the price was paid for a larger share of offerings than Thursday.

The cattle supply was small and steers and yearlings sold at fully steady prices. Calves were weak. Beef cows ruled strong to 25c higher.

TEN EXCHANGES DISCUSS TRADE LOSS PROBLEMS

Problems connected with their restricted volume of business were discussed yesterday by representatives of 10 leading securities exchanges outside New York at an informal meeting in the Chicago club. They reported that all matters of mutual interest had been covered, but that no conclusions had been reached.

Marshall R. Barbour, president of the Pittsburgh Stock exchange, initiated the meeting. Kenneth L. Smith, president, and Jess Halsted, counsel, represented the Chicago exchange. Others were present from Boston, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, St. Louis, and San Francisco.
